CALCUTTA, the 20th August 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 16TH OF AUGUST 1889.

At the end of the previous week wind directions in the north-west corner of the Bay were becoming cyclonic, and a slight fall of pressure showed that a low-pressure area of limited extent was forming in the trough of low pressure which has extended from the head of the Bay over part of Orissa and South-West Bengal for some time. On Saturday, the first day of the present week, the small whirl still existed, but no further intensification took place, and the weather was no way affected by it The slight fall of pressure on the 10th was very uniform, and the distribution remained unaltered, while the wind velocity was in all cases very light. A very light monsoon current was then blowing in all districts, and very little rain falling, but humidity was high, and the sky clouded except in Orissa and Behar; very little rain falling in the latter district. On the following day pressure again fell slowly in all districts except Behar and Orissa, but the changes were small, and the general distribution was very little altered beyond a slight intensification of the low-pressure area at the head of the Bay. Temperature was high in Behar, but differed from the normal in other districts by irregular amounts Wind directions were generally normal, but there was still a slight whirl in South-West Bengal. Rain was absent over the greater part of Behar and light elsewhere. On Monday and Tuesday the light monsoon weather continued in all districts, on the latter day especially being very scattered. Pressure changes were generally small, a rise on the 12th, and a similar fall on the 13th, so that pressure remained almost unchanged, except that the defect in Orissa increased somewhat, and excess pressure became less general. Temperature during these days was high, the excess in Behar exceeding 5° at one or two stations, and ranging from 1° to 3° in other districts. Wind directions were abnormal on Tuesday along the coast of Orissa, and the easterly element was stronger in South Bengal and along the Chittagong coast. On Wednesday, the 14th, a general brisk fall of pressure took place—largest in the north-west corner of the Bay—and the low-pressure area, which had been forming for a day or two previously, slightly intensified. The cyclonic circulation was not so regular, but northerly winds prevailed in Orissa and part of South-West Bengal, while at some stations of South Bengal south winds were reported. Temperature still continued high, and rain was generally scattered, though heavier falls were received in Orissa. The centre of lowest pressure was then near Midnapore. On Thursday pressure rose in Orissa and another low-pressure area began further east, a little south of Saugor Island The pressure changes were nowhere very large, but in consequence of the steady slow fall, a considerable defect now existed at the head of the Bay. Fairly heavy rain fell in Orissa and part of South-West Bengal, and heavier and more general rain was everywhere reported. The winds were still cyclonic round a centre in the north-west corner of the Bay On Friday the depression near Saugor Island became more distinct, and the winds, though cyclonic, did not appear to belong to one circulation Temperature was high, and general light rain fell. The low-pressure area moved in a north to north-westerly direction, and passed a little to the east of Calcutta on the evening of Friday. Winds in connection with it were in all cases light, the only strongish winds being in Orissa, but not exceeding fifteen miles an hour.

Pressure—Changes have been small during the greater part of the week, and the slow steady fall which went on during a large part of the week brought pressure from being nearly normal or slightly in excess to be largely in defect over the greater part of the province. The defect on the last day was nearly a tenth of an inch in all districts, and in South-West Bengal was about a sixth of an inch at some stations The mean for the week is everywhere deficient except in part of North Bengal and Assam, where there was excess of two or three thousandths of an inch. For Orissa and the neighbouring part of South-West Bengal the defect is above 0·06 inch, and in other districts lies between two and four hundredths of an inch.

Temperature—Has remained high nearly everywhere, occasional rather rapid falls, occurring after local heavy showers; but these have not been frequent. The excess in the weekly mean at the various stations is very frequently between one and two degrees. Temperature has been below the normal in Mymensingh, Bogra, Serajgunge, Sibsagar, and Motihari, at the last of which stations the defect is nearly 3°. The means for the different districts are all high; the difference from the normal being for South Behar 1·7°, Chutia Nagpur 1·6°, South West and East Bengal 1·3°. Orissa 1·2°, Assam 0·6°, while for North Bengal and North Behar it is 0·2° and 0·3° respectively.

Rainfall—Has been generally light and in some districts scattered during the whole week. The means are all deficient except North Behar, where there is excess of under a hundredth of an inch. The largest defect is Chutia Nagpur, 1·58 inches; South-West Bengal and East Bengal are both over 1 inch, North Bengal and South Behar nearly 1 inch, and Orissa half an inch. A more accurate idea will be gained by expressing the actual fall as a percentage of the normal for the same district—North Behar 102, Orissa 79, East Bengal 71, North Bengal 70, South Behar 65, South-West Bengal 58, and Chutia Nagpur 46. The number of days on which rain fell was nearly normal in all districts. No actual falls of over ten inches occurred except Nagrakatta, 13 inches; and though a few nearly reached that amount, only a few exceeded five inches, the general range for all districts being from one to three inches.

The largest falls are—Kurseong 9·7 inches, Buxa and Soopool 9 inches, Julpigoree, Motihari, and Mymensing 7 inches. In South-West Bengal the largest fall is at Serampore, 4·4 inches, and in Orissa at Pooree 4·8 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 16th of August 1889 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 14th August, 1889:

NO. 10 OF 1889.

A Bill to amend Act XXXVI. of 1858.

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend the authority of the Governor General in Council with respect to the appointment of asylums for the reception and detention of lunatics and with respect to the transfer of any lunatic from any one to any other lunatic asylum in British India; It is hereby enacted as follows :

Substitution of new section for section 17A, Act XXXVI., 1858.

1. For section 17A of Act XXXVI. of 1858 (an Act relating to Lunatic Asylums), as amended by Act XVIII. of 1886 (an Act to amend Act XXXVI. of 1858), the following shall be substituted, namely :

Provision for provinces having insufficient or no asylums.

"17A. In either of the following cases, namely:

(a) when an Executive Government has not established within its limits a public asylum for the reception and detention of lunatics,

(b) when it appears to the Governor-General in Council that a public asylum established within such limits is not conveniently situated with respect to any part of the territories administered by such Government or does not afford sufficient or suitable accommodation, the Governor-General in Council may from time to time appoint an asylum in any part of British India beyond the limits of such Government to be an asylum to which any Magistrate or Judge exercising jurisdiction within those limits may send lunatics as to an asylum established under this Act for the division in which his jurisdiction is situate."

Addition of new section after section 17B, Act XXXVI., 1858.

2. After section 17B of the said Act XXXIV. of 1858 the following section shall be added, namely :

Removal of lunatics from one asylum to another.

"17C. Any lunatic may, by order of the Governor-General in Council, be removed from any lunatic asylum established or licensed under this Act to any other such asylum in any part of British India."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

SOME four years ago a question which had been raised with respect to the accommodation of lunatics compelled the Governor-General in Council to pass section 3 of Act XVIII. of 1886.

Two further questions touching the same subject have now arisen. One is whether, there being a lunatic asylum at Tezpur in Assam, lunatics from the Surma Valley in Assam can be sent to the Dacca asylum in Bengal. The other is whether a lunatic who is, say, a native of a district in the Madras Presidency can be sent from Bengal, where his language is not understood, to an asylum in his own country.

The object of the Bill is to set these further questions at rest.

The 5th August, 1889.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE TRIBUTARY AND POLITICAL STATES OF CHOTA NAGPORE FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

The Reports for 1886-87 and 1887-88, and the Resolutions recorded thereon.

The present report is submitted by Mr. Grimley, but, with the exception of three months, from 6th July to 5th October, when Mr. Hopkins acted as Commissioner, Mr. Stevens was in charge throughout the year. Mr. Stevens has left behind him an interesting account of his cold-weather tour, in the course of which he visited the Jushpur, Sirgooja, Udaipur, Gangpur, and Bonai States, and while at Sirgooja he dealt with the affairs of the Korea and Changbhakar States. At Bisrampur in Sirgooja the junior Maharani had been severely burned by an accident, and through want of timely assistance, which, owing to her sex the hospital assistant was not permitted to render, and notwithstanding the help which Mrs. Stevens on her arrival was able to afford, the injuries terminated fatally. With reference to this Mr. Stevens remarks:

"I have mentioned this case, because the necessity for attempts to give more medical help to women in India is occasionally disputed and very generally ignored. In this instance the sufferings of this poor young lady, though she was one of the highest personages in her country, and was surrounded by people who were most anxious for her recovery, were such as to bring vividly home to us the importance of Lady Dufferin's work. There is much reason to believe that but for ignorance and well-meant mismanagement this valuable life need not have been lost."

2. The mortality amongst cattle in Sirgoorja was again very great, although less than that of last year, and far below that of 1883-84. It is explained that immense herds of cattle are every year brought into Sirgoorja from the neighbouring States for the purpose of grazing, and that there is no means of checking the diseases which are thus introduced from other parts of the country. It is stated also that the figures given (12,236) represent mostly the number of deaths which occurred among the cattle introduced from other parts of the country. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that Mr. Grimley will consider the practicability of taking measures to lessen this mortality.

3. The number of vaccination operations has fallen very considerably, being only 22,751 against 36,784 in the previous year. It is not stated whether there is any special reason for this great difference.

4. In the Resolution on the report for last year, the Lieutenant-Governor commented on the condition of education, which had always been backward in the States and had actully retrograded during that year. During the year 1888-89 there has been a slight improvement in Sirgooja and a considerable improvement in Kharsowan, but the figures for the other States show a great falling off, and it cannot be said that on the whole there is any improvement over last year. This state of things cannot be described as otherwise than unsatisfactory.

5. The statistics of crime call for little remark. The appendices to the report contain details of the cases in each State, and show the average of the preceding five years; but it would be well if the figures showing the previous average were in all cases added up. The only figures which seem to call for further explanation are those showing the cases of theft in Kharsowan. Last year the number of cases of theft was 13, and the number of persons 31, the average of the preceding five years being 7 cases and 14 persons; this year, however, the number of cases is 36, and of persons 103. The attention of the Commissioner is directed to these figures.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore for information and guidance, and that a copy of the Resolution, together with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, for information.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Offg. Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 24th August, 1889.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantation and Cinchona Factory in Bengal for the year 1888-89.

The plantation was visited during the year by a severe hailstorm, which completely destroyed thousands of young plants in the nurseries and injured even the larger trees.

2. The total number of cinchona trees of all sorts on the plantations was 4,810,231, two-thirds of which are pure quinine yielders. The crop of the year, which was the largest ever harvested, amounted to 373,100 pounds of dry bark, of which 207,460 pounds were red, 128,770 pounds Ledgeriana, and 36,870 pounds of other sorts. The whole of this crop was, with the exception of a small quantity supplied on indent or sold to Government institutions, made over to the febrifuge factory for disposal.

3. The outturn from the factory, which is regulated by the demand, was 8,575 pounds, of which 2,191 pounds were of sulphate of quinine and 6,384 pounds of cinchona febrifuge. The total outturn for the previous year amounted to 7,250 pounds. The issues during the year fell from 8,089 pounds in 1887-88 to 7,489 pounds in the current year, as will be seen from the following table:—

	1888-89. lbs.	oz.	1887-88. lbs.	oz.
To Medical Depôt, Calcutta... ...	2,140	0	757	8
„ ditto, Bombay ...	1,250	0	1,400	0
„ ditto, Madras ...	1,300	0	2,000	0
„ Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals	425	0	541	4
„ ditto of Jails ...	121	12	85	4
Sold to Government officers and to the public	2,251	4	3,225	4
To Commissariat Department for Port Blair	.....		80	0
Given as samples	1	4	.....
Total ...	7,489	4	8,089	4

The decline in the issues is due to the extraordinary cheapness of quinine in the market caused by the development of cinchona cultivation in Ceylon. It is anticipated that as cinchona gives place to tea in the Ceylon plantations, the price of cinchona products will again rise

4. An account of the method of manufacturing pure sulphate of quinine by a process recently discovered in the Government Factory at Mungpoo, together with a brief history of its invention, was published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 28th March 1888. This, Dr. King now points out, was incomplete, inasmuch as it did not allow to Mr. C. H. Wood, formerly Quinologist in the Plantation, sufficient credit for his share in the conception and perfection of the new process. Dr. King has appended to his report a memorandum prepared by Mr. Wood, which gives a fuller account and history of the invention. The Lieutenant-Governor fully endorses Dr. King's opinion of the value of Mr. Wood's services in this matter, and he is glad to take this opportunity of recording his appreciation of Mr. Wood's action, which has been marked by an evident desire to place at the disposal of Government the knowledge and experience which he has acquired by careful and laborious experiments in England. The Lieutenant-Governor is also glad to acknowledge Mr. Gammie's successful efforts in applying the new invention to manufacture. It is satisfactory to find that no less than 2,191 lbs. of pure sulphate of quinine were prepared in the first year of its manufacture by this new process.

5. The revenue derived from the sale of the febrifuge, sulphate of quinine, seeds, plants, and barks amounted to Rs. 1,29,160-3,-against Rs. 1,37,511-3-8 in the previous year as shown below:—

	1888-89. Rs.	A.	P.	1887-88. Rs.	A.	P.
By sale of febrifuge, sulphate of quinine plants and bark to the public	37,706	0	0	53,737	11	0
By credit from the medical depôts, Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay ...	82,322	3	0	71,928	8	8
By credit from Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal ...	7,059	0	0	9,059	0	0
By credit from Inspector-General of Jails	2,073	0	0	1,466	0	0
By credit from the Commissariat Department, Port Blair ...	.....			1,320	0	0
Total ...	1,29,160	3	0	1,37,511	3	8

The net profit on the year's working amounts to Rs. 27,844.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor's thanks are again due to Dr. King and Mr. Gammie for their efficient management of the Department. The other Assistants are well spoken of.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, and of the Report referred to, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Home Department, to the Superintendent of the Government Cinchona Plantation, to the Government of Madras, and to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

No. 560, dated Royal Botanic Garden, Seebpore, near Calcutta, the 13th July 1889.

From—GEORGE KING, ESQ., M.B., Superintendent, Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, and of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal, and Officiating Government Quinologist,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the report of the Cinchona Plantation and Factory for the year 1888-89.

Twenty-seventh Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantation and Factory in British Sikkim, being that for the year 1888-89, by BRIGADE-SURGEON G. KING, M.B., LL.D., F.R.S., Superintendent of the Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, and of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal, and Officiating Government Quinologist.

1. The valley in which the plantation is situated participated in the dryness which was so general over the province during the earlier part of the season. But the effects of the unusual drought were but trivial compared with the mischief caused by a violent hail-storm which occurred towards the end of the official year. By this storm many thousands of young plants in the nurseries were utterly destroyed. These plants had just been uncovered, in order that they might be hardened off prior to transplantation, and they were therefore little fitted to withstand a hail-storm of such extraordinary violence. Even the larger trees in the plantation by no means escaped. Their leaves were torn to shreds, and they will retain for some time the scars left on their smaller branchlets by the hail-storms.

2. Changes in the Plantation.—During the year, 395,003 trees either died or were uprooted for the sake of their bark. On the other hand, 353,730 trees were planted out. The renewals were thus slightly more numerous than the losses; but as the newly-planted trees are all yellow barks which yield only quinine, whereas those uprooted were red barks yielding a mixture of quinine with cinchonidine and cinchonine, the alkaloidal value of the plantation has been very considerably increased. As will be seen by the table given as Appendix D, the plantations now contain a total of 4,810,231 cinchona trees, of which nearly two-thirds are yielders of pure quinine. Seven years ago the proportion of pure quinine-yielders was but as one to four. The conversion of the plantation has therefore gone on pretty rapidly.

3. The year's crop.—The crop harvested during the year was the largest we have ever taken. It consisted of 207,460 pounds of red bark, 128,770 pounds of ledgeriana, and 36,870 pounds of other sorts, giving a total of 373,100 pounds. Of this total, 293,750 pounds were taken from the old plantation, 67,740 pounds from the younger one at Sittong, and 11,610 pounds from the youngest of all, the Rungjung plantation in Bhootan. If the crop of the past year be added to those of previous years, the grand total of yield of these plantations since their beginning is brought up to 4,351,478 pounds of dry bark.

During the year, 1,867 pounds were supplied on indent or sold to Government institutions, the rest of the crop being made over to the factory as usual.

4. Expenditure on the plantation for the year.—The budget allotment for the year originally amounted to Rs. 84,975; but, as the year advanced, it was found necessary to transfer Rs. 11,000 from this allotment to that of the factory. Of the reduced allotment, only Rs. 72,549-5-6 were spent, so there was thus a saving of Rs. 1,425-10-6. The items of expenditure were as follows:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
European establishment (including all salaries, except that of Dr. King), cooly labour, and office establishment	67,039	3	9
Contingencies	4,419	12	9
Stores from England	688	13	0
Travelling allowance	401	8	0

Against this there was harvested a bark crop of 373,100 pounds of dry bark, the cost per pound of which was therefore, as near as may be, 3 annas 1·333 pies per pound.

5. Factory.—For the factory the sum of Rs. 30,025 was the budget allotment for the year; but, as stated in the last paragraph, it was found necessary to ask for a transfer of the sum of Rs. 11,000 from the plantation. The actual allotment thus stood at Rs. 41,025; but of this only Rs. 37,304-15 6 were spent, a saving being effected of Rs. 3,720-0-6. The factory expenditure was swelled to this unusually large sum by the cost of providing the stock of fusel and kerosine oils required for working the new process for manufacturing quinine. A considerable expenditure was also incurred in new machinery for the same process. A further sum on account of machinery will, moreover, fall to be debited during the year we have now entered on. All the charges hitherto incurred for factory buildings, plant and machinery have regularly been debited to working expenses, and I propose to debit all future charges to the same head. The factory has no capital account, as some critics of its expenditure seem to suppose, every charge having been regularly debited against the outturn of manufactured product. The outturn for the past year was 8,575 pounds, in the proportions of 2,191 pounds of sulphate of quinine and 6,384 pounds of cinchona febrifuge. If the price of the raw material be added to the factory expenditure, the total cost of the outturn is seen to be as follows:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Factory expenditure on chemicals, labour, and machinery	37,304	15	6
Raw material, viz., 162,940 pounds of bark crop of 1887-88, at 4 annas 2·713 pies per pound	43,037	6	0
145,430 pounds of bark crop of 1888-89, at 3 annas 1·333 pies per pound	28,277	12	10
	1,08,620	2	4

In other words, the outturn cost, as near as may be, Rs. 12-10-8·08 per pound. As a matter of convenience, I have taken the cost of febrifuge and quinine as the same; for in the present transition stage of the factory it is difficult to disentangle the expenditure in labour and salaries, which has been incurred respectively on the manufacture of the two products.

6. The new oil process for manufacturing quinine.—This process has been in use for the manufacture of sulphate of quinine during the year, and no less than 2,191 pounds of that drug have been prepared by it. Arrangements have also been made for its application during the current year to the manufacture of cinchona febrifuge. Up to the year under review, the new process can scarcely be said to have been used on a manufacturing scale. But the production of 2,191 pounds is sufficiently large to entitle it to be fairly considered as a manufacturing experiment. This enlarged experience of the working of the process only increases our confidence in it. It works without a single hitch; the bark is entirely exhausted of the whole of its alkaloid; and the quinine produced is professionally reported to be as pure in quality and as satisfactory in appearance as quinine of the best European brands. A brief account of cold oil process was submitted by me to Government in March 1888, together with a short history of its invention. The history then submitted was, however, by an unfortunate inadvertence, inaccurate in some respects; and sufficient credit was not allowed for his share in its conception and perfection to

Mr. C. H. Wood, who for many years was Quinologist on the plantation. Mr. Wood has now prepared a short history of the invention, and a full account of the method of working the process. And this important and interesting paper I now enclose as Appendix A of this report. I again take an opportunity of bearing my testimony, not only to the excellence and simplicity of this admirable process, but also to the generous way in which Mr. Wood, without any pecuniary reward, initiated and invented in his private laboratory, while Mr. Gammie perfected it in the Government Factory. Without Mr. Wood the process would not have been invented, while without Mr. Gammie it would not have been successfully applied to manufacture.

7. Sales of febrifuge and quinine during the year.—The total issues for the year were 6,178 pounds of febrifuge, 28¼ pounds of crystalline febrifuge, and 1,283 pounds of quinine. The details are shown in the following table:—

Details of the distribution of Cinchona Febrifuge, Crystalline Febrifuge and Sulphate of Quinine during the financial year 1888-89.

The total issues of the previous year were 7,831¾ pounds of febrifuge (common and crystalline) and 257½ of quinine. There was thus during the year a considerable falling off in the issue of febrifuge. But this is hardly to be wondered at when the extraordinary cheap price of quinine in the open market is considered.

8. Stock account.—The amount of bark in stock at the end of the year was 359,790 pounds, which has been valued at the cost price per pound of the year's crop. The other manufactured products have been taken at their cost price, and the chemicals and stores at their actual value. The total value of stock, calculated in this way, stands at Rs. 1,10,699-10-8. As compared with the stock of the previous year, the account stands thus:—

9. Financial result of the year's working.—Collecting the figures above given, the financial result of the year's working is seen to be a profit of Rs. 27,843-15-9, as shown in the undernoted balance sheet:—

This shows a net profit on the transactions of the year of Rs. 27,843-15-9—a result which, in the face of the unprecedentedly low prices for cinchona products which have ruled during the year, may, I trust, be considered as financially satisfactory. The chief cause of the extraordinary low price which has for some time ruled for cinchona bark, and as a consequence for quinine and the other cinchona alkaloids, is the immense exportation of bark from Ceylon. When coffee, which for a long time was the staple production of Ceylon, began some years ago to fail because of a disease which attacked the coffee tree, cinchona was largely substituted by the planters of that colony for the failing staple. And some idea of the extent to which this was done may be gathered from the following figures. During the year ending 30th September 1880 (using round numbers), one and-a-quarter million pounds of cinchona bark were exported from Ceylon to London. During the year 1883-84 the quantity rose to eleven millions, and the following year the quantity was about the same During 1885-86 fifteen million pounds, and during 1886-87 fourteen million pounds, were exported. In 1887-88 the quantity fell to eleven millions, and during the current year it is expected to show a further fall. The explanation of all this is simply that, when cinchona began to fail from disease and depreciation in quality, the Ceylon planters turned their attention to tea-planting with such energy that they cut down their cinchona trees to make way for tea bushes; and, not being able to hold their bark, they were obliged to force it on the London market, to be sold for what it would fetch. The result has been an enormous fall in price, bark having been freely obtainable in London for several years past at prices considerably below the cost of production; and quinine having, as a consequence, fallen to a figure far below anything previously heard of. The exportation of bark from Java has also greatly increased of late years. South American bark, which a few years ago was our only source of quinine, has practically been driven out of the market. And the world has thus been draining its supplies of quinine for some time past, chiefly from bark grown in British and Dutch colonies in Asia. The efforts of the Governments of Great Britain and Holland, to secure for their tropical subjects a cheap remedy for the commonest of all tropical diseases, have thus culminated in a more triumphant success than was ever anticipated. But this state of affairs cannot last much longer. Ceylon planters will not go on planting cinchona trees to sell their product at a loss. As a matter of fact, planting has already ceased; and exportations are beginning to diminish. And, in the course of a year or two, the price of cinchona products must rise. The invention of the new oil process of Messrs. Wood and Gammie, and the free publication of it by Government, will no doubt contribute materially to maintaining them permanently below the rates which have been hitherto considered as normal prices, because this invention makes it possible for any intelligent planter to make quinine on his own estate. From the general depression of the cinchona industry, the Government estate could not hope to escape; and from a commercial point of view, the past year has not been so good as many previous years when prices were high. But inasmuch as quinine has been materially cheapened (and thus put more within reach of the masses), the result is, I think, gratifying.

10. The crop of bark for the coming year will be regulated by the demand for quinine and febrifuge. And, as by the new process of manufacture a much larger outturn of alkaloid is obtained from the bark, the annual draft in the plantation for raw material should now begin to diminish.

11. The sum of Rs. 2,150 received from the settlers within the cinchona reserve for land rent and grazing dues was paid into the Darjeeling Treasury, and no credit is taken for them in the plantation accounts.

12. The growth of the fuel plantation has been remarkably good, and the experiment, so far as it has gone, has been an unmitigated success. A small addition to its area was made during the current year. From the older parts of this plantation it will soon be possible to thin out a good many poles for building sheds and coolies' huts.

13. For the seven months of the year under review, I was absent on furlough, and my duties were performed by Mr. J. Gammie, the Deputy Superintendent. Mr. Gammie's services are already too well known to Government to require anything more than mention by me. Mr. Pantling, Mr. Parkes, and Mr. Gammie, junior, conducted their respective duties to Mr. Gammie's satisfaction and to mine. The head-writer in the Cinchona office, Baboo Gopal Chandra Datta, and the second writer, Baboo Devendranath Basu, and the other members of the office staff, have also worked diligently and well.

14. The usual statistical returns, together with Mr. Wood's memorandum on the new process for making quinine, are submitted as appendices.

Memorandum on the fusel oil process of manufacturing quinine, by C. H. Wood, Esq., F.C.S., F.I.C., &c., &c., late Government Quinologist to the Government of Bengal.

At the time I received the appointment of Quinologist under the Government of Bengal (1873), I was instructed by the Secretary of State to give my chief attention to the production on a large scale of a cheap and efficient febrifuge from the cinchona bark grown in British Sikkim; and I was specially directed to consider the suitability of the method which had been proposed by Dr. De Vrij for this purpose. It was in accordance with these instructions that the manufacture of the preparation now known as "cinchona febrifuge" was established at Mongpoo. This preparation is made exclusively from the bark of C. succirubra, which at that period was the principal product of the plantations. The process selected for its manufacture was not well adapted for extracting the alkaloids from the more valuable bark of C. calisaya. Several varieties of this species, however, were then under extensive cultivation, and a considerable supply of bark from this source was likely to follow. The manufacture of cinchona febrifuge from the produce of C. succirubra being well established, it became important to make arrangements for working up the calisaya bark by some other method.

It was obvious that the most satisfactory way of utilizing this bark would be to prepare from it pure sulphate of quinine; but this could not be economically done with such crude appliances as sufficed for the manufacture of febrifuge. A suitable building furnished with the requisite machinery and apparatus was considered to be essential, and representations to this effect were made to Government by Dr. King and myself. Accordingly, in 1879, the Government of Bengal had agreed to sanction the formation of a small factory for the manufacture of pure quinine from the calisaya bark. Experiments which had been in progress for some time had enabled me to select a process for the purpose which promised to give satisfactory results. This process was to receive an extended trial in the new factory. The principal details of the method of working had been settled, and rough sketches of the apparatus made. The solvent I proposed employing in extracting the alkaloids from the bark was the "fusel oil" of commerce. This substance is a bye-product obtained in the manufacture of spirit, and could be then purchased in London at about 9*d.* per gallon. I presume it has acquired the name of "oil," because it floats on water, but its chief chemical component is amylic alcohol. There was no likelihood of any difficulty in the importation of fusel oil from Europe for use in the process; but should any unforeseen obstacle arise whereby fusel oil could not be got, ordinary spirit was to be used in the extraction, and Government had sanctioned its exemption from duty for such purpose. I had abundant evidence that the whole of the alkaloids could be advantageously obtained from the bark by the process I had selected; but its economical employment on the large scale depended on the use of suitable apparatus whereby the solvent could be recovered from each operation with very little loss. It was for this reason that I considered a properly furnished factory to be essential to success: and as I have stated, the Government was prepared to sanction the expenditure necessary for this purpose

At this time then the arrangements were matured for starting a factory and putting the fusel oil process in operation. But at the same period there were reasons of a personal kind which made me anxious to return to England, and on this account I wished to tender my resignation. It seemed to me a suitable time for taking this step, because any successor to my appointment having to take the superintendence and control of the manufacture would naturally prefer that the factory and its appliances should be arranged under his own direction. Some informal correspondence on these points passed between the Lieutenant-Governor and myself, in which Sir Ashley Eden at first very kindly asked me to reconsider the course I wished to take; but ultimately my resignation was accepted. It was suggested that the Secretary of State would possibly select a young chemist for the appointment, who would be willing to take up and carry out the plans already made for starting the manufacture. In that case, I undertook to work with him on the subject for a time in London, and render him what assistance I could in acquiring information that might be useful to him in putting the process into operation.

I returned to England in the autumn of 1879, and a few months later I had an opportunity for making myself further acquainted with the employment of mineral oils in the extraction of quinine. The use of these agents had been already tried in India. Mr. Broughton experimented with them, but did not obtain any economical success (see his Report, dated 1st December 1873). Some experiments with such oils had been also made by myself, but with no very satisfactory results. Nevertheless, in some of the principal quinine factories of Europe, a process of extraction with mineral oil was being employed. Indeed, the oil process had largely superseded all others. I found that only certain kinds of oils, namely, the paraffine oils obtained in the distillation of "brown coal," or schist, were well adapted for this process, the products of American petroleum being unsuitable for the extraction of quinine. I procured some oil from Young's Paraffine Works, and made some trials with it in the extraction of calisaya bark from the Sikkim plantations, and obtained much better results than I had done before. Nevertheless, it appeared to me that the employment of this process in India would be attended with considerable difficulty.

Fusel oil still presented to my mind many advantages for use in that country, but I began to see the way to a further simplification in the method of employing it. In the process I had selected in India fusel oil alone was used as the solvent. It now occurred to me that by previously diluting it with some liquid hydrocarbon a considerable improvement would result. In this case the fusel oil would be the active solvent; but the presence of a considerable proportion of a hydrocarbon, such, for instance, as any mineral oil of naphtha, would exclude some of the impurities otherwise taken up by the fusel oil when used alone, and the alkaloids would be at once obtained in a much greater state of purity. I soon satisfied myself that the employment of a mixed solvent of this description would have many advantages over the use of fusel oil alone. But a considerable time had elapsed, and no fresh appointment to the post of Quinologist had been made. I learnt that the Government did not consider it desirable to send out another chemist. Under these circumstances, I was not in a position to make any further suggestions regarding the process of manufacture at Sikkim, and I therefore let the matter drop.

Later on, however, I heard that Mr. Gammie, who still conducted the manufacture of febrifuge, was also attempting the manufacture of pure quinine sulphate from the calisaya bark; and a correspondence began between Mr. Gammie and myself on this subject. At about this time Dr. King came on a visit to Europe, and in the autumn of 1884, I had an opportunity of discussing with him the practicability of the efforts Mr. Gammie was making at Mungpoo. At that time a spirit process was under trial, and the results promised considerable success. The alkaloid was completely extracted from the bark, but it was associated with much impurity, and its purification rendered the process somewhat too complicated for use on the plantations. Dr. King, during his stay in Holland, had acquired some valuable information regarding the paraffine oil process as used in the Continental oil factories, and he consulted me regarding it. I was impressed with certain difficulties, which I thought would attend its employment by Mr. Gammie, and I did not feel that I could then assist him much in that direction. It seemed to me, however, a favourable moment to make a further trial of the modification of the fusel oil process to which I have already referred, namely, the employment of fusel oil diluted with some liquid hydrocarbon for the extraction of the bark. Accordingly, I resumed my experiments on the use of such a mixed solvent, and worked out two or three alternative processes. These differed from each other chiefly in the nature of the diluting hydrocarbon. In one, the mixed solvent was formed by diluting the fusel with five or six times its volume of the volatile portion of coal tar naphtha. The principle of this process I communicated to Dr. Radwood, one of the editors engaged in preparing a new Pharmacopœia, as likely to furnish the basis of a convenient analytical method for determining the alkaloidal value of the cinchona bark used in medicine, and the process is now the official test for that purpose in the present British Pharmacopœia. The use of a volatile naphtha, whether derived from coal, shale, or petroleum, for diluting the fusel oil, presented several advantages for a manufacturing process; but it was probable that there would be great difficulty in obtaining any such naphtha in India. In another of the processes I devised, the fusel oil was therefore diluted with ordinary kerosine. As this oil is so largely used for illuminating purposes in India, and is therefore so readily obtainable there, this method offered the greatest facilities for immediate trial.

When Mr. Gammie visited England in the summer of 1885, he came to my laboratory and witnessed the experimental working of this process; and formed a favourable opinion of its adaptability for use on the plantations. On his return to Mungpoo, he began a trial of the method in extracting calisaya bark, and the satisfactory results he obtained encouraged him to go on. With great perseverance he mastered one detail after another, using only the simple appliances that he found at hand, until he was able to employ the process on a considerable scale. The valuable results, therefore, which have been thus far attained in the practical application of the process, are entirely due to his skill and energy.

A description of the process as it was being conducted at the commencement of this year was drawn up by Mr. Gammie, and was published with the Government Resolution of the 26th March 1888. Since then, I believe, he has effected a further improvement in the mechanical arrangements, and is now in a position to work from 3,000 to 5,000 lbs. of bark per week. A considerable quantity of quinine sulphate has been produced and issued. Samples of this have been analysed, and the results show that both in purity and appearance it is equal to the best European quinine. There appears to be no doubt that the extraction is complete, the amounts of quinine obtained corresponding well with the known composition of the bark.

As yet only calisaya bark has been worked by this process. This bark contains a large amount of quinine associated with very little cinchonidine; consequently the final operations for obtaining pure quinine sulphate are very simple. But the plantations will also furnish much bark, especially from hybrids, which contains a considerable amount of quinine associated with a large amount of cinchonidine. Such bark will no doubt be utilised in the preparation of pure quinine as soon as the further arrangements necessary for separating the extracted alkaloids are provided. Succirubra bark can be as readily extracted by this method as any other; and it seems that from the acid solution of the total alkaloids so obtained, "cinchona febrifuge" can be prepared equal in every respect to that hitherto prepared by the acid process, and with the advantage of a greatly increased yield.

Comparing this process of extraction with others that have been tried in India, the chief advantages it presents appear to be—(1) that the alkaloids are completely extracted from the bark in a much greater state of purity, so that the final operations for obtaining pure and finished products are much simplified; (2) that the whole process of extraction can be performed at common temperatures; (3) that the apparatus and appliances required are all of a simple character, and therefore well suited for use on the plantations.

No very exact estimate can yet be formed of the cost of manufacturing quinine and other alkaloids by this process. It is only now slowly passing from the experimental stage, which is necessarily an expensive one. Further improvements conducing to greater economy are probable. But even as it is, I gather from Dr. King, under whose skilful superintendence all efforts at local manufacture have been so ably fostered, that quinine can be produced on the plantations at a cost not exceeding the present unprecedentedly low market price of the valuable medicine.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CHOTA NAGPORE DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 26th August 1889.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Chota Nagpore Division for the year 1888-89.

Mr. Stevens held charge of the division during the year except for three months (not two, as stated by the present Commissioner), during which Mr. Hopkins officiated for him. The report is submitted late by Mr. Grimley.

Tours, weather, and public health.

2. The tours of all the officers were sufficient, except that of the Deputy Commissioner of Singbhoom, who was out for only 64 days. The rains commenced later than usual, and also ceased early, though the total fall was up to the average. Thus the sowings were somewhat short, and the outturn was affected by the want of late moisture. The total failure of the bhadoi in the Palamow sub-division led to some anticipations of trouble, which, however, were happily not fulfilled. Owing to the deficient harvests there was a marked rise in prices of all sorts of food-grains in the division. The public health was not so good as in the previous year, except in Palamow. The condition of the labouring classes has been necessarily affected by the partial failure of the crops during two successive years, but the railway works in progress have brought high wages into Manbhoom and Singbhoom, and an increase of imports.

Emigration.

3. The number of registered emigrants, which increased last year from 3,952 to 6,145, has again risen to 9,914, and is again ascribed to the deficiency in the harvests. It is believed that the number of free emigrants also increased largely, but no trustworthy figures are available. The Commissioner repeats the charges of his predecessors against the free emigration system. Through the efforts of Mr Tucker, the officer on special deputation, the abduction of large bands of emigrants, or their forced diversion to places other than their destinations, have ceased, but cases of individual abduction are still well known to occur, and when complaints are made in the Courts recovery is almost impossible because of the facilities which the present system affords for concealment of identity. Until there is a change in the law, the Lieutenant-Governor must look to district officers to do their best to suppress abuses by all the means in their power.

Police and crime.

4. An unfavourable account is given of the conduct of the Police force in the division, a large number of punishments having been inflicted departmentally or judicially. It is hardly sufficient explanation to offer for the increase in punishments that the District Superintendents happened to be very strict disciplinarians. The number of the judicial convictions shows that other causes are also at work. The introduction of Act V (B.C.) of 1887 (the Chota Nagpore Chowkidari Act) has improved the status and prospects of a considerable proportion of the village watchmen, so that better work is obtained from them, and the extension of the Act is in contemplation. Cognizable cases have increased from 4,985 to 6,302, the rise being chiefly in burglaries and thefts, and attributable to the partial failure of the crops as well as to the influx of bad characters among the labourers on the railway works. The bare statistics of non-cognizable crime are useless for purposes of comparison: this deficiency should be remedied in the next report.

Revenue.

5. The land revenue collections amounted to Rs. 3,83,608 as compared with Rs. 3,75,191 last year, the increase being chiefly due to the payment of arrears in Lohardugga. But in this district, to which attention was drawn last year, the collections are less satisfactory again than in any other district of the division, in consequence of the balances from Government estates. The land revenue assessment evidently bears very lightly upon the people, as no estates were sold for arrears during the year. The road cess collections have improved from Rs. 2,90,313 to Rs. 3,11,117, i.e., from 99·4 to 123·3 on the current demand, which would be very satisfactory but that large balances are still outstanding in two districts. The Excise revenue has decreased from Rs. 6,07,894 to Rs. 5,70,159, and stamps gave Rs. 3,33,768 instead of Rs. 3,24,523. Income-tax shows a slight improvement of Rs. 3,786.

Railways.

6. The Deputy Commissioner of Manbhoom reports that the progress in the Bengal-Nagpore Railway has been singularly slow. The rails were laid as far as Purulia by January 1889, and have now been extended beyond Chandil, but the bridges across the Damuda, Kossai, and Subornarekha remain to be constructed. The Commissioner expresses a hope that the line will be opened for traffic for the dry season. There is no reason to suppose that the delay is in any way attributable to the land acquisition proceedings or other action of officers of Government. Various surveys are known to be in progress in this division, and there is no part of the country which has a fairer prospect of being opened up to civilization during the next few years. The district officers and the Commissioner may be relied on to develope their road-communications and to co-operate with the railway so far as the limited resources of the District Road Committees admit.

Education.

7. Primary education is making some advance in this division: 44 more schools have been opened and 2,361 additional pupils have been obtained. Special grants have been sanctioned during the year for the spread of primary education among the backward tribes, and it is to be regretted that the proportional increase in the number of aboriginal pupils is smaller than that of any other creed or nationality. The effects of the high prices of food-grains manifest themselves again in the closure of a number of Sonthal schools in Manbhoom, and in the fact that a number of Uraons and other aborigines of the south-west of Lohardugga left their homes in search of employment elsewhere. The aboriginal candidates continue to achieve but scanty success in the various examinations, and the Education Department will be desired to pay special attention to the welfare of this class of students.

Encumbered estates.

8. Two new estates, viz., Tundi and Barrabhoom in Manbhoom, have been brought under the Emcumbered Estates Act during the year. There are now 63 estates under management, and they form a special feature of the work falling on the district officers in Chota Nagpore. It is unsatisfactory that the payments of debts have fallen short by Rs. 1,37,838 of the amounts provided in the schemes for paying off the encumbrances on the estates. The Lieutenant-Governor has been glad to give his sanction to the successful completion of the Dhadka settlement under the Barrabhoom compromise, a most complicated and difficult work which has engaged the attention of successive district officers since 1884. The original terms fixed by the compromise have long since been abandoned by all parties as impracticable. Pattahs and kabuliyats have, under a modification of the terms of the compromise, been registered between all the under-tenants and the Encumbered Estates Department, and, Messrs. R. Watson and Company having tendered registered pattahs on the accepted basis, corresponding kabuliyats are in course of preparation. The services of Mr. Baker in the satisfactory solution of this intricate matter have already been separately commended by Government.

9. Mr. Stevens' able and thorough administration of the Chota Nagpore Division again deserves the acknowledgments of the Lieutenant-Governor. The remarks which he left on record of the character of officers will be duly communicated to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 24 stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 23rd of August 1889.

Calcutta, the 27th August, 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 23RD OF AUGUST 1889.

AT the end of last week a shallow depression had formed near Saugor Island, and, moving northwards, was near Calcutta on Friday evening. Rather stormy weather commenced at the head of the Bay after the depression moved inland, and though velocities at the coast stations were not very high, twelve to seventeen miles being reported, still at a short distance from the shore considerably stronger winds were blowing. On Saturday morning the report from Saugor Island at 8 A.M. was 42 miles an hour, but as the average for the previous 24 hours was 22 miles an hour, this was probably taken during one of the stronger gusts. The strong winds were not felt at the inland observatories, but drizzling rain was falling at most of the South-West Bengal stations. On Saturday, the first day of the present week, the centre of the depression was near Burdwan, where the largest fall of pressure and largest defect for that day were reported. The fall was very moderate there; and as an almost general fall occurred over the province, no intensification was going on. Winds were cyclonic over the whole province, and fairly heavy rain was falling in the rear of the depression, that is, in Orissa, South-West and East Bengal. In other districts rain was light and local. On Sunday, the 18th, a rapid fall of pressure was reported from Behar in consequence of the north-westerly motion of the depression, and a rapid rise in other districts, while rainfall becoming lighter in South-West Bengal and Orissa was more general in Behar, and continued to be rather heavy in East Bengal. Winds continued fresh along the coast, Gopalpore and Pooree reporting average velocities of 22 and 24 miles an hour, while at Saugor Island it was 29 miles an hour. On the 19th, pressure rose rapidly over the whole province, and being most rapid in Behar, the defect which was previously large became small, and considerable uniformity prevailed over Bengal. Wind directions were more normal, temperature generally below the average, while with humidity high, rain was heavy in parts of East and North Bengal and North Behar; but in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and South Behar it was light, though general. On Tuesday, the 20th, there was a brisk rise of pressure in South Behar, but changes were elsewhere small, and downward in the centre of the province, where a slightly low-pressure area began to appear, to the west of which area winds were strongly westerly. Heavy rain was still falling in East Bengal, while it was general elsewhere and moderately heavy in Behar. In consequence of the continued rainfall in East Bengal, temperature was very low there, but generally over the other districts a small excess prevailed. On the 21st there was a further small fall of pressure, and winds were cyclonic round a centre near Maldah, but were everywhere light. Light monsoon weather prevailed, rain being general in East Bengal and partial elsewhere. Similar weather obtained on the two following days, pressure generally falling, the only exception being a very slight rise on Friday in East and North Bengal; the centre of lowest pressure being near the boundary of South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur. Temperature was low on Thursday, but, increasing moderately, was everywhere above the normal on Friday. Very calm weather was commonly reported in the centre of the province, and light winds elsewhere, while rain was very light and local everywhere.

Pressure has been almost without interruption below the normal in every part of the province throughout the week, the only exceptions being the slight excess in Orissa and Behar on Tuesday and Wednesday. The defect was large during the passage of the depression in the early part of the week, and at the centre amounted to about a quarter of an inch. During the latter part there was considerable uniformity, as the shallow depression covered the greater part of the province, and defects were nowhere much over a twentieth of an inch. There was a very rapid rise of pressure behind the depression on Sunday and Monday, several stations in Behar reporting a rise of over 0·15 inch, while at Dehree it exceeded 0·2 inch. Average pressure for the week is very low everywhere. The largest defect is a tenth of an inch at Burdwan, and the mean for South-West Bengal is very nearly 0·08 inch. The defect is least in Orissa and Assam, being under a twentieth of an inch, but in other districts it lies between 0·05 inch and 0·07 inch generally.

Temperature changes have been very irregular generally, as the weather has been showery, and heavy falls of rain rather local. Large defects have been reported especially from East Bengal and Orissa, where the heaviest rain has fallen From Monday till Friday temperature was deficient in East Bengal, sometimes by four or five degrees, and similar defects existed in Orissa, though at different times, the largest being nearly six degrees at False Point on Thursday. The means for the week are nearly all deficient; in Orissa 0·7°, East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur 0·6°, South-West Bengal and North Behar 0·3°, and South Behar 0·1°. Temperature has been highest in Assam, nearly a degree in excess, and has been 0·3° in excess in North Bengal.

Rainfall has been rather heavy in all districts except Behar and North Bengal, showery weather having prevailed during almost the whole week. A large part of the rain in the western districts fell after the passage of the depression in the early part of the week, but in East Bengal local heavy rain has been reported almost every day. The average fall in East Bengal is 5·3 inches, in Chutia Nagpur 4·4 inches, in South-West Bengal and Orissa over 3 inches, South Behar 2·5 inches, North Behar and North Bengal 1·5 inches. Expressing the actual falls as percentages of the normal, we get East Bengal 148, Chutia Nagpur 134, Orissa 110, South-West Bengal 105, South Behar 97, North Behar 70, and North Bengal 59. The number of days on which rain fell has been above the average everywhere The heaviest falls are reported from Chittagong—Cox's Bazar 18 inches and Chittagong 15 inches. Many falls in East Bengal are over 5 inches, and the smallest are in the northern parts of Mymensingh and Tipperah, very few there being over 4 inches. The heaviest in Orissa is 8·5 inches at False Point, Kendrapara is nearly 8 inches; in South-West Bengal, Ghatal in the Midnapore district reports 8 7 inches and Bh Soory over 7 inches. In North Bengal the general fall is 1· to 2 inches, and the heaviest 6 inches at Darjeeling In Chutia Nagpur reports are over 3 inches nearly everywhere, and the heaviest is 8·7 inches at Hosseinabad In South Behar the heaviest falls are 7 inches at Aurungabad and 6 inches at Nya Doomka; and in North Behar the range is from 1 to 3 inches.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

His Excellency the most Honourable the Governor-General of India in Council.

MY LORD MARQUIS,—I forward herewith, for the information of your Government, a copy of a letter from the Foreign Office, and enclosures, relative to quarantine regulations at Russian ports in the Black Sea.

I have the honour to be,
MY LORD MARQUIS,
Your Lordship's most obedient, humble servant,

Foreign Office, dated 18th June 1889.

From—The RT. HON. SIR JAMES FERGUSSON, BART, G.C.S.I., M.P.,
To—The Under-Secretary of State, India Office.

I AM directed by the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs to transmit to you, to be laid before the Secretary of State for India in Council, the accompanying despatch respecting the quarantine imposed in Russian Black Sea ports on ships arriving from infected ports in India after having touched at a clean port.

St. Petersburgh, dated 10th June 1889.

From—The RT. HON. SIR R. B. D. MORIER, G.C.B.,
To—The Marquis of Salisbury, K.G., &c., &c., &c.

I HAVE the honour to transmit herewith to your Lordship a copy of a notice from the non-official part of the Odessa Official Journal, which I have received from Mr. Consul-General Sandwith, limiting to three months the time during which vessels arriving from cholera-infected Indian ports are liable to quarantine.

Mr. Sandwith states that in answer to enquiries he made of the Governor-General he has received an official reply from His Excellency to precisely the same effect.

"Vedomosti Odesskavo Gradon achalstva" No. 108, dated 20th May, 1st June 1889.

TRANSLATION.

VESSELS which on a previous voyage have been to India and called at cholera-infected ports frequently arrive at Black Sea quarantines with clean bills-of-health granted at British ports.

According to the existing regulations issued to the Black Sea Quarantine Authorities, such vessels had to undergo at the Black Sea ports a quarantine of observation irrespective of the length of time which might have elapsed since they had left a cholera-infected port.

Now the Chief of the District, with the consent of the Ministry of the Interior, has granted that those vessels arriving from cholera-infected ports of India, which have been cruising about for more than three months since they left a cholera-infected port, be exempted from a quarantine of observation, provided that during the voyage nobody on board has been ill with cholera and that the crews of these vessels on their arrival at a Black Sea quarantine should prove to be in a perfectly satisfactory state of health.

No. 15.

COMMISSARIAT ADVERTISEMENT FOR TEA FOR THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY, 1890-91.

SEALED tenders in the form used in the Commissariat Department (blank forms whereof can be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office, Madras,) will be received by the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, until 1 o'clock on Thursday, the 31st October 1889 (and opened by him at the same time and place in presence of those interested), for the supply by contract of Indian black tea, not exceeding in quantity 186, 383 lbs., to be delivered at the Commissariat Stores at Madras to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, on or before the 30th day of April 1890, free of all charges whatsoever. No payment will be made on account of such supply prior to the 1st April 1890. The above quantity is subject to a possible deduction of 163,010 lbs. or less, if favourable tenders for out-stations (as per paragraph 3) are received.

2. Earnest deposits.—Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Secretary of the Bank of Madras acknowledging the payment of earnest money equal to the amount shown in the table in paragraph 3, according to the number of stations tendered for, or by Government promissory notes to the same amount duly endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras. If such earnest money is not lodged, the tender will be rejected. Tenders to be sealed and superscribed "Tender for Tea."

3. Tenderers have the option of tendering for the supply of the whole quantity of tea at Madras, as mentioned in paragraph 1, or of supplying at the following stations separately the respective quantities given opposite each station. In the latter case the amount inserted opposite each station is the earnest money to accompany such tenders in the manner set forth in the preceding paragraph :—

Stations.	Tea.	Earnest money.
	lbs.	Rs.
Bangalore	42,580	550
Belgaum	26,260	350
Bellary	15,040	200
Cannanore	7,000	100
Madras	23,373	300
Secunderabad	57,680	700
Wellington	14,450	200
Total ...	186,383	2,400

4. Security deposits.—The earnest moneys of successful competitors will be retained until they lodge with the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras (or with the Executive Commissariat Officers in case separate tenders are accepted for each station) a security deposit at 10 per cent. on the value of the quantity or quantities of tea tendered by them. The security deposit may be lodged either in cash or in Government promissory notes. If the contractor desires to lodge the deposit in cash, he should pay the same to the Secretary of the Bank of Madras or to the nearest Government treasury, and forward to the Storekeeper-General the Bank or Treasury receipt for the same. If Government promissory notes are deposited, they are to be endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, for the time being as security for the due fulfilment of the contract. The earnest moneys deposited with the successful tenders will be returned to the tenderers.

5. The earnest moneys of all unsuccessful competitors will be returned on the decision of Government as to the acceptance of any tender being received.

6. Contract deed.—The successful competitors will be required to sign contracts on the basis of their tenders containing the usual provisions in the form used in the Commissariat Department (form whereof can be seen on application to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras), and to furnish the requisite security deposit within eight days from the date on which the acceptance of their tenders is notified to them. Should the successful competitors fail to sign the contracts or to furnish the security deposits within the time specified, so much of their earnest moneys will be forfeited as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract, and their tenders will be considered as having been rejected. It is, however, to be clearly understood that the forfeiture of the total amount (if necessary) of such earnest moneys for such defaults shall in no way preclude Government from recovering from the defaulting competitors all such damages as Government may sustain by reason of such defaults, and that the amount of such earnest moneys is not to be taken as the total amount of compensation payable to Government for such defaults.

7. Size and weight of chests.—The chests containing the tea must be of suitable material, lined with lead, and the lead-lining thereof must be sound and strong. Each chest must measure 27 inches long by 16 inches wide and 12½ inches deep (outside measurement), and must weigh as per margin. Each chest must be bound completely round with hoop-iron at both ends, the nails being driven so as not to injure the lead-lining. The case should be packed in good strong gunny. No chests of other dimensions than those specified above will be received. No broken or damaged chests will be received.

Weight of wooden chest	19
" of lead-lining	4
" of tea in chest	50
" of gunny-packing	2
Gross weight ...	75

7a. Each chest should contain 50 lbs. of Indian tea and should be marked "50lbs. net." A certain number of the chests will be opened and examined by a Committee to ascertain that they contain not less than the weight represented, dependent on which examination the remainder will be taken to contain the net weight marked thereon.

8. Quality of tea.—The quality of tea will be subject to the approval of, or rejection by, a Committee to be appointed at the request of the Commissary-General by the Officer Commanding the District, and payment will be made for such quantity of tea only as may be approved by the said Committee.

9. Samples.—Samples of tea can be had free of charge on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

10. Each tender must be accompanied by a sample chest containing 50 lbs. of the tea it is proposed to supply, which will be paid for at the rates tendered if of good quality.

11. Defaults.—If the contractors make default in delivering the whole or any part of the tea on or before the 30th April 1890, so much of the security deposited by them as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract will be liable to be realized by Government, and should such security be insufficient to compensate Government for such breach of contract, the contractors will be liable to pay to Government the difference between the amount of such security and such compensation, and any such compensation may, at the option of Government, be deducted either from the moneys payable to the contractors for the tea delivered by them or from the securities deposited by them.

GENERAL STIPULATIONS.

12. All further information may be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

13. Every tender not made in the required form will be rejected. The form of tender should be signed as well as the schedule of rates, without which the tender is invalid.

14. The Government reserves to itself the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason for so doing.

15. No person making a tender shall be allowed to withdraw his tender for the space of ninety days from the date thereof, and in the event of his doing so, his earnest money shall be forfeited to Government.

16. No offers by telegram will be accepted.

(By order of the Commissary-General.)

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE DACCA DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 30th August 1889.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Dacca Division for the year 1888-89.

Throughout most of the year Mr. W. R. Larminie held the office of Commissioner, Mr. J. A. Hopkins acting for him for six weeks in October and November. Mr. C. F. Worsley took over charge on the 10th of March, and the report, which is submitted by him, is of necessity based on the remarks made by district officers.

2. The uniform excellence of the record of inspection by the Commissioner, the heads of districts, and the officers in charge of sub-divisions, is destroyed by the occurrence of a very serious deficiency in the case of Furreedpore. In this district only 41 days were spent on tour, and the Lieutenant-Governor regrets that Mr. Grant, who was Collector during the cold-weather months, altogether neglected the duty of visiting the interior. The Collector no doubt thought that the enquiry into certain frauds in the Collectorate, on which he was engaged, was of more importance, but the Lieutenant-Governor cannot accept this as an adequate reason. The neglect is all the more to be regretted, as in other respects Mr. Grant's work at Furreedpore is most highly spoken of. A copy of these remarks will be communicated to Mr. Grant through the Commissioner of Burdwan. It is observed that the bad example thus set by the head of the district appears to have been followed in both the sub-divisions.

Annual tours.

3. The rainfall was in every district, except Mymensingh, more copious than in the preceding year, and, although its distribution was not altogether suitable, it was on the whole satisfactory. With the exception of wheat and barley in Dacca, the prices of food-grains ranged generally higher than in 1887-88, and it is explained that this was not due to any deficiency in the harvests of the division, but to the threatened scarcity elsewhere, which stimulated exportation from the rice-producing district of Backergunge and raised prices in Dacca and other importing districts. The material condition of the people remained on the whole unchanged, the agriculturists continuing to be prosperous and the artizans comfortably off; but all classes, other than the cultivators, are said to have felt more or loss keenly the rise in prices during the year. The public health was not as good as in the previous year, and an increase in the number of deaths from fever in Furreedpore and Mymensingh, as also in the mortality from small-pox in the latter district, is reported.

Weather and crops and general condition of the people.

Trade, commerce and manufactures.

4. As compared with the figures for 1887-88, trade seems to have been brisker in Backergunge and Mymensingh, but less so in Dacca, where a considerable falling off, both in the imports to, and exports from, Naraingunge is noticed, and partially attributed to the insufficiency in the number and capacity of the brigs running to and from Chittagong. The manufactures of the division are few and of comparatively very little importance, and, such as they are, have undergone no appreciable change.

Police and crime.

5. The returns show 27,845 cases against 26,697 in the previous year, and this increase is shared in by both cognizable and non-cognizable crime, and was contributed to by all the districts except Mymensingh, where there was a falling off. Proceedings against the originators of false cases were attended with greater success than usual, and the power to refuse enquiry was more freely resorted to by the police. Action in these directions must in the long run have a salutary effect, and efforts should be made not only to maintain but to improve upon the more favourable results (from a police point of view) which have been secured. The conduct of the police seems to have made anything but a favourable impression on the district officers of the division, the only word of praise allowed them being in connection with an unusual occurrence, the Dacca tornado, on the occasion of which they are said to have "worked well and done good service." The progress shown in introducing and working the provisions of the amended Chowkidari Act is not as satisfactory in this as in other divisions, and the attention of the local officers should be specially directed to the matter.

Revenue.

6. The land revenue collections were not good, the percentages realized on the total demand being in both Backergunge and Furreedpore below 90, while outstanding balances increased from Rs. 2,60,004 to Rs. 3,21,196. In estates under direct management the results are even more unsatisfactory, collections having in every district fallen short of 90 per cent. The total revenue from excise rose from Rs. 7,73,088 to Rs. 8,03,482, the increase being almost wholly due to ganja; but in the case of stamps the gross receipts fell to Rs. 23,59,657 from Rs. 24,38,872 in the previous year. The increase in the revenue derived from the imposition of the income-tax, accompanied as it was by a decrease in the number of persons assessed, is most satisfactory. In post-office savings banks an advance is shown both in the number and in the amount of deposits, and in the money-order department there was also a large increase, which was, however, mainly due to the extension of the apparently popular system of payment of Government revenue through this channel.

Loan Banks.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor learns with pleasure of the general success of the agricultural loan banks, of which there are now no fewer than eleven in the Dacca Division. The Furreedpore bank, in particular, is described as commanding the confidence of the public, and the fact that the dividend declared at the end of the year under report was 36 per cent. per annum testifies to its flourishing condition and resources. The Burisal bank also appears to be doing a large business, and the loan offices in Mymensingh, with one exception, are said to pay nearly 20 per cent. on their capital. These institutions, when properly managed on sound commercial principles, supply a real want, and the division is to be congratulated on the advance which it alone has made in this direction.

Education.

8. Education, while it lost no ground, failed to make any special progress, but it is worthy of notice that while the total expenditure has risen from Rs. 6,98,878 to Rs. 7,46,270, the Government expenditure has remained very much the same as in the preceding year, while Municipal and District Boards have contributed only a slightly increased percentage of the cost. As regards the education of girls, the Lieutenant-Governor regrets to notice a loss of 75 schools and of 102 pupils, besides a decrease of 303 in the number of girls attending boys' schools. Muhammadan education has progressed favourably, and an increase in the attendance of Muhammadan youths at all classes of schools is noted with satisfaction. In this connection, the Lieutenant-Governor, turning to the paragraph of the report on the employment of Muhammadans, observes that, whereas the representatives of this section of the community appear to hold their own in the gazetted service of Government, they have not a fair share of the appointments belonging to what is known as the superior service, while it is exceedingly disappointing to find that in inferior service there is now a marked deficiency of Muhammadans, particularly noticeable in Mymensingh and Backergunge. Probably the figures formerly given were defective, but, from whatever point of view regarded, the circumstance is discouraging. There was an increase in the number of entrance schools, but it is said to have been due to the establishment of rival institutions in places where there was hardly any hope for the successful working of even one. Mr. Worsley quotes from the report of the Inspector, who states that in all cases "the payment of sufficient and regular salaries to the teachers, the levy of regular and sufficiently high rates of fees, the enforcement of discipline and proper attention to real progress in study, are out of the question on account of the unhealthy competition that prevails for boys, who necessarily become masters of the situation." This is much to be regretted, and the Lieutenant-Governor concurs in the opinion expressed by the Officiating Commissioner, that a remedy for it is to be found in the strict enforcement of the inter-school rules, the more extended use of which is at the present moment under the consideration of Government.

Local Self-Government.

9. In the Dacca Division the success of Local Self-Government is pronounced, and it is with much pleasure that the Lieutenant-Governor has received such uniformly good accounts of the conduct of District, Local, and Municipal Boards. The dissensions in the Dacca Municipality, which were alluded to in last year's report and resolution, have subsided, and it is considered that there is now a prospect of harmonious working in the future. The district officers of the division bear unanimous testimony to the zeal, interest, and intelligence evinced by the members of District and Local Boards, and the entire absence of friction argues the display of commendable tact on the part of the former and of mutual forbearance and public spirit by the latter.

Conduct of zemindars.

10. The conduct of the zemindars of Dacca as zemindars is, on the whole, favourably reported upon, although there are exceptions to the rule, as in Mymensingh, where the Magistrate states that the old habit of coercion by means of demonstrations of force has not quite died out, its existence being evidenced by occasional breaches of the peace committed, not by the ryots themselves, but by men in the employment and pay of rival landlords. Mr. Worsley has specially alluded to a number of men of wealth and influence, and cordially acknowledged their acts of public-spirited liberality. As usual, Nawab Sir Abdul Gunny, K.C.S.I., and Nawab Ahsanullah Khan Bahadoor take the foremost places, while Rajah Rajendro Narayan Roy Bahadoor of Bhowal, and Baboos Ruplal Dass, Raghunath Dass, Rajah Soorja Kant Acharjee, and Hafez Mahomed Ali Khan, are very honourably mentioned as having been eager to follow the good example. In commemoration of the late Viceroy's visit to Dacca, a female hospital in connection with Lady Dufferin's scheme was started and endowed with munificent donations made by the Nawab Ahsanullah, Rajah Rajendro Narayan Roy, and the Dacca bankers, Baboos Ruplal and Raghunath Dass.

11. The remarks on the character of officers will be communicated to the Appointment Department. Mr. Worsley has exercised care and good judgment in what is intended to be in the main a mere compilation of the district reports submitted to him.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE ORISSA DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 2nd September 1889.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Orissa Division for the year 1888-89.

Mr. Worsley held charge of the division for eleven months of the year, until he was relieved by Mr. Hopkins, who has submitted this report. It is unnecessarily lengthy and full of figured statements, which would be more properly included in departmental reports. Another year the orders of Government for the condensation of these reports should be more carefully observed.

Weather and crops.

2. The weather throughout the year caused much anxiety and apprehension for the safety of the staple rice crop. The rainfall was in many places deficient, and everywhere unevenly distributed, so that the crops suffered alternately from floods and drought. Want of rain in the early part of the year retarded cultivation, while the heavy floods caused by the copious rainfall in August and September injuriously affected the crops in many places in Cuttack and Balasore. There was also a cyclone in September, but the damage caused to the crops was not considerable. In October there was a cessation of the rains which caused great alarm throughout the division. Rain fell in November, and was generally beneficial to the harvest, though in some places it was too scanty to do any good. Distress was felt in Banki in consequence of the scarcity of the food-supply, and has continued during the current year, necessitating the provision of relief works. In Pooree likewise there was considerable anxiety; but while the rest of the district recovered itself, the outturn of the sarud and beali crops in Khoorda sub-division was only 8 annas and 12 annas respectively. In this sub-division relief operations on an extensive scale were required, and expenditure amounting to over a lakh of rupees was incurred on this account. The relaxation of the Forest Rules afforded timely succour, enabling the poorer classes to obtain from a larger area the jungle produce which always furnishes a large proportion of their means of subsistence. The injury to the crops in three thanas of Balasore, first by floods and afterwards by cessation of the rains, led to manifestations of distress, so that the short rainfall of the present season gives cause for apprehension.

Public health.

3. There is a remarkable decrease in the registered mortality of the Pooree district, the figures amounting to only two-thirds of those for the previous year. The number of pilgrims was about the same in both years, and the outbreaks of cholera were synchronous with the great festivals. It is very satisfactory that the extraordinary precautions taken, not only in Pooree, but also along the main road to Cuttack, undoubtedly checked the mortality usual on these occasions. The Lieutenant-Governor looks to the Commissioner to see that the precautions referred to are repeated annually with any further improvements that may appear to be required. The Collector of Pooree dilates on the miserable condition of the landless labourer, and his remarks have such an important bearing on the condition of the semi-aborigines, who are now likewise the principal sufferers in the neighbouring Native States, that they may well be reproduced. That officer writes:—

"In former times these classes—Bouries, Savars—who are the Gibeonites of Orissa, used to support themselves—(1) by the sale of wood and other jungle produce; (2) by the cultivation of poor soil, or what is called the toila system; and (3) by working as serfs forOoriya landholders on starvation wages, paid either in kind or by permission to cultivate a portion of the farm on a sort of metayer system, with the further condition that they performed all the heavy field-work on their masters' holding. Their first means of subsistence was curtailed by the forest rules, and the second by the pernicious policy of restricting toila cultivation, under the ridiculous impression that scrub waste is more valuable than cultivation. Accordingly the landless were reduced to a condition of complete servitude. Every village in Khoorda where these aborigines dwell has its Bouri or Savar quarter; and so long as the weather is favourable, work being plentiful, they get enough grain to supplement their diet of roots and weeds, so as to make it capable of maintaining life. But there is no margin, and directly work fails owing to absence of rain or fears of scarcity on the part of the employers, the landless are reduced to a state of semi-starvation. * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

During the year under review the forest rules have been relaxed since July, when real distress was first felt by these poor creatures, because, (the weather not permitting puddling or transplanting), they could get no field-work, and all restrictions on toila cultivation have been abandoned. In spite of these measures, the long drought from November to March had begun to affect them injuriously; and, but for the rain which fell a few days ago, specific relief must have been administered."

Mr. Hopkins adds:—

"The condition of the semi-aboriginal classes of Savars, Bouries, and others attracted attention during the late distress in Khoorda, and a scheme for providing them with lands was submitted to the Board of Revenue by my predecessor in February last. The subject is now apparently under the consideration of the Board. * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

"Mr. Allen thinks the following remedial measures to be most important:—(1) The permanent relaxation of the forest rules both in reserved and protected forests; (2) the encouragement of cultivation under the toila system until most of these landless day-labourers become petty cultivators; (3) emigration. The first two measures have been reported to Government, while as regards the third it appears from Mr. Taylor's report that no Khoorda ryot will leave his home unless compelled to do so under very exceptional circumstances. Efforts, however, are being made by the missionaries to introduce emigration."

Trade.

4. The sea-borne trade of the Orissa ports again shows a marked decline as follows:—

	Balasore.	Cuttack and False Point.	Pooree.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1884-85	1,55,36,857	29,78,282	8,10,238
1887-88	1,22,57,221	14,88,560	2,99,803
1888-89	1,02,53,629	10,12,846	62,411

and the decline is distributed over both imports and exports. The sea-borne export trade was necessarily affected by the high prices of food-grains, but it is not clear why the inland trade to the Central Provinces and west should be considered to have increased, no figures being given. The diversion of a portion of the sea-borne trade to the new coast canal may account for the lower statistics above given: but in that case the enquiry should be pushed further with a view to comparing annually the trade by the coast canal, which is now stated to be Rs. 2,90,198 in value. The passenger traffic recovered to some extent, rising from 122,093 to 133,463 in the year. The Commissioner notices as an unusual phenomenon the export in large quantities of rice from the north through Pooree to the southern Tributary States and Ganjam. In ordinary years the export trade in rice is exclusively sea-borne.

Police and crime.

5. The Police force in the division was diminished in consequence of the transfer of the Salt Department to the Madras authorities. The District Officers report unfavourably on the regular police, and describe them as for the most part incompetent. The rural police are generally unsatisfactory. There was a small increase of 354 in the total number of cases, cognizable and non-cognizable, reported during the year, the more numerous thefts being, as usual, attributed to the high prices of food-grains. The crime in the division is comparatively light, and the police are said to be much less efficient than elsewhere. The attention of the Inspector-General will be drawn to the Commissioner's observations.

Revenue.

6. The land revenue collections amount to Rs. 16,60,389 as compared with Rs. 17,52,597 in 1887-88, giving a percentage of 88·5 on the demand as compared with 93·5. This inferior result is mainly due to the short collections in Pooree, owing to the distress in Khoorda. At the same time it is very unsatisfactory to find that the late Sub-divisional Officer did not take proper measures to realize the arrears of rents from the surbarakars, which they had admittedly collected from the cultivators. Energetic measures have been adopted since his retirement. The Road and Public Works cess collections were also unsatisfactory in this division. The Canoongoes in Orissa are described as useful for subordinate revenue work, but the putwaris have failed altogether to afford any assistance. The Stamp revenue fell by Rs. 28,258, and that derived from Excise by Rs. 7,812. The success of the policy of Government with regard to ganja is again testified to by the diminished consumption of the article accompanied by increased revenue through the raising of the duty. The Income-tax and Forest revenue also decreased.

Education.

7. Education has advanced in Cuttack, but declined in Pooree and Balasore. In public institutions there is a loss of 192 schools and 1,831 pupils, whereas private institutions show a gain of 171 schools and 1,089 pupils. The percentage of the youth of the division at school still ranks high. Female education, though in a backward condition, has improved by 19 schools and 425 pupils. There is also an increase of 445 Mahomedans under instruction, and they are said to be not less intellectually inclined or advanced than the Hindu section of the community. The education of the aboriginal races has made some little progress in the year in Cuttack.

Pooree Temple.

8. The new manager of the Pooree Temple, selected by the Dowager Rani of Pooree in her capacity of Superintendent, joined his appointment, and the Collector writes:—"It is to be hoped that he will be strong enough to introduce some order into the affairs of the temple, which are in a disgraceful condition. All through the year there was no recognized head." A lamentable account is given of the ignorance in which the young Raja, a lad of 13, has been hitherto kept by his immediate attendants. The car and other festivals attracted fewer pilgrims than usual, it being considered an unlucky year.

Committees and Zemindars.

9. The Municipal Committee in Cuttack attended meetings fairly well, but three of the seven meetings of the District Board were adjourned for want of a quorum. The Pooree Lodging-house Committee worked quietly and harmoniously, and the Municipal Commissioners did exceedingly well until their official Chairman, a Deputy Collector, was transferred; the District Board also achieved some success. Among the zemindars Raja Baikantha Nath Dey Bahadoor of Balasore and Raja Baidyanath Pundit of Cuttack are prominently mentioned for liberality and good work: so also in Balasore, Baboo Gobind Bullav Roy Mahashay and Baboo Kailash Chunder Roy Mahashay are said, though not wealthy men, to be model zemindars, living quietly among their own people, dealing justly by their ryots, supporting schools, and setting a good example of unobtrusive loyalty. In Pooree the Raja of Parikood used his influence to induce holders of grain to sell during the past year's distress at fair rates. The Commissioner remarks that "zemindars do not, although such a policy is clearly required in this province, maintain granaries in their estates for the purpose of securing a proper supply of seed for their ryots and a sufficient reserve in case of failure of crops. In a country where the whole course of trade in food-grain is export, it seems strange that no steps in this direction have been taken."

10. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to acknowledge Mr. Worsley's services in this division during the greater part of the year under report. The opinions recorded by the Collectors and the Commissioner on their subordinates in the districts and division will be duly considered in the Appointment Department.

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

IN the Resolution of 16th May 1888, the Lieutenant-Governor stated his views regarding the desirability of extending the system of Honorary Magistrates which was started on its present footing in the year 1872-73 by Sir George Campbell with a view to the education of the people in the management of their own affairs, to the representation of different classes on the Bench and also to the relief of the paid Magistracy. In this Resolution the Lieutenant-Governor also indicated in a general way the lines which he considered that such an extension should follow, and asked for the opinions and suggestions of various officials and non-officials upon the questions raised.

2. Replies have now been received from the gentlemen and associations consulted: These are of two kinds—some are specific proposals for the formation of new Benches; others relate to principles in which the system might be extended. As regards the first class of replies, the recommendations have in most cases been disposed of by the establishment of the proposed Benches. The consideration of the replies received on the more general questions would indicate that any large extension of the present system must be introduced gradually and in a tentative manner; the chief difficulty arising from the small number of persons to be found in many districts who are both willing and fit to exercise the powers of Honorary Magistrates. At the same time it appears equally clear that it is desirable for the Government to lay down the principles on which future extension should be made, and to describe in some detail the manner in which it would be most practicable to make it.

3. The first point for consideration is the classes of persons to be selected as members of Benches of Honorary Magistrates. On this subject it would be manifestly impossible to lay down hard-and-fast rules to guide every case; but there are some points of general application which may be noticed here. Generally it is not desirable that officers of Government should be appointed Honorary Magistrates, as in most cases their ordinary duties would not permit them to undertake the additional functions which the new appointment would entail. This principle will not, however, exclude Medical or Ecclesiastical officers, Managers of Khas Mehals or Court of Wards' Estates and Rural Sub-Registrars, whose assistance as Honorary Magistrates will often prove valuable. In appointing gentlemen engaged in professional and mercantile pursuits, regard will be had, not solely to their qualifications, but also to their ability and readiness to devote a reasonable portion of their time to the performance of the duties of the office. Pleaders practising in the Subordinate Criminal Courts will not as a rule be selected for the post of Honorary Magistrate. Good landlords and retired Government officers, especially pensioned judicial officers, will, if willing to serve, prove valuable additions to Local Benches. In selecting members of Benches great care will have to be taken not to choose persons living at a distance from the centre at which the Bench sits, and it should at the same time be remembered that the success or failure of the scheme within a district depends on the careful choice of qualified and public-spirited Honorary Magistrates.

4. The system by which municipal and conservancy cases are tried by Municipal Commissioners has been of much service to the administration and will be continued; but it has been brought to Sir Steuart Bayley's notice that in many districts it has become the practice to recommend all Municipal Commissioners for appointment as Honorary Magistrates without any discrimination as to their personal qualifications for the duties. Many Municipal Commissioners are men belonging to the professional and mercantile communities, who cannot spare time to work as Honorary Magistrates in addition to their duties to the municipality, and some of the elected Commissioners are not qualified by social position and educational attainments for the appointment.

5. Hitherto the general rule has been that Honorary Magistrates should not sit without a Stipendiary Magistrate except for the disposal of municipal and conservancy business, although under the special orders of the Magistrate exceptions were occasionally made to the rule. This frequently entails on the salaried Magistrates considerable additional labour; while the Lieutenant-Governor believes that in the more advanced districts, most Benches of Honorary Magistrates have ceased to require the presence of a Stipendiary Magistrate to guide their proceedings, now that the system under which they work has been in force for a sufficient time to give them the experience they required. In future therefore Benches of Honorary Magistrates will ordinarily be independent, unless in cases where the consent of Government has been obtained to the association with the Bench of a Stipendiary Magistrate. In backward districts this will at first often be desirable, and applications should be made to the Local Government in this behalf whenever the District Magistrate thinks expedient.

6. As regards the powers with which Benches may be invested, it will rarely be advisable to give first-class powers to a Bench of Magistrates, and in no case will such powers be given unless two or more of the Magistrates composing the Bench have exercised second-class powers for more than one year, and they shall only be exercised at sittings attended by one of the Magistrates so qualified. Similarly, second-class powers should only be given to Benches of which two or more members have exercised third-class powers for more than one year. Summary powers will almost invariably be given to Benches, as the procedure to be observed by them can hardly be too simple. Honorary Magistrates who are fit to exercise first-class powers will, as a rule, be allowed to sit alone, and can be safely invested with larger powers than Benches to take up cases direct, as the responsibility is in their case undivided. The Lieutenant-Governor is particularly anxious that endeavours should be made to select gentlemen qualified by previous judicial or forensic experience, or respected landholders who may be otherwise found qualified, to sit alone. Sir Steuart Bayley thinks that many gentlemen, who from their position and antecedents might be unwilling to be members of a bench trying only petty cases, would not be averse from giving their assistance as Magistrates sitting alone in disposing of more important business.

7. As regards the class of cases to be tried by Honorary Magistrates, it should be the rule for District and Sub-divisional Magistrates to transfer to Benches only cases which can be tried summarily under section 260 or 261 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and which can be disposed of at one sitting. This does not apply to Honorary Magistrates sitting singly, when the difficulties attendant on assembling the same Bench for more than one consecutive sitting would not be felt. It would be advisable, owing to difficulties about custody and the issue of process, to avoid transferring to Honorary Magistrates residing at a distance from sudder or sub-divisional stations any cases in which the accused would have to be kept in confinement during the trial, or even any cases likely to terminate in a sentence of imprisonment. It does not appear possible to lay down any general rule as to the classes of cases under the Indian Penal Code which a Bench of Magistrates may be allowed to take up direct. In some districts cases under section 447 might be left to them, while in others the state of relations between zemindars and their tenants might render this undesirable. As regards offences triable under the Penal Code, therefore, Sir Steuart Bayley will, as a general rule, accept the recommendations of District Officers regarding the classes of cases which may be taken up direct by Benches, provided the recommendations are endorsed by the Commissioner of the Division. Offences under fiscal laws should, as a rule, be reserved for Stipendiary Magistrates, but complaints regarding offences under the Municipal, Local Self-Government, Hackney Carriage and Cruelty to Animals Acts, and under section 34 of Act V of 1861, may ordinarily be taken up direct by Benches of Honorary Magistrates. Honorary Magistrates sitting singly may sometimes be empowered to deal with cases under section 191 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

8. The services of Honorary Magistrates may frequently be usefully employed in extra-judicial ways, but care must be taken not to overload them with such duties. In selecting and reporting to the Magistrate persons eligible as members of punchayets, in making local enquiries, and generally in connection with the Chowkidari Act, they can be of great service to Government. There are difficulties in the way of allowing them to record confessions and dying declarations generally, and such powers should be confined to cases which they are competent to try, the procedure in recording confessions in important cases being invariably scrutinised with great jealousy by superior courts.

9. It is difficult for the Local Government to raise the position and importance of Honorary Magistrates in the eyes of the public by rule or enactment: this must necessarily to a great extent depend on the social status and suitability of those selected for the office by the District Magistrates. At the same time it seems right that on all occasions of official ceremonies Honorary Magistrates should take precedence of all untitled persons not in Government service.

10. It is important that all Honorary Magistrates should be men willing to work in the interests of the public, and District Magistrates should report all cases in which Honorary Magistrates fail to attend Bench sittings without reasonable excuse, with a view to their removal.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared to sanction, on the recommendation of the Commissioner, necessary establishments either for Benches or for Honorary Magistrates sitting singly.

12. A new set of rules have been prepared and will supersede those now in force from 1st October 1889.

13. The above remarks are offered for the guidance of local officers in their extension of a system designed in their interests, but the working of the scheme depends almost wholly on the discretion and discrimination shown by them in selecting the gentlemen to be recommended to Government for appointment as Honorary Magistrates and in the limitation or extension of their judicial powers.

ORDER.—Ordered that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to all Commissioners for information and for communication to the Magistrates of the districts of their Divisions.

Resolution of this Government, dated the 28th January, 1889.

As mentioned in the Government Resolution, dated the 28th January, a cholera shed and place of inspection for coolies travelling to Assam, with the necessary establishment required for the proper treatment and care of the sick, has been established at Kurigram, in Rungpore. The agency sanctioned for medical inspection at Mugra has been transferred to Naihati, and arrangements have been made for the proper treatment of emigrants during transit by rail and for telegraphic reports to the emigration authorities at Dhubri on all cases of cholera occurring along the line of railway and at Goalundo. Measures have also been taken for the regular inspection of the depôts at Raneegunge and Calcutta, for the mitigation of existing sanitary abuses, and for the disposal at Raneegunge of the bodies of coolies dying at the depôts. A temporary cholera hospital has been opened at Raneegunge for infected coolies and placed under the charge of the Assistant Surgeon, who receives for the duty an allowance of Rs. 20 per mensem during the heavy recruiting season, and it has been arranged that on the outbreak of cholera a medical officer shall be stationed at the Sealdah, and another at the Raneegunge, station to examine emigrants, and that persons found to be infected shall be detained. As all labourers for the Assam valley enter it by the railway, it has been considered unnecessary to provide for any other route than those which lead from Chota Nagpore to the railway, and for the railway journey by the East Indian Railway and the Eastern Bengal Railway as far as Dhubri.

2. Since the Resolution above referred to was published, Act I (B.C.) of 1889 has been passed and rules framed thereunder with a view to ensuring that emigrants shall be properly housed, fed, and clothed during transit. The railway cholera hospital at Kaunia has been removed to a new site some distance away from the railway station; arrangements have been made for the stationing of a Civil Hospital Assistant at Parbuttipore during the prevalence of cholera; a dispensary shed with furniture, a cholera shed, cook-room, and latrine have been constructed at Naihati; the number of coolies to be despatched has been limited to 320 a day; the use of goods waggons for the conveyance of coolies has been prohibited; the practice of sending coolies by goods trains has been abandoned; the trains for the conveyance of coolies have been so selected as to afford time for rest and refreshment at Damookdea and Parbuttipore; a plentiful supply of water has been ordered at all stations; and the coolies are now conveyed by train from the depôt at Sara instead of being obliged to make the journey to the railway station on foot.

3. In addition to these measures, the Lieutenant-Governor is now pleased to sanction—

(1) the posting of a Civil Hospital Assistant to the charge of the coolie depôts at Raghunathpore in the Manbhoom district, with a view to the adoption of the necessary precautions to prevent an outbreak of cholera among the coolies;

(2) the construction at Raghunathpore of a cholera mat hospital and the sinking of a masonry well;

(3) the adoption of similar arrangements at the municipal town of Jhaldah in Manbhoom;

Copious rain urgently wanted to complete transplanting in parts of the Banka and Sudder subdivisions It is almost too late for this already. Harvesting of bhadoi rice not yet completed on account of late sowings; outturn is expected to average about 9 annas. Transplantation of winter rice in parts of thanas Gajole and Maldah, which was retarded for want of rain, has now been pushed on, there being sufficient rain during the week. Mulberry is a bumper crop, but the cocoons are poor owing to excessive heat at seeding time. Common rice selling at an average of 15 seers per rupee.
	Chanchal ...	0·43
	Shibgunge ...	1·50
	Gajole ..	2·16
37	Sonthal Perghs. „ 31, '89	0·83	Weather—cloudy with occasional showers. Transplantation of dhan nearly over. Transplantation on high lands delayed, especially in Godda, for want of rain. The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* Means for 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last [illegible]. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past [illegible] stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

or the week ending Friday, the 30th of August 1889.

CALCUTTA, the 3rd September, 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 30TH OF AUGUST 1889.

At the end of the previous week a diffused shallow depression covered the whole of Bengal, Orissa, and Behar, difference of pressure being considerable near the boundary of the province, but great uniformity generally prevailing Wind directions were not very abnormal, being south-west in Orissa, and south-east or east in the eastern and northern districts, but a slight northerly element in the wind directions in Chutia Nagpur showed that a cyclonic element was present On the first day of the present week, Saturday the 24th, the area of lowest pressure was further south, being over the north-west corner of the Bay, and extending from it in a west-north-west direction over Orissa into Central India. From the wind circulation round the coast, it would appear that a low-pressure area had formed over the Bay, and, moving in a westerly direction, had partly joined the more diffused depression over Bengal. On Saturday morning two distinct wind systems appeared: one including the winds at Lower Bengal and Orissa stations, the centre of which was near the coast of Orissa, a calm being reported at Cuttack, while east or north-east winds were blowing at the neighbouring stations to the north and a south-west wind at Pooree. Pressure had risen during the previous twenty-four hours at all except the Orissa stations, but at these latter the fall was very slight. Defect prevailed, but was large in Orissa and the neighbouring part of South-West Bengal only. Very little rain was falling except in Orissa, and with light winds everywhere, weather was generally of light monsoon character. On the 25th the depression intensified somewhat, pressure having fallen at nearly all stations, and with the greatest rapidity in Orissa, at all stations of which, with the exception of Balasore, defect exceeded a tenth of an inch. Weather was very similar to that of the previous day: local and generally very light rain; and in Orissa, though rain was general and fairly heavy, the fall had diminished from that of the 24th. Light winds were blowing with a fairly complete cyclonic circulation round a centre near False Point. Directions were still east or north-east at the head of the Bay, but were normal along the east coast. In consequence of the absence of rain, temperature was above the normal by amounts ranging from 1° to 3°. On Monday a decided improvement appeared, normal conditions obtaining over the whole province except near False Point, where a depression of very limited extent remained, accompanied by a cyclonic circulation at the neighbouring stations. Pressure rose in Lower Bengal and fell generally in the northern districts, but changes were small except in Orissa, where a general rise of about a twentieth of an inch occurred. There was still defect everywhere, and it was again largest in Orissa, the only station where it exceeded a tenth of an inch being False Point. Temperature was highest in Behar, being from three to four degrees in excess there, and an excess of one or two degrees prevailed. Light general rain fell in the southern districts, but none in Behar, and very little in North Bengal. On Tuesday, the 27th, the depression had completely disappeared, and wind directions were everywhere normal. A stronger monsoon began to blow at the Orissa stations, and the similarity of the weather to what follows a shallow depression crossing the coast from the Bay supports the conclusion that the depression over Orissa was partly caused by the westerly movement of a shallow depression which, forming over the Bay, had affected the wind directions at the coast stations during the first day or two of the week, but which had failed to cause a complete cyclonic circulation, because of the low-pressure area over Bengal. Rain became much more general in Behar, and fell at all stations in the south and east of the province Temperature was lower and wind velocity generally higher. Squally weather with rough sea prevailed in the north-west corner of the Bay. Similar conditions continued during the remaining three days of the week. Pressure increased on Wednesday and Thursday in South Bengal, and the lowest pressure was during these days in Behar, where rainfall was heavier and much more general, while it was becoming less so in Orissa and South-West Bengal. A large fall of temperature accompanied the heavy rainfall in Behar, and a considerable increase occurred in the southern districts, especially South-West Bengal. Pressure fell slowly on Friday, moderate winds continued at the head of the Bay, but velocity diminished considerably in Behar, where rainfall was not so general, or so heavy. Heavy rain fell in East Bengal, and fairly heavy in Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and Assam.

Pressure—Changes have been detailed above, and have never been even moderately large. Defect has prevailed during almost the whole week, a few stations in the south reporting slight excess at the end. Average pressure is therefore everywhere below the normal, though not largely so. In Orissa the mean defect is about 0·04 inch, in South-West Bengal nearly 0·03 inch, in East Bengal 0·025 inch, in North Bengal about 0·015 inch, and in Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and Assam between 0·02 inch and 0·03 inch.

Temperature—On an average has been high in all districts except North Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, the mean for the week being normal in the former and deficient in the latter by 0·4°. The excess in South-West Bengal and Behar is nearly the same, about 1·2° in East Bengal, in Assam 0·8°, and in Orissa 0·2°. As occasional very heavy rainfall has occurred, some stations have reported very low temperatures, defect at times exceeding 6°, but these low temperatures lasted only for a short time in any one place.

Rainfall—Has been above the average in all districts except South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, the largest excess being in North Bengal and South Behar, in both of which it is over one inch. The excess in Orissa, East Bengal, and North Behar is smaller, and about three-tenths of an inch in all. The defect in Chutia Nagpur is three-tenths of an inch, and in South-West Bengal very nearly one inch. The actual average falls are—North Bengal 4·56 inches, South Behar 3·27 inches, East Bengal 3·17 inches, North Behar 2·94 inches, Orissa and Chutia Nagpur 2·3 and 2·2 inches respectively, and South West Bengal 1·3 inches. These averages expressed as percentages of the normal fall for the same period are—South Behar 145, North Bengal 135, North Behar and Orissa 114, East Bengal 111, Chutia Nagpur 87, and South-West Bengal 57. These numbers show the irregular distribution of rainfall in the various districts, and that the current passing up the eastern side of the province has been flowing freely over the northern districts during the week. The south-western districts, except Orissa, have received deficient rainfall, and the heavier fall in Orissa is due to the shallow depression which was over that district during the early part of the week. In Orissa and South-West Bengal rain was general during the first half of the week, and very local in the other districts, while during the last half falls were much more scattered in the first-named districts and general in the others. Only a few falls in South-West Bengal exceed two inches, and many are under one. The heaviest is 3·25 inches at Buseerhat. Pooree reports 10·9 inches, and the other falls are between 1 and 3 inches. In East Bengal, Durgapore reports 12 inches, Netrokona 8·1 inches, Fenny, Cox's Bazar, and Chittagong over 6 inches. Other reports are generally under 3 inches, except in Mymensing, where they are nearly all over 3 inches. In North Bengal the heaviest rain has been in Cooch Behar and Julpigoree; Cooch Behar, Matabhanga, Buxa, and Fallacotta being all over 10 inches. In Bogra, Rajshahye, and Maldah the average fall is a little over 2 inches. In Behar, Soopool, Roshera, Dehree, Bickram, Gogri, and Rajmehal report falls between 6 and 8 inches, and at a large number of stations the falls are between 3 and 4 inches. In Chutia Nagpur scattered rain fell throughout the week, except at Hazaribagh, Chyebassa, and in the Manbhoom district. The heaviest falls are—Hazaribagh nearly 6 inches, Jhalda 4·7 inches, and Hosseinabad 3·8 inches.

MEMORANDUM.

THE principal municipalities in Bengal returned during the week ending 17th August 1889 the birth and death-rates of 21·7 and 24·3 per 1,000 of population, respectively, as opposed to 20·1 and 28·9 per 1,000, respectively, in the preceding week ending 10th August, indicating an improvement in the registration of births and a considerable falling off in that of deaths

2. The municipalities which returned the highest proportions of births and deaths are:—

indicating chiefly that, in comparison with the preceding week, the severity of fever and the maladies classed under the head of "Other causes" had, on the whole, declined considerably.

4. Of the diseases above named, cholera, fever, bowel-complaints, and "other causes" proved conspicuously fatal in the following municipalities, and small-pox only in the Poori town, where the death-rate from it stood at 6·3 per 1,000 of population:—

No. 3580.—In exercise of the power conferred by Act I of 1870, the following Rules for Quarantine against Cholera have been made by the Government of Bombay, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council: they have effect from the 24th instant in the Ports of Aden and Perim as a temporary measure:—

I.—The Commander of every vessel, including buggalows or other native craft, arriving from the ports of the Persian Gulf, shall, before entering the harbour, indicate by signal the port from which such vessel has come.

II.—Such Commander shall not, except as hereinafter provided, allow any communication, either with the pilot boat, except orally, or with the shore, or with any other vessel or boat in the harbour.

III.—Immediately on arrival, the Commander shall cause the letter R of the Commercial Signal Code to be hoisted, and shall keep the said flag flying during his stay in port, or until authorized by the Health Officer to haul it down. If communication with the shore is not desired, the vessel shall anchor at such place as may be pointed out by the Port authorities, having regard to the season of the year. If communication with the shore is desired, the Health Officer shall go alongside the vessel, and, after all necessary enquiries, shall direct the Commander to take the vessel to the quarantine anchorage duly appointed and notified in that behalf by the Resident, there to remain for a period of seven days from the date of arrival, or for the shorter period prescribed in Rule IV, and undergo disinfection, which should apply as well to crew, passengers, effects, and suspectible goods.

IV.—If the Health Officer of the Port has sufficient evidence that no cases of a suspicious nature have taken place on board during the voyage, and if the vessel is besides in good hygienic condition, the duration of the quarantine will be diminished according to the following scale:—

After eight days of voyage	...	...	six days of quarantine.
Do. nine	ditto	...	...	five	ditto.
Do. ten	ditto	...	...	four	ditto.

Do. twelve	ditto	...	...	two	ditto.
Do. thirteen	ditto	and upwards	...	twenty-four hours of quarantine.

V.—If during the period a vessel is at the quarantine anchorage aforesaid, any case or cases of cholera should occur on board, the said vessel shall remain in quarantine for a period of seven days from the date of the last case occurring, and be subject to all the prohibitions provided for in Rule III.

VI.—When any vessel has been placed in quarantine as aforesaid, the Health Officer may direct the removal of so many of the passengers and crew as may not be suffering from illness, and whose services may not be required on board the vessel, to such particular spots as may from time to time be selected by the Resident as places of quarantine, there to remain for a period of seven days. If a case of cholera occurs among such passengers and crew during any such period, they shall remain in a place of quarantine for a period of fifteen days from the date of the occurrence of the last case of such illness.

VII.—Any mails or cargo which may be brought by any vessel so arriving shall be landed under such precautions as the Health Officer may deem necessary to prevent the spread of the disease.

VIII.—It will be the duty of the Port Officer to facilitate the conveyance to all vessels in quarantine of such supplies of provisions, stores and other articles as may be required by those on board. Such supplies will be placed on the boats of the vessels in quarantine, to be subsequently removed by members of their crews.

IX.—All vessels arriving at Aden and Perim, which may have communicated with vessels coming from the ports of the Persian Gulf, shall be subjected to the same quarantine as vessels arriving at Aden and Perim from that Port.

INDIAN OCEAN.

NINE DEGREE CHANNEL.

Regarding a newly discovered reef.

IN continuation of Notice to Mariners No. 80, dated 23rd ultimo, Commander Alfred Carpenter, R.N., in charge of the Marine Survey of India, has given notice that information has been received through the Master Attendant of Colombo, that Captain Mets of the S. S. Noord Brabane discovered a reef 3 miles in length in latitude 8° 48′ N., longitude 73° 40′ E., which position is about 50 miles N. E. of Minikoi. As no mention is made of soundings over it, and as a breaking reef of that length would not have escaped observation before in such a well frequented channel, it appears probable that a tide ripple, and not a reef, was observed.

The locality should, however, be navigated with caution until more satisfactory information is elucidated.

THE following new tidal signals have been hoisted on Chandipore flag-staff at entrance of Burrabulong (Balasore) River for the purpose of facilitating the better navigation of that port and its approaches :—

At low-water—The blue ensign will be hoisted at the Western yard-arm of Chandipore flag-staff and kept there until the tide begins to rise; it will then be dipped 6 feet and kept so until the water has risen 3 feet, when the ensign will be hauled down and again mast-headed.

(v) in the foregoing provisions of this Act the word 'Presidency' shall be deemed to include a Province, the expression 'Presidency-town' the place of sitting of a High Court appointed by the Governor-General in Council under clause (iv) of this subsection, and the expression 'Advocate General' a Government Advocate or other officer appointed by the Government to discharge for a Province the functions under this Act of an Advocate General for a Presidency :

The Probate and Administration Act, 1881.

11. After section 145 of the Probate and Administration Act, 1881, the following section shall be inserted, namely :— V of 1881.

Addition of new section after section 145, Act V, 1881.

"145A. Where a person not having his domicile in British India has died leaving assets both in British India and in the country in which he had his domicile at the time of his death, and there has been a grant of probate or letters of administration in British India with respect to the assets there and in the country of domicile with respect to the assets in that country, the executor or administrator, as the case may be, in British India, after having given such notices as are mentioned in section 139 and discharged, at the expiration of the time therein named, such lawful claims as he knows of, may, instead of himself distributing any surplus or residue of the deceased's property to persons residing out of British India who are entitled thereto, transfer, with the consent of the executor or administrator, as the case may be, in the country of domicile, the surplus or residue to him for distribution to those persons."

Transfer of assets from British India to executor or administrator in country of domicile for distribution.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE main object of this Bill (section 10) is to provide for the division, upon the occurrence of a vacancy in the office of Administrator General of Bengal, of the present unwieldy Presidency of Bengal, as defined in the Administrator General's Act, 1874, into Provinces having Calcutta, Allahabad, Lahore and Rangoon as their respective centres.

2. Another object (sections 1 to 5), which has been approved by the Hon'ble the Chief Justices of the Calcutta, Madras and Bombay High Courts, is to enable the Government, as occasion occurs, to combine the office of Official Trustee with that of Administrator General at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay.

3. Another object of the Bill (section 7) is to provide for the administration of estates in Upper Burma and British Baluchistan by an Administrator General.

4. A further object (section 8) is to remove an ambiguity in the expression of section 5 of the Administrator General's Act, 1881.

5. Lastly, it not infrequently happens that a person not having his domicile in British India dies leaving assets both in British India and in the country of his domicile, his estate being administered by one executor or administrator in British India and by another in the country of domicile, and it has been held by very high authority that a receipt given by the executor or administrator in the country of domicile to the executor or administrator in British India for the surplus or residue of the estate in British India is not a valid discharge to the executor or administrator in British India An object of the Bill (sections 6, 9 and 11) is to declare that such a receipt shall, subject to conditions, be a valid discharge.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CHITTAGONG DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 5th September 1889.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Chittagong Division for the year 1888-89.

Mr. D. R. Lyall, who submits this report, filled the office of Commissioner till the middle of January, when he was relieved by Mr. A. L. Clay, and directed to accompany the Lushai Expeditionary Force in the capacity of Civil Political Officer. The Deputy Commissioner of the Hill Tracts, Mr. L. R. Forbes, was the only officer who held uninterrupted charge, the heads of the three regulation districts having in each instance joined near the end of the year, and it is probably owing to these changes in personnel that the divisional report is somewhat less instructive than Mr. Lyall's reviews usually are.

Weather and crops and general condition of people.

2. The rainfall was ample, but so unfavourably distributed that nearly everywhere the outturn of the harvest was poor. The consequent rise in prices fell heavily on the people in the division, especially in Chittagong, who did not grow sufficient rice for their own wants. In Tipperah, where a large surplus rice crop is grown, the high prices obtained for both rice and jute made up for the shortness of the outturn and led to increased prosperity; but elsewhere there were not wanting decided indications of pressure. Although improved registration may account partially for the rise in mortality shown by the statistics of the year, the season is said to have been an unhealthy one, particularly towards its close, when the want of good water, coupled with unusual heat, told seriously on the public health. The price of food was uniformly higher than in the previous year, except in the Fenny sub-division and the Hill Tracts, but there was scarcely any change in the rates of wages. In Tipperah, however, there was a rise in the price of skilled, and in Chittagong of unskilled, labour.

Trade and commerce

3. The increase in foreign trade, noticed last year, has almost disappeared, and the interportal trade, although even yet more extensive than it was two years ago, also shows a considerable falling off. The total value of the latter is estimated at Rs. 2,65,83,583 as against Rs. 2,90,82,789 in 1887-88, the higher value of jute and rice having prevented the decrease from being as large as might have been expected in an unfavourable year. A marked increase in the export of feathers, represented by a rise in value from Rs. 14,065 to Rs. 20,162, is noticed with regret as indicative of the slaughter of a very large number of birds for the sake of their plumage. The question of taking measures for the protection of the useful insectivorous species of birds has recently engaged the attention of the Supreme Government, and the Lieutenant-Governor has submitted his views on the subject. The want of a tug steamer is much felt in the port; but a tender and specifications having now been accepted, it is hoped that the want will be speedily supplied.

Police and crime. Litigation.

4. Both cognizable and non-cognizable crime have again decreased, and the Commissioner remarks that, taking the division as a whole, he considers that the results of police work showed an improvement extending to all the districts except the Hill Tracts, where the bad results may fairly be attributed to the unsettled state of the country caused by the raids, and the opportunities thereby afforded to bad characters and professional thieves. It is matter for regret that the Chowkidari Act has not yet been fully introduced The Commissioner represents that progress in this direction has been hampered by the want of officers, and in these circumstances he might with advantage consider the advisability of utilising more largely in this connection the services of Honorary Magistrates. A decrease in litigation, due no doubt to the poorer circumstances of the people, is observable everywhere, except in Tipperah, where a marked rise in the number and value of title-suits indicates the return of prosperity to that district. Here also there was a very considerable increase in the number of suits for arrears of rent, also, in the Commissioner's opinion, attributable to the same cause. In Chittagong the Magistrate has called attention to the number of Munsifs' nazirs who have been convicted, or have been conspicuous, for misconduct during the year, and also to the very low state of the mofussil Bar. An instance in which it was ascertained that a vakil had undertaken sixteen rent cases for a fee of one rupee is quoted, and the Commissioner concurs in the opinion expressed by Mr. Manson that litigation is fomented by the number of pleaders scattered over the division. A statement is also hazarded that the number of munsifees in the Chittagong district is excessive. The considerations on which this view is based are not explained, and the Lieutenant-Governor would prefer that an important suggestion of this kind should be fully considered and sent up separately rather than as a casual remark in an annual report.

Land revenue.

5. It is reported that current collections fell off by no less than Rs. 13,116, owing, it is explained, to the intentional default of some estates in Chittagong, to the non-receipt within the quarter of transfer receipts for a large amount in Tipperah, and, chiefly, to a falling off in the realisations in Chittagong, the result of the bad year and the high inundations that prevailed. In the latter district the percentage collected on the total demand, current and arrear combined, was 85·22. The amount of outstanding balances has also necessarily increased, the rise being particularly pronounced in Noakhally, where the discovery was made of extensive defalcations carried on since the year 1882-83. The greater part of the fraud is declared to have been rendered possible by gross neglect of duty on the part of gazetted officers, but the Lieutenant-Governor is unable to allow the occurrence to pass with so cursory a remark, and desires the Commissioner to report more fully on the particular officers concerned and the amount of responsibility and blame attaching to each. Regarding the payment of land revenue by means of postal money-orders, the Commissioner makes the following remarks:—

"The system is eminently adapted to a district like Chittagong, where payments are in small sums; and the people have not been slow in availing themselves of the boon. In Tipperah, too, this mode of payment is becoming more popular. The large decrease in the amount paid in Noakhally, coupled with an increase in the number of orders, shows that the people consider it best adapted to payments of small sums; and this is undoubtedly the case. The decrease in the number of orders refused is satisfactory."

Excise, Income-tax, and Stamp revenue.

6. The revenue derived from excise shows an advance by Rs. 27,272, of which over Rs. 23,000 was contributed by Chittagong, and was almost entirely due to the restriction of the quantity of opium sold, and the consequently very much higher receipts from the license fees realised. The effect on the Mughs of Colonel Olcott's visit in 1887, which was noticed in last year's report and resolution, appears to have worn off, the revenue from country spirit having increased during the year under report. Mr. Lyall notices with an expression of regret that the hillmen are to a large extent giving up the brewing of rice-beer and taking to spirits, and the Lieutenant-Governor will await with interest the result of his deliberations on the question of restricting the manufacture of the latter in the Hill Tracts. There was a small increment of Rs. 3,177 in the stamp revenue, and, with regard to the income-tax, it is satisfactory to learn that, while the receipts increased, there was a falling off in the number of objections filed.

Communications.

7. In Tipperah and Noakhally the district roads appear to have been comparatively well maintained, and due attention also was paid to village communications. In the Hill Tracts roads can scarcely be said to exist, and want of funds stands in the way of much progress in the direction of clearing tracks through the jungle. Chittagong is reported to have been most unfortunate in having for the greater part of the working season been unable to obtain the services of an efficient Engineer to replace those of the officer formerly employed, but the vacancy has been at last filled up, and it is hoped that original works will no longer be totally neglected. A proposal to run a line of steamers between Chittagong and Naraingunge was formally approved by the District Board, and a subsidy promised, but at this important point of the proceedings the matter seems to have been allowed to drop. Mr. Lyall urges the importance to the division of the proposed Assam-Chittagong Railway, and the Lieutenant-Governor joins him in hoping that the scheme, the details connected with which are now, it is believed, under the consideration of the Government of India and the Home authorities, will be successfully carried out.

Education.

8. In respect of education the report is far from satisfactory. The figures are neither full, reliable, nor instructive, but it is clear that, on the whole, the tendency has been backward, and in the case of female education this is certain as regards both Tipperah and Noakhally. In Chittagong girls' schools have increased, and the attendance is said to have been better. The college, madrissa, and municipal school at Chittagong itself are all said to be prosperous.

Local Boards.

9. The remarks on the working of District, Local, and Municipal Boards are uniformly favourable and encouraging, and Mr. Lyall's personal observations are sound and practical. He writes:—

"The successful working of Boards must depend on the energy and working power of the officer whose duty it is to put work before the Board. A Board will generally follow a good lead, but, if left without guidance to search for the right way, they often fail. There is also a tendency to divert money granted for primary education to middle schools, and to spend an undue amount on this class of schools. This will have to be very closely watched, or primary education will suffer."

Employment of Muhammadans.

10. The diversity of practice in the compilation of the statistics under this head, not only in different divisions and districts, but in the same from year to year, makes it more difficult than it should be to arrive at any definite conclusions, or to obtain any idea of the real state of affairs from the figures from time to time submitted. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that much valuable information could be derived from a statement showing the number of vacancies occurring during the year in the division, the nationalities of their former incumbents, and the number of Muhammadans and Hindus respectively appointed to fill them up, and he desires that a statement of this kind be submitted in all future divisional administration reports.

11. The good work done by Mr. Lyall while he held charge of the division deserves the acknowledgments of the Lieutenant-Governor. His services with the Lushai force have been favourably acknowledged by the Government of India on the report of the officer in command of the expedition. A copy of the statement regarding the character and work of the officers of the division will be forwarded to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

The results of the year under review, as compared with the previous year, show an increase of Rs. 41,46,749, or 21·8 per cent., in the receipts, and of Rs. 33,224, or 14·1 per cent., in the charges. There was an increase under all the heads of receipts except "Excise duty on salt," which shows a falling off of Rs. 60,767, or 15·8 per cent. The advance in import duty is due chiefly to the increased rate which was raised from Rs. 2 to Rs 2-8 per maund with effect from the 19th of January 1888. The increase in the charges is principally caused by larger refunds of Customs duty on salt.

2. The total quantity of salt in stock at the commencement of the year was 11,54,794 maunds; of this 11,17,716 maunds had been imported and the remainder was excise salt. During the year 1,04,80,285 maunds were imported and 2,44,512 maunds were manufactured, against 99,86,076 maunds and 1,03,559 maunds, the corresponding figures for last year. The increase in imports was shared by both the ports of Calcutta and Chittagong. The stock in hand at the close of the year was 20,46,288 maunds The total quantity cleared from bond amounted to 23,35,542 maunds, against 17,59,788 maunds in 1887-88, and realized a duty of Rs. 58,19,422, against Rs. 36,75,377.

3. The transfer of charge of the Salt Department in Orissa to the Madras authorities having been completed during the year, the causes of the increase in the manufacture of salt under the Excise Rules, which is carried on in Orissa alone, have not been examined in the Board's report. The districts of Orissa have also been excluded from the statement showing the consumption of salt in saliferous districts. The consumption in saliferous districts, other than those of Orissa, showed a net decrease of 14,466 maunds as compared with the previous year. The decrease occurred in all the districts except Chittagong, and is coincident with the depression in material prosperity of the localities concerned. It is observed that there have been many petty prosecutions for the consumption of illicitly manufactured salt. In regard to this point, the Lieutenant-Governor entirely concurs with the remark of the Collector of the 24-Pergunnahs that, instead of hunting for these trivial cases, the police should direct their attention rather to cases of illicit manufacture for sale, which alone can cause any appreciable loss to the revenue. The opinion of all officers is unanimous that the rise in the rate of salt duty has practically had no influence on the consumption, and that no hardship has been caused thereby.

4. The following table shows the despatches of salt into the interior by the different water-routes and railways during the past two years:—

Year.	Vid Balli Khali.	Vid Sankrail.	Vid Gewakhally.	Vid Kidderpore.	Vid Ballaghata.	Total carried by water.	By the East Indian Railway.	By the Eastern Bengal and Calcutta and South-Eastern Railways viâ Chitpore.	Vid Ruthtolla Ghát.	Total carried by rail.	Grand Total.

It appears that there was a net decrease of 44,537 maunds in the quantity of salt conveyed by water and of 2,75,328 maunds in the despatches by rail.

5. The quantity of salt bonded at the Sulkea Golahs was 31,31,049 maunds, against 21,53,021 maunds in the previous year. Larger imports, lower rate of rent, and the fact of more steamers having been engaged in the trade, all tended to increase the bonding operations. The quantity remaining in store at the close of the year was 16,66,818 maunds, against 10,37,324 maunds at the commencement.

6. A lengthy correspondence on the subject of puckwa salt, or salt educed in the manufacture of saltpetre, led to the deputation during the year of a special officer to enquire into the whole question. Mr. Ashton's valuable report has conclusively shown that puckwa is common salt of more or less purity produced in saltpetre refineries, and that a large amount of edible salt, upon which the tax if levied would amount to about Rs. 90,000 a year, passes into consumption in the districts about Calcutta and in the Bhagulpore Division without the payment of any duty. Such salt is clearly liable to taxation, and there appears no reason why a lower rate of duty should be levied on it than on common salt. It will always be at the option of the refiners to destroy puckwa which they do not choose to send to market. On the other hand, the substance which is used for hide-curing, known as khari, contains no common salt, while puckwa cannot be effectively used for this purpose, and there is, therefore, no room for fear that restrictions in the trade of puckwa will interfere with the hide-curing industry. With reference to these considerations the Indian Salt Act XII of 1882 has been extended to the districts of the Bhagulpore Division, with effect from the 29th June 1889, and the control of the saltpetre refineries has been entrusted to the Commissioner of the Northern India Salt Revenue. It is now proposed to extend the Act to all those parts of Bengal (including Calcutta) where it is not in force, and to make over the administration of saltpetre refineries generally to this special department.

7. The Board do not refer in their report to the measures which have been taken during the year for introducing the new patent scales which have been invented by Mr. Kilby for the weighment of salt from shipboard. It is confidently expected that the adoption of these scales will result in a considerable saving to Government in the annual expenditure now incurred in weighing salt under the old system, and afford at the same time a very great convenience to shippers and others engaged in the salt trade.

8. The favourable notice recorded of Mr. Kilby's services as Superintendent of the Sulkeah Salt Golahs will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE PROGRESS REPORT OF THE FOREST ADMINISTRATION IN BENGAL FOR 1888-89.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—FORESTS.

Calcutta, the 10th September 1889.

READ—

The Progress Report of the Forest Administration in Bengal for 1888-89.

The Report is written by the Conservator, Mr. A. L. Home, and was received by Government 17 days after the date prescribed for its submission. The chief points connected with the administration of the Department during the year under review are the continued increase of revenue in the Sunderbans, the depression of trade in the produce of Chittagong, attributed to the frontier raids which prevented access to the more remote forests, and the decrease of revenue in the Orissa Division owing to the grant of considerable concessions to the inhabitants during the scarcity that has marked the season.

Area of forests.

2. The total area under the management of the Forest Department on the 31st March, 1889, amounted to 7,447,789 acres, of which 3,192,535 acres were covered by Reserved forests, 1,449,262 acres by Protected forests, 2,581,420 acres by Unclassed State forests and waste lands, and 224,572 acres by proposed reserves. In the classes of Reserved and Protected forests there was a net increase of 1,154 and 48,100 acres, respectively, while the area of Unclassed State forests and waste lands remained unchanged. The tracts, which it is contemplated to reserve under section 4 of the Forest Act, lie for the most part in Chota Nagpore, and the question of their reservation is still under the consideration of Government. The section referred to was applied to the Ramgurh-Sitakund forest in Chittagong in October last, and similar action has been taken since the close of the year as regards the Rajin block in Khoorda.

Demarcation and Surveys.

3. Fair progress appears to have been made in demarcation work, the total length of boundaries demarcated by means of posts or pillars being 2,176·8 miles and that of natural boundaries 1,349·9 miles. The total expenditure debited to "Demar-

,cation" was Rs. 7,091, the average cost per mile of new demarcation remaining at Rs. 16, and that of the maintenance of old boundaries being Rs. 6-2 per mile as against Rs. 7-2 in the preceding year.

The surveys undertaken by the Department were unimportant. A party of the Imperial Survey Department of India completed the survey of the inner and outer boundaries of the Singbhoom sub-division, with the exception of a portion of the southern boundary of the Saranda forests, and in the Angul sub-division 75 miles of boundaries are understood to have been surveyed by the Cadastral Survey Party.

Establishment.

4. It is again to be regretted that, owing to the continued ill-health, necessitating eventually the departure, on furlough, of Mr. Fowler, the Deputy Conservator entrusted with the duty, but little has been done as regards the preparation of working plans. The services of another officer, Mr. Manson, have, however, now been made available for the sole charge of the Working Plans Division, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires once more to express a hope that more substantial progress will be reported in this direction during the current year. The vacancy in the superior staff, caused by the retirement from the service of Mr. Johnston, was filled by the appointment of Mr. H. H. Haines from Cooper's Hill as an Assistant Conservator, with effect from the 1st January, 1889. Mr. Chester, a Deputy Conservator of the third grade, was posted, on his return from furlough last November, to the Andamans as officer in charge of the forests there, and Mr. J. C. Mendes, one of the seven Sub-Assistant Conservators attached to Bengal, was temporarily transferred to the Central Provinces. Owing no doubt to this depletion of the executive staff, it was found impossible to depute any of its members to the Dehra Dun Forest School during the year under report. The difficulties mentioned in previous reports in obtaining recruits in Bengal for the class of Forester continue to be experienced, and are as usual attributed to the preference evinced for sedentary employment.

The Conservator has to record a remarkable increase in the number of serious offences laid to the charge of members of the lower grades of the Department, and the fact is all the more unsatisfactory, since most of the prosecutions instituted were unsuccessful. In fact, there could scarcely have been a worse record; for in only three out of 13 cases, some of them involving the gravest of charges, were convictions obtained and upheld on appeal; nor can the Lieutenant-Governor feel in any degree re-assured by Mr. Home's statement, in the face of these facts, that "he has no doubt that every case prosecuted by the Department was a true one."

Breaches of the Forest Law.

5. The number of cases of breaches of the forest law taken into court during the year was only 254 against 516 in 1887-88 and 339 in 1886-87, the decrease being chiefly in the Darjeeling and Orissa Divisions, and there was also a falling off by 417 cases in the number of offences compounded out of court. The relaxation of the forest rules in Orissa, directed by the Lieutenant-Governor in consequence of the partial failure of the crops, contributed no doubt largely to these results; but the Conservator must clearly be at fault in ascribing to the same cause the decrease shown in the percentage of convictions in that quarter. "Hard times" may well have justified the exercise by the executive of leniency in refraining from instituting prosecutions, but can scarcely have afforded grounds for judicial convictions or discharges.

Protection from fire.

6. The area of forests liable to fire which the Department took steps to protect by means of isolation covered 1,133,933 acres, against 1,001,357 acres in the previous year, while less extensive measures were taken over 126,249 acres, or 7,040 less than in 1887-88. Of the total area thus protected, only 75·6 per cent. escaped fire—a poor result as compared with those other years, and attributable apparently to the fact that far too much was attempted in Singbhoom in the direction of isolation.

Grazing.

7. No changes were made in the grazing rules in force except in Khoorda, where they were somewhat relaxed. In the Darjeeling sub-division they are said to have worked smoothly, and it is gratifying to learn that the arrangement made with the graziers, by which they were permitted to graze a larger percentage of cattle on the condition of their remaining unconvicted of any forest offence for 12 months, was entirely successful. The revenue derived from grazing fees and the sale of fodder grass aggregated Rs. 4,191 against Rs. 3,441 in 1887-88.

Natural and artificial reproduction.

8. Natural reproduction is favourably reported upon in most quarters. Oak and magnolia in particular seeded profusely in the Darjeeling sub-division, but the Conservator complains that progress is here somewhat retarded by the increase of grazing, especially in the Singalila Range. Good results generally were obtained with sâl in the Kurseong, Buxa, Julpigoree, Palamow, and Hazaribagh sub-divisions, and in the Sunderbans the natural reproduction of sundri seems to have been all that could be desired.

The area of regular plantations was increased during the year by 142 acres, and that of cultural operations by 24 acres, while the cost of both, covering the maintenance of old plantations and the formation of nurseries, amounted to Rs. 6,837, the average expenditure over the total area under artificial reproduction being Rs. 45 per acre, as in 1887-88.

Outturn.

11. The outturn of wood, including timber and fuel, during the year was 27,793,504 cubic feet against 26,041,197 cubic feet in the previous year, and the following statement compares the operations of the year with those of its predecessor:—

The Conservator explains that the decrease in the quantity of fuel removed by permit-holders is due, in the case of reserved forests, chiefly to fluctuations in the demand in the Sunderbans, and, in that of protected forests, to the relaxation of the rules in Khoorda, to which reference has already been made.

Financial results.

12. The financial results of the season compare as follows with those of the four preceding years:—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Surplus.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1884-85	5,71,52	4,11,915	1,59,237
1885-86	5,97432	3,70,399	2,27,033

1888-89	6,[illegible]907	3,68,169	3,08,738

The increase in the surplus over the previous year is Rs. 41,312, the receipts being Rs. 19,113 greater and the charges Rs. 22,199 less than in 1887-88, and the result is creditable to the Conserator and the officers of the Department generally.

13. The Conservator's remarks on the character and work of his subordinates, which are, with a single exception, favourable, will as usual be brought to the notice of the Appointment Department. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to acknowledge the services rendered by Mr. Home in the administration of the Forest Department.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops in the different districts of Bengal, as reported to Government, during the week ending the 7th September, 1889.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather and state and prospects of the crops.
	BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
Burdwan Divn. 1	Burdwan Sept. 7, '89	3·92	Weather—seasonable. Some rain has fallen all over the district. It has helped transplanting of amun, but more is still wanted. Aus and jute are being harvested in Culna and Cutwa, and the outturn is estimated at 12 annas. Prospects of amun not yet hopeful. Price of rice from 14 seers per rupee at Culna to 14½ seers at Burdwan and Raneegunge.
	Culna ...	3·30
	Cutwa ...	1·32
	Raneegunge ...	1·71
2	Baukoora „ 7, '89	1·30	Weather—cloudy with occasional light showers. More rain is wanted, specially in the Bissenpore sub-division, for the purpose of weeding and for the growth of the young rice plants. Sugarcane is doing well. Common rice is selling at 17½ seers per rupee at Sudder and 16¼ seers at Bissenpore.
3	Birbhum „ 7, '89	3·86	Prospects everywhere excellent, except in thana Rampur Hât, where some rice has not been transplanted at all for want of rain. Price of rice a little over 14 seers per rupee.
	Rampur Hât ...	1·40
4	Midnapur „ 7, '89	2·24	Light rain continues; fall in Ghatal only 0·29. Crops generally doing very well. There is a small tract in the Contai sub-division which has been flooded, and another small tract in the head-quarters sub-division where the rainfall has been too scanty to allow of weeding or even in parts of sowing, but these tracts are hardly large enough to affect the district average. Prices of rice— Rs. A. P. Sudder ... ... 2 10 8 / Contai ... ... 2 10 8 / Tumlook ... ... 3 2 0 / Ghatal ... ... 2 8 0 } per maund.
5	Hooghly „ 7, '89	4·12	Weather—fair with heavy rain at intervals. Prospects of amun improving. Transplantation may yet be completed. A late and possibly light crop may result from late transplantation. Jute is being cut; a fine crop. Sugarcane doing well. Prices of rice— Srs. Sudder ... ... 10½ / Serampore ... ... 11½ / Jehanabad ... ... 14½ } per rupee.
	Serampore ...	2·70
	Jehanabad ...	1·39
	Howrah „ 9, '89	5·14	Weather—seasonable. State and prospects of crops good. The recent rain has done considerable good, though more is still wanted. Amun is still being transplanted. Jute reaping continues. Other crops promising. Prices of common rice— Srs. Howrah ... ... 11½ / Uluberia ... ... 13 } per rupee.
	Central Districts.
Presidency Divn. 6	24-Pergha. Sept. 10, '89	2·00	Weather—hot and cloudy with occasional showers of rain. Transplanting of amun and harvesting of jute and aus nearly over. Prospects favourable.
7	Nuddea „ 7, '89	3·52	Weather—cloudy and rainy. Early rice and jute are being harvested; crops partly damaged by inundation. Prospects of jute, sugarcane, and amun are fair on high lands. Rivers rising but slowly.
	Kooshtea ...	4·99
	Meherpur ...	6 68
	Chooadanga ...	1·0
	Ranaghat ...	4·66
8	Khoolna „ 7, '89	6·76	Weather—rainy. Transplantation of amun going on rapidly. Prospects of all crops are now good.
	Bagirhat ...	1·72
	Satkhira ...	4·70
9	Jessore „ 7, '89	5·21	Weather—cloudy and rainy. Aus is being harvested. Amun so far in good condition, but now threatened in many places by the sudden rise of the rivers. Prices slightly rising.
	Jhenidah ...	4·06
	Magura ...	3·49
	Narail ...	6·10
	Bongong ...	2·22
10	Moorshedabad „ 7, '89	0·79	Weather—cool and fine, with passing clouds; south-east wind. Aus dhan is being harvested. Estimate for Sudder and Kandi is 10 and 6 annas respectively. In thanas Sujagunge and Daulatabad of Sudder sub-division amun dhan has been partially destroyed by the flood-water. The Bhagirathi is still high, the subsidence being a few inches only during the week; the gauge reading is still above 30 feet at Berhampore. The embankment was wilfully cut at Rampal, 4 miles above Laltakoori, on the night of 1st September. The breach is at present date (7th September) 800 feet wide, but the embankment is of stiff soil, and further widening seems to be checked: the ground is high and the scour comparatively small. The discharge is further broken by big trees which extend in front of the breach. The discharge is nothing like so great as occurred in 1885 when the Laltakoori breach occurred. The flood is taking the same line as on that occasion, and the country between the Bhairab and the Bhagirathi is being entirely flooded. All the standing aus crop has been destroyed. Sowings were late this year, so that only about half the crop at a rough estimate has been reaped. The villages are well above flood-level and have ample stocks, so that, though there is much inconvenience and misery, there is no actual distress. The breach at Bairamgunge (between Berhampore and Moorshedabad) is 90 feet wide. The discharge is comparatively small, but all the south of Moorshedabad town is badly flooded. The Bhagirathi continues very high, and Azimgunge, Jungipore, and villages on the banks have been flooded.
	Lalbagh ...	1·23
	Kandi ...	2·81

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather and state and prospects of the crops.
Rajshahye Divn. 11	Dinagepur Sept. 7, '89	7·80	Rain every day; weather cool. Outturn of bhadoi averages 10 annas. Common rice sells at 15½ seers per rupee.
	Thakurgaon ...	5·07
12	Rajshahye „ 7, '89	2·08	Weather—close and rainy. Harvesting of aus and jute and transplantation of amun continue. Aus on lowlands has suffered from excessive flooding, but the whole crop will not be far short of average. Amun promises to be a good crop.
	Nattore ...	3·66
	Nowgong ...	4·48
13	Rungpur „ 7, '89	4·82	Weather—unsettled; heavy rain at constant intervals. Harvest prospects most promising. The young amun paddy is coming up well. The yield of the jute is not so good as was anticipated, the plants having developed an excessive proportion of root.
14	Bogra „ 7, '89	6·42	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of amun rice and sugarcane are good throughout the district. Aus rice and jute are good, except where the floods in the eastern half of the district destroyed a considerable area. Cattle have been suffering considerably in that part of the district from scarcity of fodder.
	Sherpur ...	4·88
	Nowkhilla ...	7·00
15	Pubna „ 7, '89	1·64	Weather—showery. Aus and jute are still being reaped with moderate results. Amun doing fairly well. Price of rice higher at Sudder station.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently equal; and finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, DURING THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1889.

THE normal meteorological conditions in Bengal during August resemble those of July to a very great extent, and the south-west monsoon winds continue to blow over the province with almost undiminished force during the greater part of the month, though towards the end of it, or commencement of September, wind velocities begin to fall off. The normal rainfall in August is distinctly, though slightly, smaller than in July, and this would tend to show that the monsoon current even in August commences to weaken. The greater part of the rainfall in Bengal in August is undoubtedly brought up by the Bay of Bengal current, but a considerable part of the rainfall at the western stations of the province is also due to the Bombay branch of the current, which, interacting in these districts with the Bengal branch, causes ascensional air motion, and consequently increased precipitation of rain The Bay of Bengal branch alone gives the heaviest rainfall to the southern, eastern, and northern districts, but the interaction just mentioned increases the rainfall in the western districts, and thus supplements the action of the Bengal current, and tends to produce greater uniformity of rainfall over the whole province.

The actual amount of rainfall in August will therefore no doubt depend mainly on the strength and volume of the Bay of Bengal monsoon current, the heaviest rainfalls usually occurring in the eastern and northern districts, and the amount slowly diminishing towards the western districts; but the actual distribution will be affected by the causes which have been discussed in the previous monthly summaries. One of the causes which will produce marked variations from the normal distribution of rainfall will be the formation and passage of areas of barometric depression or small cyclonic storms, which bring large amounts of rain to the districts through which they pass. The formation of such storms is a prominent characteristic of many rainy seasons, though they are to a certain extent absent in others; and as the line of country through which they pass varies very considerably, they are prominent causes in modifying the distribution of rain in particular years. A second cause which modifies the normal distribution of the rainfall is the varying strengths of the two currents, and the amount and position of their interaction, and it will be seen that, if from any cause a larger amount of interaction than usual takes place over the western districts of the province, the rainfall will be increased by a corresponding amount.

The normal distribution of rainfall during the month is comparatively simple. The two localities in which rainfall is heaviest, and where the amount exceeds 20 inches, include, first, the Chittagong, Noakhally, and Backergunge districts; and second, the Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and Darjeeling districts. The area which receives a rainfall of between 20 and 15 inches starts from Saugor Island and runs nearly parallel to the sea coast, then turns to the north, runs parallel to the Tipperah and Sylhet hills, and through the centre of the Rungpore district to Kissengunge in the Purneah district. The greater part of Chutia Nagpur and of South-West, Central, East and North Bengal receives a rainfall of from 12 to 15 inches, while the greater part of Behar receives only from 10 to 12 inches. The central districts of Behar receive the smallest amounts of rain, the average being generally rather less than 10 inches

Meteorology of the month.—The principal features of the weather have been the absence of cyclonic storms, and the comparative frequency of the formation of small depressions over the Bay, which have had very little influence on the general conditions, so that light rain has been general and stormy weather or very heavy rainfall has rarely occurred, and when it did, was of a very local character. As there has been no decided break in the rains, and light rain has been falling in all districts, rainfall is in many districts above the normal. At the beginning of the month, light monsoon weather was prevailing, with a low-pressure area in North Bengal, which was accompanied by an imperfect cyclonic circulation. This depression filled up on the 4th, and conditions on the same day began to be unsettled over the Bay, resulting in one of the shallow depressions.

Shallow depression of the 4th to 10th.—A trough of low pressure extended from the north-west corner of the Bay over part of South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, with a tendency to concentrate on the 4th, and wind directions became cyclonic at some of the coast stations. This was very marked on the following day, and extended over the whole province, though pressure changes were very small, a brisk fall occurring at the Orissa stations only; but the centre rapidly approached the coast and passed inland on the night of the 5th, moving in a westerly direction into Central India. A rapid rise of pressure followed, but the circulation remained cyclonic over the whole province. At 8 A.M. on the 6th, the centre was between Cuttack and Gopalpur, and a diffused low-pressure area covered part of the Central Provinces, Orissa, and the north-west of the Bay, within which pressure was about a fifth of an inch in defect. Wind directions were normal in Orissa on the 7th, the centre of the depression having moved westerly, while the intensity had diminished. During these days, from the 4th to the 6th inclusive, winds were everywhere light, and on the 5th heavy rain fell in Orissa, while over the rest of the province rain was light and deficient, and temperature was rising. The depression continued for some days in Central India, and the cyclonic circulation continuing in Bengal, easterly winds were blowing at nearly all stations, causing a strong westerly deflection of the monsoon current and very light rain in the northern districts.

While the depression continued in Central India, another small whirl commenced off the Orissa coast on the 9th, and wind directions became east or north-east at the coast stations between Saugor Island and Gopalpur, accompanied by a slight fall of pressure at the Orissa stations, but it did not intensify, and though the winds continued abnormal at these stations for a few days, the monsoon current over the Bay was generally very weak. After the depression, which began to form on the 4th, had passed inland, the stormy weather which was in its rear was felt at a few of the coast stations of Orissa, especially on the 7th and 8th, but it did not extend to stations north of False Point. The rain which fell after the passage of the storm was general in Orissa till the 10th. On the 11th, within the trough of low pressure, which passed from the head of the Bay in a north-westerly direction, pressures were more uniform, and wind directions, which had for some days been more or less unsettled at the head of the Bay, had still a cyclonic appearance, and this continued on the 12th, intensifying on the 13th, when a third shallow depression appeared off the Orissa coast, the circulation round which extended to a few stations in the north-west corner. Pressure fell briskly on the 14th, but the wind circulation was not so regular. Wind was north-west at Gopalpur and north-east at Balasore, but was south at Saugor Island, so that some further disturbing element was present. This began to be more apparent on the 15th, when pressure fell at the head of the Bay near the Sunderbans and rose slightly on the Orissa coast, wind direction becoming south-west at Gopalpur. On the 16th the low-pressure area to the east of Saugor Island was more apparent, wind being north at Saugor Island, but there was still a slight independent depression to the north-west of Saugor Island, and round it a fairly complete circulation. Wind was south-west at Midnapore, east at Calcutta, and north at Hazaribagh This was probably the shallow depression which for the previous two or three days was off the Orissa coast, and had moved in a northerly direction. On the 17th it was no longer distinguishable, having joined the lower one to the east of Saugor Island, which was then moving in a north-westerly direction.

Shallow depression of the 16*th to* 20*th*.—As stated above, this depression began to appear on the 15th, but was not well defined till the following day, when the low pressure and northerly wind at Saugor Island were stronger indications of its existence. It began to move in a north-westerly direction, and on the evening of the 16th passed over Calcutta, the centre being a little to the west, and at 8 A.M. on the 17th the centre was near Burdwan where the pressure was lowest at 29·419 inches. Soon after the depression left the Bay, weather became more stormy in the north-west corner of the Bay than it has been at any other time during the month. Wind directions became more westerly, and the squalls stronger. At 8 P M. on the 16th, the velocity at False Point was 17 miles, and at Balasore 12 miles an hour, but at a short distance from the shore much stronger winds were blowing with thick drizzling rain. The velocity at Saugor Island at 8 P.M. was 17 miles an hour, but the squalls were reported to be strengthening, and at 8 A.M. on the morning of the 17th, the velocity was 42 miles an hour. Rain was general and fairly heavy in Lower Bengal, but was very scattered in the northern districts. On the 18th pressure fell rapidly in Behar, and the centre of lowest pressure was to the south of Benares, strong winds continued to blow at the head of the Bay, and the cyclonic circulation covered the whole province. It continued to move to the north-west for two days more, but after the 19th had no influence on the weather in Bengal. Rain became heavier in Behar on the 19th and 20th, and while a strong monsoon continued to blow at the coast stations, velocity increased considerably in Behar also.

During the whole month up to the 20th, the trough of low pressure referred to above had continued, lying in a north-westerly direction from the head of the Bay, and all these small depressions had formed at the lower end and moved along it. But meanwhile it had been moving slowly northward, and after the passage of the last it closed up, and the pressure distribution altered considerably. While the trough existed, the wind directions on the upper side of it, that is, over the greater part of Bengal, were strongly easterly, but when it filled up after the passage of the depression, an influx of westerly winds commenced, and affected directions at all stations except in the extreme east and north. The interaction of these winds produced another low-pressure area over Bengal, very diffused and shallow with a distinct cyclonic circulation. This began on the 20th, and was similar, but rather more widely extended on the 21st, on which day there were also indications of a depression over the head of the Bay. Wind was north-east at Pooree and east-north-east at False Point and Saugor Island, but the circulation was imperfect, probably because of the influence of the depression in Bengal. On the 22nd the direction at Pooree was north-north-east, but was west-north-west at False Point and south-west at Saugor Island, and on the 23rd was west or south-west at all. The two depressions would, therefore, appear to have approached and joined on the 23rd, when a large diffused depression covered part of the Central Provinces, Orissa, South-West Bengal, and Behar. On the 24th its dimensions narrowed, the lowest pressure being in Orissa and part of Central India, and deepened slightly on the following day, when the wind circulation belonged to two independent systems, as if the two depressions had not completely joined, and two centres of lowest pressure still remained. One moved in a westerly direction over Central India, and the other remained near False Point, where it filled up without changing its position on the 26th. The one that moved west continued till the 29th, but after the 27th did not appear to influence the current blowing over Bengal. While the depression continued, general rain fell in Orissa and South-West Bengal only, some heavy falls being reported from Orissa on the 23rd and 24th, and up till the 26th rain, while almost altogether absent in Behar, was light and local in the other northern districts. After the 26th a stronger monsoon blew over the province, and till the end of the month general rain fell, especially in Behar and North Bengal on the 29th and 30th.

In the table below are given the actual daily wind velocities for August compared with the normal values for the same period at stations on and near the coast line from Akyab to Gopalpur. At all of these, with the exception of Dacca, the velocity is considerably below the normal, especially at Calcutta and Saugor Island, showing that the strength of the monsoon has been much weaker than usual :—

Pressure.—The variations of pressure during the month have generally been inconsiderable, and though during the passage of the low-pressure areas, pressure was at times about a quarter of an inch below the normal, it was brought about by slow steady changes continuing for several days. There was a fall of nearly a tenth of an inch on the 3rd, and a rise of nearly two-tenths in Lower Bengal on the 7th and 8th, after which there was a tenth of an inch excess in all districts. Till the 14th changes did not exceed three-hundredths of an inch anywhere, and on that day a fall of nearly a tenth of an inch occurred in Lower Bengal. A slow fall followed for several days, and on the 17th defect exceeded two-tenths at Midnapore and Burdwan. The rise on the two following days was rapid, but after that changes nowhere exceeded a twentieth of an inch. Deficient pressure has been most frequent, and the means for the month at all stations are below the normal by amounts lying between a few thousandths of an inch at some of the Behar stations and a twentieth of an inch at False Point. The mean defect in Orissa is 0·037 inch, and in South-West Bengal 0·034 inch. In the other districts it is about 0·02 inch, and in Assam is 0 016 inch.

Temperature—Has generally been high throughout the month, but after occasional heavy falls of rain, large defects have occurred, but soon disappeared. The means for the month are above the normal at all stations, except a few in North Bengal, where, however, the defects are very insignificant. At Bogra and Dinagepore the defect is only 0·2° and at Serajgunge and Julpigoree 0·1°, while at the other stations the excess is generally over half a degree. The excess at Bancoorah and Dehree is 1·9°, Silchar 1·6°, Krishnagore 1·4°, Burdwan 1·3°, and at Raneegunge and Midnapore over 1°. The means for the seven large districts are all above the normal—South-West Bengal 1°, North Behar 0·9°, South Behar and Chutia Nagpur 0 8°, Assam 0·7°, East Bengal 0·6°, Orissa 0·5°, and North Bengal 0 3°.

Rainfall.—The light character of the general rainfall for the month is shown by the average falls being below the normal in all districts except Orissa, while the number of days on which rain fell is above the average in all districts, except East Bengal and North Behar, in which districts, however, the number is practically normal. The largest average fall is 14·86 inches in East Bengal. Orissa received 13 04 inches, North Bengal 11·95 inches, South Behar 10·59 inches, North Behar 10·1 inches, Chutia Nagpur 10 inches, and South-West Bengal 9·03 inches. The excess in Orissa is 1·86 inches, and the defects in the districts are—South-West Bengal 3·73, Chutia Nagpur 3·2, North Bengal 2·18, North Behar 1·5, East Bengal 1·01, and South Behar 0·71 inches.

The comparison of the actual rainfall of the various great divisions of the province during August with the normal is most accurately and conveniently shown in the form of a percentage. The figures representing the rainfall for the month calculated in this way are included in the table below under the heading of August. This table really gives a condensed summary of the rainfall statistics of the present year up to date for each meteorological division, the first eight columns giving the actual average rainfalls in each division in each month expressed as a percentage of the normal, while the ninth column gives the actual rainfall for the first eight months expressed as a percentage of the normal rainfall for that period. The figures in this table will therefore represent a normal fall, above a hundred an excess fall, and so on :—

The area of heaviest rain, where the fall has been over 10 inches, includes the eastern part of East Bengal, a strip of country along the head of the Bay as far as the Midnapore district, the greater part of Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, the western part of South Behar, and North Bengal with a narrow area along the foot of the Himalayas. The area where the fall has been under 10 inches is almost all well within the province, the only parts coming near the boundaries being in the north of Orissa, Tipperah, Jamalpore, and the west of North Behar. The area of lowest rainfall is a very narrow strip from Krishnagore northwards as far as Kidwa, and a small area in the Sonthal Pergunnahs, where the falls have been under five inches. The heaviest falls have been in North Bengal and Chittagong. Buxa 38·7 inches, Cox's Bazar 38·2 inches, Fallacotta, Bhagatpore, Kurseong, and Durgapore over 30 inches, Alipore Doar, Cooch Behar, Michilgunge, Chittagong, Bauphal, and Harrishpore over 25 inches. The heaviest fall in Orissa was 21·2 inches at Pooree, and except in a small area to the north, falls were all over 10 inches, and at the northern stations were over 8 inches. In South-West Bengal very few falls were over 10 inches, and these were nearly all in the Midnapore district. The only falls under 5 inches were Krishnagore 4·6 inches, and in Moorshedabad district, Akhrigunge, and Paikabari under 4 inches. There were some heavy falls in East Bengal, and very few under 10 inches. In North Bengal, Beauleah, Manda, and Gajol were between 4 and 5 inches, and at Chanchal only 2·3 inches fell. The heaviest falls in North Behar were Soopool 20 inches, Kaliagunge and Bahera over 18 inches, and Gopalgunge was the only station under 5 inches. In South Behar, Gogri, Bickram, Aurungabad, and Sasseram were over 15 inches. In Chutia Nagpur, Ghatsilla received over 20 inches, and Jhalda very nearly that amount.

The areas of excess rainfall are all near the boundaries of the province, the large area of deficient rainfall in the centre including the greater part of South-West Bengal and portions of all the other districts. The largest excess amounts are 10 inches at Pooree, 8·7 inches in Cooch Behar, 8 inches at Soopool, 6 inches in Mymensingh, and 4 inches in the west of South Behar. The largest defects are 11 inches at Chanchal, 9 inches in Tipperah, 6 inches in the Darjeeling district, 6 to 8 inches in the Sonthal Pergunnahs, and 6 inches in Howrah, Hooghly, and Krishnagore.

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of August in all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-recording stations in each district, due allowance or weight being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the weekly and monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past fifteen years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfalls of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information in a slightly different form. It states as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal rainfall, and is hence the difference between the numbers in the third column and 100 : -

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* Means for 6 days.

Explanation & Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainy days are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 17 years. The stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

or the week ending Friday, the 6th of September 1889.

Calcutta, the 10th September, 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 6TH OF SEPTEMBER 1889.

THE only notable feature observable in the weather of the present week has been the increase of pressure which has, with slight interruptions, been going on from the commencement, resulting at the end of the week in a fairly large excess in all districts. The general weather has been uniformly normal except for a partial break in the rains in the northern districts during the latter half of the week. Though signs of disturbed weather in the Bay have not been altogether wanting, they have lasted for a day or two and then disappeared. At the beginning of the week there was a low-pressure area in the North-West Provinces, extending over part of Behar, and into this the drifting of the monsoon current caused fairly heavy rain in Behar, while it was general, though usually lighter, in the other districts. Pressure was rising and was slightly in excess, especially in Orissa. Temperature was nearly normal at most stations, but in some places differed from it by two to three degrees above or below, according to the amount of rain falling at the station. On Sunday, 1st September, pressure generally fell by small amounts except in Behar, where the fall was brisk, and rain was again general except in Orissa, some moderate falls occurring in Behar. Winds were south-west or south-east in all districts On the following day pressure again fell briskly in Behar and very slightly elsewhere, while rainfall was more local in Orissa and South-West Bengal, but general in the other districts and heavy in North and East Bengal and North Behar. Pressure was then largely below the normal in Behar, but differed very slightly from it elsewhere. Rain continued to be general on the 3rd in the northern districts, and was more general in Lower Bengal and Orissa, but it was beginning to fall off in amount in Behar, and from this date till the end of the week very little rain fell there. Pressure rose briskly in all districts except Assam, and the rise was most rapid in Behar, the depression which had existed in the North-West Provinces for a few days before having filled up, while wind force diminishing in the Bay and Lower Bengal, an inrush of westerly winds commenced. On the 4th a strong westerly element was present in the wind directions over the greater part of the province, pressure rose rapidly in Behar and briskly elsewhere. Rain was absent in Behar, but was general in the other districts and at a few stations heavy. On Thursday and Friday pressure changes were small, and the distribution remained unaltered. On the former rain was almost absent in Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and the southern part of South-West Bengal, but was heavy in North Bengal and the northern districts of South-West Bengal. On the latter rain was light and local everywhere, and was altogether absent in Behar and Chutia Nagpur.

Pressure.—Changes have been important, a wave of high pressure having moved northward over the province, materially altering the distribution over the Bay and Bengal. The fact that pressure has been excessive during the greater part of the week at the head of the Bay shews that the first change preceding the end of the monsoon has commenced earlier than usual this year, and that the rise of pressure which goes on slowly in September, especially the latter half, has been very rapid during the week under review. The mean excess for the week at Gopalpore has been over a tenth of an inch, and for the whole of Orissa has been 0·086 inch. In the other districts excess amounts have been smaller, and range up to 0·068 inch at Krishnagore.

Temperature—Has been low at a large majority of the stations, but has been above the normal in Assam, Chutia Nagpur, and parts of Behar, North-Bengal, and South-West Bengal. The largest defects are in Orissa, being about 1·5° in Pooree and Cuttack districts. The means for the larger subdivisions are all deficient except those for Chutia Nagpur and Assam. The defects are—Orissa 1·1°, East Bengal 1°, South-West Bengal 0 6°, South Behar 0·5°, and North Behar only 0 1° The excess in Chutia Nagpur and Assam amounts to 0 8° and 0·5°.

Rainfall—Has been about normal in North Behar, slightly above in East and North Bengal, and slightly below in the other districts except Chutia Nagpur where there is defect of over an inch. The difference from the normal exceeds half an inch in Chutia Nagpur, and North Bengal only, being 1·19 inches in the former and 0·68 inch in the latter. The number of rainy days has been above the average in all districts except South Behar and Chutia Nagpur. Falls exceeding 10 inches are—Cox's Bazar 14 5 inches, Alipore Doar 10·37 inches, and Kissengunge 10 2 inches. In North Bengal many stations report falls between 5 and 10 inches, the largest being Fallacotta 9 8 inches. At Noakhally the fall has been 9 inches, at Baraset 5 7 inches, Khoolna 6·2 inches, Sitamarhi and Paru 5·9 inches, Mongbyr nearly 5 inches, and Mohasama 5·4 inches.

4. That the highest death-rates from cholera, fever, and "Other causes" were returned from the following Municipalities, the other diseases not proving conspicuously fatal anywhere, excepting bowel-complaints, which appears to have proved noticeably fatal only in the Serampore Municipality, viz. at the rate of 15 7 per 1,000 of its population : —

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans (then calculated) cannot be regarded as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under the local [illegible]

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during month ended 27th July 1889.

INCREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was an increase in both the upward and downward despatches; that in the former was due to despatches from Asansol to Moghulsarai for the Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway, and also from Giridih to Agra for the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, and to Ghaziabad vid East Indian Railway and Saharunpur vid Moghulsarai for the North-Western Railway.

The increase in the downward traffic was due to the continued demand for Bengal coal for shipment to coast ports.

Grain and pulses.—The increase under this head consisted chiefly of grain and arhar dâll consigned from stations on the Delhi, Aligarh, and Agra districts to Calcutta for local consumption.

Other rain and spring crops.—This increase was chiefly in oats and barley, principally from Bhagulpore and a few other stations on the loop line and B. district and from vid Digha Ghât and vid Moghulsarai to Calcutta.

Government stores.—This was in ordnance stores from Howrah to Agra and to vid Ghaziabad for different stations in the Punjab.

Minerals.—This increase occurred principally in ghooting lime from Ondal, Raneegunge and Barrakar to Calcutta in connection with the Kidderpur Dock Works.

Brass and copper.—The increase in these metals was chiefly in despatches from Howrah to the principal trade centres in the North-Western Provinces.

Oil.—This was chiefly in kerosine oil from Howrah to several stations on the line.

Railway material, Foreign.—There was a decrease in the weight carried attended with an increase in earnings; the former is due to large quantities of steel rails being sent last year from vid Chitpore to Sahebgunge for the Assam-Behar State Railway and from vid Jubbulpore to Manickpur, Jhansi and Umaria; and the increase in earnings was in despatches of Public Works material from Howrah to stations on the Gya line, and in teak timber for the Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway to Lucknow.

Salt.—This increase is attributable to despatches from Howrah to stations below Patna and to stations on the Tirhoot State and the Bengal and North-Western Railways.

Seeds.—The increase under this head was in linseed, mustard and rape seed and other oilseeds, for which there was a strong demand both in Calcutta and Bombay.

Stone.—This increase was in despatches from the Gya line stations and Luckeesarai to Banka Ghât branch, and also from Pakur to Calcutta for municipal purposes.

Sugar and jaggree.—This increase occurred chiefly in the cheaper quality of sugar despatched from Buxar, Patna, vid Tari Ghât, vid Digha Ghât and vid Moghulsarai to Howrah for export to England.

Tobacco.—Chiefly in despatches from Rajmehal, vid Mokameh Ghât., vid Sahebgunge and Patna Ghât.

DECREASES.

Cotton.—There was little demand for cotton, and the falling off was chiefly in the despatches from Agra.

Wheat.—The falling off in this staple was general throughout the system, and this is due to there being no demand for export to Europe.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—There was an increase in the weight carried, but a decrease in earnings; the former is due to short-lead traffic from stations between Raneegunge and Hooghly to Howrah, and the latter to long-lead despatches up-country last year from stations on the loop line.

Iron.—This is an ordinary fluctuation, due to falling off in despatches from the Government Iron Works at Barrakar and from vid Chitpore.

Regarding a newly discovered reef.

IN continuation of Notice to Mariners No. 80, dated 23rd ultimo, Commander Alfred Carpenter, R.N, in charge of the Marine Survey of India, has given notice that information has been received through the Master Attendant of Colombo, that Captain Mets of the S. S. Noord Brabane discovered a reef 3 miles in length in latitude 8° 48′ N, longitude 73° 40′ E., which position is about 50 miles N. E. of Minikoi. As no mention is made of soundings over it, and as a breaking reef of that length would not have escaped observation before in such a well frequented channel, it appears probable that a tide ripple, and not a reef, was observed.

The locality should, however, be navigated with caution until more satisfactory information is elucidated.

VIII. The mode of proceeding to draw the names of such Special and Common Jurors, respectively, shall be as follows:—

The names of all the Jurors in the list of Special and Common Jurors, respectively, prepared by the Clerk of the Crown, shall be numbered consecutively. The number attached in the list of Special Jurors to the name of each Juror liable to be summoned as a Special Juror for the Session for which the list of Special Jurors is to be prepared, shall be written on a bone or ivory counter, the several counters being all, as nearly as may be, of equal size and shape, and such counters shall be put together by the Clerk of the Crown into a box, and, on the day to be fixed for drawing the names of the Jurors, the Clerk of the Crown shall, in open Court, draw, or cause to be drawn, the said counters one after the other, until the requisite number of Special Jurors shall be obtained. The Juror on the Special Jurors' List, whose number on such list shall correspond with the number drawn, shall, subject to the provisions in these rules, be entered in the Special Jurors' List for the Session, and a number denoting the order in which the name of each Juror is so drawn shall be set against the name of such Juror in the Special Jury List for the Session.

A similar course, mutatis mutandis, shall be adopted in drawing the names of the Common Jurors.

Names of deceased persons or persons not liable to serve or excused from service, to be set aside.

The Judge may order the name of any person who has actually served as a Juror in the preceding year, and of any person known or believed to be dead, absent from Calcutta, or likely to be unable from illness or otherwise to attend, or known or believed not to be qualified or liable to serve as a Juror under these rules, to be set aside; and in every such case an additional name shall be drawn in lieu of that so set aside, and the Judge, if he think fit, may order the name of any person so set aside, except on account of death or disqualification, to be entered on the list of Special or Common Jurors, as the case may be, for any subsequent Session to be then fixed.

Names of persons excused from service to be entered in list for future service.

IX. The names, additions and places of abode of the several persons included in such Special and Common Jurors' lists for the Session shall be written therein and numbered in the order in which they shall have been drawn, and such lists shall be signed by the Judge.

Order in which names to be arranged in lists with additions and places of abode.

X. A copy of such lists shall be annexed to a Precept to the Sheriff, commanding him to summon the first thirty-five on the list of Special Jurors, and the first sixty-five on the list of Common Jurors, and, in case he shall not be able to summon the whole of the first thirty-five or sixty-five, as the case may be, then to summon as many as shall be necessary to make up the full number of thiry-five or sixty-five of those in numerical order in such lists respectively next after the first thiry-five or sixty-five.

Copy of lists to be annexed to Precept to Sheriff to summon Special and Common Jurors in numerical order.

XI. Any person whose name is included in the Special or Common Jurors' list for any Session may apply to the Clerk of the Crown to cause him to be excused from attendance as a Juror, either generally or at the particular Session. Such application shall be made at least one week before the day fixed for the commencement of the Session, and shall specify the grounds upon which the application is made. The Clerk of the Crown shall, as soon as possible after the last day allowed for making such application, bring them before one of the Judges of the Court, and such Judge shall pass orders thereupon, which shall be communicated by the Clerk of the Crown to the respective applicants. If the Judge shall think fit to excuse any of the applicants from attendance at the particular Session, he may do so unconditionally, or on condition of his serving at the next or some subsequent Session to be fixed, and any such conditional order shall operate as an authority to the Clerk of the Crown to include the name of such person in the list for such subsequent Session under the provisions of Rule VI.

Name of Juror excused attending at one Session, on condition of his serving at a subsequent Session, to be inserted in the list for such Session.

XII. Every person named in the lists mentioned in Rule IX shall forthwith, or as soon as possible after the receipt of the Precept by the Sheriff, be summoned by him to attend at the Session for which he shall have been appointed to serve as a Juror, and such summons shall be served at least ten days before the first day of the Session.

XIII. A summons to a Juror who resides out of the limits of the Town of Calcutta, and to whom access at his office or place of business within such limits is denied to the Sheriff's Officer, as also all notices, orders, or other proceedings required to be served on him, shall, unless otherwise ordered, be addressed to him at his office or place of business aforesaid, or at his place of residence, and forwarded to him by post duly registered. The transmission by post as aforesaid of every such summons, or notice, or of a copy, authenticated by the seal of the Court, of every such order or other proceedings, shall, unless good cause be shown to the contrary, be deemed sufficient service thereof.

Service of summons or process.

By post.

Personally.

XIV. In all other cases every such summons, notice, order, or other proceeding shall, unless otherwise ordered, be served on a Juror personally.

Sheriff to return Precept with two panels, one of Special Jurors, the other of Common Jurors, showing in tabular form names and particulars of service, and accounting for non-service.

XV. The Sheriff shall, as soon as possible after service of the summons, and not later than one week before the commencement of the Session, return the Precept to the Clerk of the Crown, with two panels annexed thereto, one of the Special Jurors, and one of the Common Jurors, which panels shall show in a tabular form the names of the persons summoned and the particulars of service upon each; and if any person or persons named in the lists annexed to the Precept shall not have been served, the panel shall state that fact, and the reason why such person or persons has or have not been summoned: and in every case the reason why such service has not been effected shall be verified by the affidavit of the Officer whose duty it was to effect such service, and such affidavit shall be filed with the Clerk of the Crown, with the return to the Precept.

Sheriff's return to be immediately laid before a Judge for orders.

XVI. On the receipt of such return the Clerk of the Crown shall, without delay, bring the same before one of the Judges of the Court. The said Judge may, if necessary, examine the Sheriff's Officer or Officers as to the truth of such return, and as to the circumstances of the service or of the absence of service on any person, and may direct service to be made upon the person or persons not already served in such manner as to him shall seem fit. The Judge, if he think fit, may cause the name of any person returned by the Sheriff as not summoned to be entered on the list of Jurors, either Special or Common, as the case may be, for any subsequent session to be fixed by the Judge.

If sufficient number of jurors not served, further names of Jurors to be drawn by lot, as provided by rule VIII.

XVII. If the Judge shall be of opinion that the number of jurors named in either of the said lists who shall have been served is not likely to be sufficient, he may cause to be drawn by lot, in the mode provided by Rule VIII, such further number of names as may be requisite, not exceeding forty and eighty respectively.

Copy of Supplementary Lists to be annexed to additional Precept to Sheriff.

XVIII. Such lists shall be called the Supplemental Lists of Special or Common Jurors, as the case may be, and shall be prepared and signed in the manner hereinbefore provided with respect to the original lists, and copies thereof shall be sent to the Sheriff with an additional Precept, and the Sheriff shall, as soon as possible after the receipt of such additional Precept, cause the persons named therein to be summoned to attend at the Session, and shall return the Precept to the Court not later than one clear day before the first day of the Session, with a panel similar to that provided by Rule XV in respect of the original lists and Precept.

Sheriff's return.

Jury how to be drawn and empanelled.

XIX. In order to nominate a jury for the trial of any prisoner or other person to be tried by Jury, the Clerk of the Crown shall cause to be put together into one box cards or pieces of parchment containing the names of all the persons summoned to serve on the Common Jury for the Session, if the trial is to take place before a Common Jury, or on the Special Jury, if the trial is to take place before a Special Jury, except such of the said persons as shall have been excused by the Judge from serving on that day in consequence of his having served as a Juror on the previous day, or for any other cause. Such cards or pieces of parchment shall be, as nearly as may be, of equal size, and each shall bear the name of one person summoned to serve on the jury for that Session. The Clerk of the Crown shall then in open Court draw or cause to be drawn out of the said box nine of the said cards or pieces of parchment, one after another; and if any of the jurors whose name shall be so drawn shall not appear, then such further number shall be drawn until nine jurors shall appear. The prisoner or person to be tried shall be informed that, if he desires to object to any juror, he must make his objection before the juror is sworn. The names of the jurors shall then be called aloud; and if, upon any challenge or objection either by the Government or the party to be tried, or for any other lawful cause, an juror is not allowed to serve, or is exempted from serving, the Clerk of the Crown shall draw out another card or piece of parchment from the said box, and so on, until nine jurors shall have been drawn who shall be allowed to serve.

Proceedings in case of deficient jurors.

XX. If, by reason of absence, or disallowance on challenge, or any other cause, there be a deficiency of jurors, the Court may command the Sheriff, or other officer, to name or summon a sufficient number of persons to make up a full jury; and the Sheriff or other officer shall, at such command of the Court, return such men duly qualified to serve as shall be then present, or can be found to serve on such jury, and the course of proceeding shall be the same as if their names had been returned in the panel and drawn by ballot under Rule XIX, provided that, in case of a Special Jury, the additional jurors may be taken from the list of Common Jurors summoned to serve at the same Session if a sufficient number of jurors qualified to serve as Special Jurors shall not be present in Court.

After every Session entry to be made against the name of each non-defaulting Juror.

XXI. After each Session the Clerk of the Crown shall make an entry in the list of jurors opposite the names of those who shall have served at such Session, or shall have been summoned to serve at such Session, and shall not have made default, together with the date of service, or of the Session for which he shall have been summoned to serve.

Only persons on Common Jury List eligible to serve on Coroner's inquest, and except in case of necessity, no Juror to be summoned again within twelve months.

XXII. No person shall be summoned to serve upon any inquest before a Coroner unless he is on the Common Jury List, nor, except in the case of necessity, within the period of twelve months after he shall have served on a Coroner's inquest or shall have been summoned to serve on a Coroner's inquest, and shall not have made default. The Coroner shall keep a copy of the Common Jury List, and shall enter therein the names of the persons who shall have served or been summoned to serve and not made default, and the date of the inquest at which such juror shall have served or for which he shall have been summoned to serve.

Establishment and contingencies of District Board and Local Board's offices	2,587 2 9	3,080 5 5	The increase of about Rs. 100 in the District Board's office establishment is due to the pay of the third clerk, who in 1887-88 received for nine months eight days at Rs 15 Rs. 139-3, while in 1888-89 he received for twelve months at Rs. 20 Rs. 240. The increase in the Local Board's offices was about Rs. 400, due to expansion of offices and purchase of furniture, &c
Percentage cost of establishment for offices of Account.	554 9 9	1,602 11 3	The figures under 1887-88 were for one-half year, in which there were no ferry receipts and very small pound receipts, whereas that under 1888-89 were for the whole year.

	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.

Pounds	10,221 1 9	9,037 14 0	This is owing to a fall in the settlements for this year explained in this office No. 728, dated 8th February 1889, and to very unsatisfactory collections in Nattore subdivision.
Ferries	13,950 14 3	12,020 12 0	The receipts in 1887-88 included collections from October 1886 to March 1887, which amounted to Rs. 6,649-9-6, and were credited to the fund by the Magistrate in 1887-88.
Grant from Government.	3,473 13 5		This was under consideration of Government. It has now been decided by Government in No. $\frac{3B}{19}$ 7, dated 28th March 1889, that the Board would receive a fixed grant of Rs 1,468 annually from Government.

Miscellaneous ..	288 11 4	393 3 4	The increase is chiefly owing to sale proceeds of old trees on sides of Pubna road and to compensation paid by villagers for making water channels across the Tanore road.
Advances	29,030 8 11	16,236 7 6	These are suspense accounts.

IX of 1872.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE expediency of amending the Indian Forest Act, VII of 1878, has for several years past been constantly brought to the notice of the Government of India. Since the date of its enactment, several other Forest Acts, Laws and Regulations* have been passed for different parts of India. They have all been cast very much on the model of Act VII of 1878, changed only in so far as was necessary to adapt them to the peculiar circumstances of special localities. At the same time, defects brought out in the enforcement of Act VII of 1878 were recognized and remedied in the more recent enactments.

The present Bill has for its main object the amendment of the Forest Acts and Regulations of the Governor General in Council, so as to place forest legislation as far as possible on the same footing wherever local circumstances permit.

2. It is proposed to add to Chapter II of Act VII of 1878 the additional provisions regarding forest-settlements and shifting cultivation contained in the Burma Forest Act, 1881, and the Upper Burma Forest Regulation, 1887. The necessity for these provisions has been fully made out on previous occasions, and their insertion in Act VII of 1878 calls for no special explanation.

3. The sections which provide for the compounding of offences have been revised and recast. Under Act VII of 1878, only compensation for any damage which might have been committed could be accepted, while, under all Forest Laws passed between 1878 and 1886, compensation could be demanded for the offence; in the Upper Burma Forest Regulation, 1887, the compensation was again restricted to the damage done. It has been urged that most of the offences to which the section should be applied are breaches of river rules, or the evasion of payment of dues; and that, if compensation may only be accepted for damage, the section is ineffective. On the other hand, it is objected that to permit the unlimited acceptance of compensation for an offence is to place too much power in the hands of the Forest-officer. The amendment now put forward suggests the assessment of compensation according to the damage done, or the dues of which payment is evaded, and prescribes that the demand shall in no case exceed ten times the value of the produce or ten times the amount of the dues.

4. In 1884 the Bombay Government brought to notice that section 41 of Act VII of 1878 was defective, and suggested its amendment on the ground that it limited the control of timber in transit to timber found in or brought from a forest, and gave no authority to require the taking out of a pass, under the rules, for trees felled on fields in the occupation of landholders, as was previously the practice. The amendment was again urged in 1887; and the Bombay Government represented that it was absolutely necessary, with a view to prevent the misappropriation of timber from Government forests, that the executive authorities should have power to control while in transit all timber, from whatever source obtained, and that, if timber brought from private holdings were to be exempted from the operation of the rules framed under section 41 of the Act, the control of timber in transit would be rendered to a great extent ineffectual; for, directly any timber was conveyed outside the forest boundaries, it could be passed off as the produce of some private holding with little risk of detection. The Bombay Forest Commission also drew attention to this subject, and strongly recommended that the section should be amended in the interests of the cultivating classes no less than in those of the Government.

The simplest way of meeting the difficulty is to modify the definitions of "timber" and "forest-produce" so as to include all parts and produce of trees, and to subject to control under section 41 all timber whether grown in a forest or not.

This alteration in Act VII of 1878 is in accordance with the provisions of later enactments. The Madras and Burma Forest Acts provide for the control of timber in transit, irrespective of the source whence it comes; while the Upper Burma Forest Regulation gives the same control over forest-produce of all kinds.

5. Passing over mere verbal alterations, the only other amendment requiring notice is the addition to Act VII of 1878, and to the Burma Forest Act and the Upper Burma Forest Regulation, of a section similar to section 25 of the Opium Act, I of 1878, by which power is taken to recover penalties stipulated in a bond or agreement. For the protection of State property contractors and licensees generally bind themselves to observe certain precautions or abstain from certain dangerous acts, but it has been held that this does not render them criminally liable for any damage caused to the forest by the negligence or wilful act of their agents or workmen employed in carrying out their contract or in extracting the produce covered by their license. The new section will make them responsible up to the amount to which they have agreed, and such sum will be recoverable summarily.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ECONOMIC AND ART SECTION OF THE INDIAN MUSEUM FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 17th September 1889.

READ—

The Report of the Trustees of the Indian Museum on the Economic and Art Section of the Indian Museum for the year 1888-89.

The Report of the Assistant Curator of the Economic and Art Section of the Indian Museum, with the remarks of the Trustees thereon, was submitted to Government on the 16th August, 1889. The year under review has been one of decided activity and progress.

2. The ethnological court has not undergone any re-arrangement, but an amalgamated register has been prepared of the specimens, which were formerly borne on two separate lists, one for those obtained from the Calcutta International Exhibition and the other for those supplied through the Asiatic Society of Bengal. The silk fabrics, metal and lacquered work in the artware court have been re-arranged, and some progress has been made in preparing a list in accordance with the classification adopted in the Art Manufactures of India, a book prepared by Mr. T. N. Mookherji, the Assistant Curator, under the orders of the Government of India, for the Glasgow International Exhibition. Arrangements have been made for the exchange of specimens between the Economic Section and the Jaipore Museum, and it is expected that this transaction will add an interesting series of specimens to this court. The specimens in the economic court have undergone an effective overhauling and alphabetical distribution, with the result that it has been discovered that out of a total of 6,046 known as the number of economic products of India, the Museum possessed only 2,900 specimens. A beginning was made during the year in the direction of supplying this deficiency by the appointment of a collector of products, who succeeded in the course of the eight months for which he was employed in making 485 additions. A fresh list has been prepared of all economic products, except fodder, whether they are or are not in the Museum, and in it the names of new products given in Dr. Watt's Dictionary have been incorporated.

3. The subjoined statement shows in a convenient form the additions which have been made, and the resultant number of specimens now in each of the three departments:—

Name of Court.	Number of articles added.	How obtained.	Total number in 1887-88.	Total in 1888-89.
Economic Court	1,038	499 articles, consisting of timber, turpentine, and other forest produce, received from the Forest Department through the Revenue and Agricultural Department, Government of India. The rest include the 485 new specimens got together by the collector appointed by the Trustees.	15,568	16,606
Artware Court	250	226 by purchase at a cost of Rs. 1,300; 9 presented by Mr T. N. Mookherji, and 15 received back from the Colonial and Indian Exhibition and the old Bengal Economic Museum.	9,840	10,090
Ethnological Court ...	46	Collected by Captain DeLassoe, of the Afghan Boundary Commission, and presented by the Government of India.	6,926	6,972
Total ...	1,334		32,334	33,668

4. An important collection of Indian fibres in five sets is being prepared for presentation to the Imperial Institute, the Royal Botanical Gardens at Kew and Edinburgh, and the Chambers of Commerce of Dundee and Manchester. Substantial aid was during the year given to the Poona Exhibition, while the services of the Assistant Curator were enlisted on behalf of the Glasgow Exhibition, in which the Indian Court proved a great success. The usefulness of the Economic Museum as a means of diffusing information relative to Indian products and manufactures is evidently becoming widely appreciated.

5. The experiment undertaken last year for the sale of Indian artware within the precincts of the Museum proved to be a failure, and was abandoned.

6. Considerable difficulty appears to have been felt by the Trustees in preserving the specimens in the Economic and Art Museum, and various expedients had to be resorted to with the object of warding off the attack of insects and the effects of climate. Corrosive sublimate was found to be the most effective conserving agent in the case of raw products, while Cresol was used with advantage for the preservation of basket and wood-work. It is hoped that improved accommodation will reduce these evils, and the attention of the Public Works Department will be drawn to the Trustees' suggestion that the construction of the building, which is now being added to the Indian Museum, should be expedited.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE PRESIDENCY DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 17th September 1889.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Presidency Division for the year 1888-89.

Mr. Smith was again in charge of the Division during the whole year. His report for 1888-89 fully maintains the high standard attained in previous years and leaves nothing to be desired.

Tours.

2. The number of changes among the district officers, especially in Nuddea, where there were no less than six transfers, is much to be regretted, but they were unavoidable. This fact to some extent accounts for the shortness in the tours of all the officers, except the Collector of Jessore; but it cannot be accepted as a satisfactory explanation. The Commissioner has properly called the attention of the Magistrates to the orders of Government, which require Joint and Assistant Magistrates to make useful tours, and he will be desired to see that the District Officers do not again fail in their duties in this respect.

Weather and the crops.

3. The chronicle of the year is one of fair prosperity, chequered by local deficiencies. The rainfall was greater than the average of the last five years in two of the districts, and less in the other three; but it was marked by the same characteristics of inconvenient distribution as have been noticed in other divisions of the Province. For the most part the rains were late and insufficient in their commencement, redundant in the middle of the season, and ceased early. The want or the scantiness of the golden rains, as they have been termed, of September and October, caused a short outturn in some parts. On the other hand, the submersion of the food-crops in the Diamond Harbour subdivision, followed by a period of drought, resulted in a yield of about 7 to 8 annas locally, while the rest of the district ranged from 9 to 12 annas. The other crops in the division, such as jute and sugarcane, were excellent, and the climatic influences were favourable for silk and mulberry.

Health and material condition of the people.

4. The health of the people again improved during the past year, as the returns show a lower mortality than in either of the two preceding years. Nuddea is specially noticeable in this respect. All the other districts show a marked increase of cholera, which was very prevalent in Khulna and Moorshedabad. Out of 184,775 recorded deaths in the division, as many as 137,644 were from fever. Small-pox carried off more victims, but was nowhere very virulent. The cultivating classes, as a rule, were comparatively well off: the non-agricultural and labouring classes were temporarily affected by the varying harvests. While some Collectors think that indebtedness has increased among the peasantry, they are unanimous that the condition of the middle classes and of the old families of zemindars is daily deteriorating. The Commissioner very properly observes:—

"The amelioration of the condition of these classes of people is a most important problem. It is, however, one which native society must itself work out. Government can do little, though it may perhaps here and there lend a helping hand. Some of this class are trying to take to occupations hitherto regarded as of lower social status, and I have no doubt pressure of circumstances will gradually force them to resort to manual labour and to professions now carried on by the lower classes. These changes must, however, be brought about and initiated by themselves."

Prices.

5. Higher prices obtained in every district owing to the unseasonable rain and floods and comparative shortness of the bhadoi and early rice crop, and they continued to rule high when the rains ceased early. Wheat also was dearer in all districts except Jessore. All the Collectors, however, report that there was no change in the rates of wages.

Manufactures and trade.

6. Some account was given last year of the important manufactures in this division. They have continued to flourish and develope. Forty-six mills, factories and presses, including a new bone-crushing machine, were at work and gave employment to over 50,000 persons. The increase in the outturn of jute worked up is shown by the following figures:—

	Tons.	Value.
		Rs.
In 1886-87	76,800	13 crores.
„ 1887-88	90,329	17 „
„ 1888-89	105,596	21 „

The four cotton mills produced 9,357 tons of cotton, as compared with 7,685 and 8,330 tons in the two preceding years. Two new cotton companies have been formed, and one of the older mills has doubled the number of its spindles. The sugar mills of Cossipore and the Tittaghur Paper Mills similarly turned out larger quantities. There were 127 indigo concerns at work, but the value of the total proceeds diminished. The estimated value was in Nuddea Rs. 9,56,000, in Jessore Rs. 3,89,289, in Moorshedabad Rs. 5,78,443, considerably less in the last two cases than in the previous year. The industries connected with sugar made great advances: for instance, in the Bussirhat subdivision 1,95,000 maunds of goor or molasses were converted into sugar, and 50,000 maunds in Baraset. The manufactory at Kotechandpore in Jhenida produced, by machinery, 20,809 maunds of refined sugar, valued at Rs. 1,62,857, and in the Jessore district there were 3,61,274 maunds of unrefined sugar, made at 187 factories and valued at nearly 18 lakhs of rupees. Though 50,000 maunds were made in Khulna, the industry is said to be declining there. The traders did well during the year, but the village artisans did not prosper. A successful exhibition was held in February at Moorshedabad, which is thought to have stimulated and revived some of the local arts and industries. The total value of trade registered between the mofussil and Calcutta showed an increase, but it occurred chiefly in jute, and there was a falling off in most of the articles. There was a very large decrease in the traffic up and down the Nuddea river, which is attributed to their condition during the year. The traffic between Khulna and Calcutta has not left the boats and taken advantage of the rail.

Public Press.

7. In the Presidency Division the native papers have necessarily a larger circulation than elsewhere. The Commissioner records his opinion that "the general tone of the press is loyal, though some of the papers not unfrequently exceed the limits of moderation." The Lieutenant-Governor thinks that Mr. Smith's views, as expressed in the following extract, are of sufficient interest to deserve quoting:—

"I am myself inclined to think that there are signs of gradual improvement in the tone of the press. With the increased facilities for obtaining accurate information which the spread of education and the gradual opening out of the country by roads and railways, steam communications by sea and river, post and telegraph, are affording, there is, I think, a growing sense of responsibility, especially among the more influential organs, for the accuracy of the facts published. There is noticeable, too, a sensible abatement of an exacerbation of race animosity, which was so noticeable a feature a few years back. A native press necessarily advocates native views. In times of excitement, and on party questions, it is apt to be carried further than facts warrant. In this, however, it does not differ from the organs of political parties in England."

Revenue.

8. There was great activity in the excise administration during the year, and every effort was made to reduce the consumption of country spirits. The revenue realized was Rs. 29,72,143, an increase of only Rs. 7,360. The declining consumption of rum has revived in Calcutta, from 22,271 to 24,141 gallons, and as this is accompanied by a decrease in the revenue, amounting to Rs. 12,393, due to the reduction of duty from Rs. 5 to Rs. 4 per gallon, it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that the question of the duty deserves the attention of the Excise Commissioner. The stamp revenue showed a net increase of Rs. 30,205, divided between the receipts and charges for the collection of a gross revenue of Rs. 38,45,947. The average rate of fine imposed per head in each stamp case still appears to be very low and insufficient to deter offenders. The income-tax collections rose from Rs. 16,35,344 in 1887-88 to Rs. 18,05,262, an increase of Rs. 1,69,918, with a large balance uncollected. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the great improvement said to have been effected in the administration of this tax since Mr. Kilby took charge of it. The land revenue nearly recovered the decrease recorded last year, and stands at Rs. 50,26,248.

Local Self-Government.

9. The meetings of the District and Local Boards have been regularly held, and the members present have shown lively interest in the subjects discussed. The Commissioner repeats his remarks regarding the matters under the control of the Boards and the appointment of non-official Chairmen in certain subdivisions of the 24-Pergunnahs. The system of Local Self-Government has in that district "worked smoothly and been to some extent a success." In Nuddea there is a complaint of the insufficiency of the Board's income to meet the most urgent annual requirements of its roads and bridges. In Khulna the meetings were few and the average attendance small, but an intelligent interest was taken by the members. In Moorshedabad similar remarks would apply, and the Magistrate considers the Board a success. Mr. Barrow, the Magistrate of Jessore, has given special attention to this subject, and considers that the weakness of Local Self-Government lies in the want of gentlemen of leisure to carry on the work; that too much is required from private persons; that native gentlemen have no natural aptitude for practical affairs, and action in public life is paralysed by factious jealousies. Mr. Smith, however, considers the new system to have worked smoothly and successfully, and adds:—"With regard to Mr. Barrow's remarks against the scheme, I would refer to my rejoinder to somewhat similar remarks of last year. I entirely dissent from Mr. Barrow's opinion as to the capability of native gentlemen for the management of their local affairs. I have no doubt that the members of the various sub-committees will attend and take an intelligent interest in their work, if they feel that they are a real power in the disposal of the work. Much necessarily depends on the tact and capacity of the Chairman of any committee, and the Chairman of a District Board is not an exception." The Lieutenant-Governor need not repeat the principles which he has frequently laid down for guidance in this department of the administration.

Communications.

10. The railway from Ballygunge to the new docks at Kidderpore, which also meets the Port Commissioners' line along the Calcutta Strand bank, has been completed. In connection with the Chitpore branch of the Eastern Bengal Railway, it forms a circular line of rail, 20 miles long, round Calcutta and the Suburbs. Another line from the docks to the Budge-Budge petroleum depôt is under construction. In Jessore proposals have been made for the extension of the Bengal Central Railway to Madaripore vid Narail. Nothing has been done to improve the unsatisfactory condition of the Nalhati State Railway. The Commissioner's remarks on this head and on the embankments in the division will again be considered in the Public Works Department. His fears for the silting up of the river Bhagiruthi near Jungipore will also receive attention.

Municipalities.

11. A large portion of the Suburban Municipality has, since the 1st April last, been amalgamated with Calcutta, and the remainder has been formed into two new municipalities—Chitpore-Cossipore and Manicktollah. Certain agricultural areas have been altogether excluded from the operation of the Municipal Act. The Commissioner records that the people generally take much interest in the selection of their representatives. Only in the Jungipore Municipality an election failed in consequence of no candidates appearing, so that Government had to make the appointment. Mr. Smith's observations show that he is exercising a judicious supervision over these institutions. He writes:—

"The attendance of Commissioners at meetings has been fair, and the Commissioners generally have shown a disposition to work harmoniously for the public good, though there have, unfortunately, been some instances of a contrary spirit. The worst case has been apparently that of Debhatta in Khulna, where accusations and recriminations have been largely indulged in, and more than half the Commissioners have forfeited their appointments under section 20 of the Act. Under my instructions, the Magistrate is endeavouring to bring about more satisfactory relations and to place the affairs of the Corporation on a better footing.

The tendency to make large allotments for high education, to increase establishments unnecessarily, and to pay unduly high salary to the staff, still requires check."

Education.

12. The educational statistics for 1888-89 show again a further development from 198,400 to 202,287 pupils, i.e., an increase of 3,878 pupils and 55 schools. It is calculated that, of the children of a school-going age, only one in three of the boys and one in 457 of the girls are at school. There is therefore ample room for future improvement. It is noteworthy that municipal bodies have reduced their grants to high and middle English schools. The Berhampore College, now entirely supported by the Maharani Surnomoyi, was raised during the year to the status of a first grade college. There were three new girls' schools opened and 185 more girls receiving instruction, chiefly at unaided schools. Out of the 202,278 pupils, only 55,749 are Mahomedans, i.e., a percentage of 27·5 on the whole number; although the Mahomedans in this division form 50·6 of the total population, the percentage of Mahomedan pupils remains the same, 7·3, as last year in the high English schools, and is slightly less, 34·1, in the lower primary schools. The backwardness of Mahomedans in point of education is reflected in the number of employés of that religion, viz. 2,060, out of 6,993 in the Government service in the division, and the disproportion would be more significant if it were not for the large number of Mahomedans engaged in inferior service.

Mr. Smith states that every District Officer is doing his best to employ Mahomedans whenever possible, but that they must improve their qualifications before they can be more largely taken into Government service, and it would not be advisable to reserve specially any appointment for them.

13. The Commissioner's remarks on the conduct of the zemindars are not altogether favourable. The Maharajahs Sir Jotendro Mohun Tagore, Sir Norendro Krishna, Rajah Peary Mohun Mookerjee, and Baboo Giriji Prosunno Mookerjee, however, are said to treat their tenants well. One Collector reports that the zemindars greatly fail in their duties and seldom concern themselves with their tenants by helping them to settle their disputes in the old patriarchal manner, and that they rarely undertake public works, such as roads, tanks, and bunds. The Commissioner thinks there is some truth in this, but it is exaggerated. No mention is made of the relations between the zemindars and their tenantry having led to trouble, except in one case in Moorshedabad.

14. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Mr. Smith for his careful management of the division in his charge, not less than for his very excellent report. His statement of the merits of officers will be duly forwarded to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The 17th September 1889.—The following is published for general information.

C. E. BUCKLAND,
Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

SCARCITY IN THE PATNA DIVISION.

No. 76F—2-44, dated Simla, the 23rd August 1889.

From—SIR E. C. BUCK, KT., Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

IN acknowledging the receipt of Mr. Buckland's endorsement No. 3104—344 (Fam.), of the 15th August, submitting a Resolution reviewing the report on the scarcity in the Patna Division for the fortnight ending 31st July 1889, I am to request that the acknowledgments of the Government of India may be conveyed to His Highness the Maharajah of Durbhunga and the other landholders who have accorded their continued and zealous co-operation with the Government in mitigating the sufferings of the people during the period of scarcity in the Patna Division.

THE following report is published for general information.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT,
The 17th September 1889.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE FIRE BRIGADE IN THE TOWN AND SUBURBS OF CALCUTTA AND IN HORWAH DURING THE YEAR 1888-89.

No. 5049, dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1889.

From—J. LAMBERT, ESQ., C.I.E., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit, under section 30 of Act IV (B.C.) of 1883, the following report on the working of the Fire Brigade in the town and suburbs of Calcutta and in Howrah for the year 1888-89.

2. The Brigade was in attendance at 38 fires during the year, 13 in the town, 15 in the suburbs, and 10 in Howrah, as compared with 34 fires in the preceding year. The value of property destroyed was Rs. 13,06,255, against Rs. 53,655.

3. Several of the fires during the year under review were very destructive, and of these the following call for special notice:—

In the town, property to the value of Rs. 3,00,000 was burnt in the Port Commissioners' Ware-house at No. 1 Jetty, and in the port of Calcutta a large flat belonging to the Eastern Bengal State Railway laden with 17,890 maunds of jute to the value of Rs. 1,19,490 was destroyed.

In the suburbs, a range of jute presses and godowns containing about 50,000 maunds of jute in the Canal Jute Press was destroyed. The value of the property is estimated at Rs. 4,00,000.

In Howrah, the weaving house of Chunda Ramjee's Jute Mill at Ghoosery, containing 275 looms and valued at Rs. 2,75,000, was consumed.

4. In the fire which occurred at Cossipore in the suburbs of Calcutta on the 13th September 1888, it will be seen that three persons were so seriously burnt that they succumbed to their injuries.

5. A memorandum of the fires, and also a statement of the receipts and expenditure of the Brigade, are enclosed.

6. During the year under reference, 12 persons were prosecuted in the town of Calcutta under the Indian Explosives Act, IV of 1884, for the manufacture, possession, and sale of fireworks, and of these, 10 were convicted and 2 acquitted.

7. No license for the sale of fireworks was withdrawn during the year.

Statement showing the actual Receipts and Disbursements of the Fire Brigade Fund for the year ending the 31*st March* 1889.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops in the different districts of Bengal, as reported to Government, during the week ending the 14th September, 1889.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather and state and prospects of the crops.
	BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
	Burdwan Divn.
1	Burdwan Sept. 14, '89	1·66	Weather—seasonable. More rain even now would allow of amun transplantation in Cutwa and Culna, where only 6 annas crop is planted out. Aus is being harvested with about 12 annas outturn. Prices of rice vary from 14 seers per rupee at Culna to 15 seers at Burdwan.
	Culna ...	0·20
	Cutwa ...	0·70
	Raneegunge ...	0·99
2	Bankoora „ 14, '89	1·88	Weather—seasonable. More rain wanted in the Bissenpore subdivision for the amun rice plants. Prospects of standing crops are good. Prices of rice vary from 16½ seers per rupee at Bissenpore to 18 seers at Sudder.
3	Birbhum „ 14, '89	3·98	Daily thunderstorms. Prospects everywhere good. It is a pity the rainfall at
	Rampur Hât ...	7·29	Rampore Hât was not a week or so earlier, as it would have ensured a bumper crop there. Price of rice continues at about 14½ seers per rupee.
4	Midnapur „ 14, '89	3·47	The weather is becoming hot, and there seems to be a break. The crops are so far doing well. Aus is being reaped in places. Prices of rice—

5	Hooghly „ 14, '89	1·17	Weather—fair with infrequent showers. Amun rice has been transplanted;

6	24-Pergha. Sept. 17, '89	0·09	Weather hot and dry. Transplantation of amun and harvesting of jute and aus nearly over. Prospects continue favourable.
	Nuddea „ 14, '89	1·05	Weather—seasonable. Harvesting of jute and aus is still going on. Prospects
	Kooshtea ...	0·93	of amun and sugarcane are fair on high lands. River-water stationary.
	Meherpur ...	1·97
	Chooadanga ...	1·55
8	Ranaghat ...	1·29
	Khoolna „ 14, '89	0 63	Weather—rainy. Transplantation of amun going on rapidly. Prospects of all
	Bagirhat ...	0·48	crops good.
9	Satkhira ..	2·18
	Jessore „ 14, '89	1·85	Weather—seasonable. Harvesting of jute and aus paddy is still going on.
	Jhenidah ..	1·02	Amun paddy doing well at Magura. Outturn of aus is not satisfactory.
	Magura ...	0·42	Amun and aus in the Jhenidah subdivision have been damaged to a great
	Narail ...	1·00	extent by the sudden rise of rivers. Rivers still rising. Prices slightly
	Bongong ...	1·35	increasing.
10	Moorshedabad „ 14, '89	4·04	Weather—normal; thunderstorms with rain on the 11th and 12th; southerly
	Lalbagh ...	5·29	wind and floods. Aus is still being harvested. The following is an estimate
	Kandi ...	4·07	of the amount of aus dhan reaped before the floods:—
	Jungipore ..	2·75	Annas.
			Dewanserai 8
			Bhagwangola 10
			Jelinghi 10
			Doultabazar 12
			Goas 8
			Hariharpara 13
			Sujagunge 12
			Gorabazar 10
			Burwa 1
			Dadpur outpost 10
			Nowada 14
			Assanpore 4
			It is probable that more than 12 annas of the aus crop was reaped before the floods, and that the total outturn is half that of the average crop. Comparatively little amun is grown in this tract, and that has all been lost. There is want of fodder, which will tell on the cattle in places. There is no distress. The river has begun to fall steadily. The Berhampore gauge is 29′ 8¼″, shewing a fall this week of 8″. Price of common rice 12 to 13 seers per rupee. The above report relates both to the Sudder and the Lalbagh subdivisions. In the Jungipore subdivision, including the flooded portion, the outturn of the aus crop is estimated at 10 annas. No full report has been received from Kandi.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather and state and prospects of the crops.
Rajshahye Divn. 11	Dinagepur Sept 14, '89	5·40	Weather—rainy, cooler. Average outturn of bhadoi crop for whole district is 10 annas and of jute 6 annas. Price of common rice has risen to 13 seers owing to incessant rain and consequent difficulty of drying the paddy before husking. Price will probably fall with a few dry days. Prospects of winter paddy excellent. No harm if rain does not fall for a month. With a little seasonable rain in October the crop should be 16 annas.
	Thakurgaon ..	3·91
12	Rajshahye „ 14, '89	6·03	Weather—cloudy and rainy. Harvesting of aus and jute and transplanting of amun continue. Considerable damage has been done by flood-water from the Ganges to rice on low lands in Baulcah and Charghât thanas, but the whole outturn of aus will be nearly average, and that of amun promises well. Sugarcane has also suffered from flood-water.
	Nattore ...	1·90
	Nowgong ...	3·09
13	Rungpur „ 14, '89	2·47	Weather—stormy with frequent heavy showers. The rain is most opportune, and the young amun is coming up well. Sugarcane, too, is thriving. Jute cutting and steeping continue; prices rule high. The damage done by the Brahmaputra floods is not after all serious, and it is compensated by the enhanced value of the crops saved.
	Gaibanda ..	3·80
	Kurigram ..	7·32
	Nilphamari ...	3·86
14	Bogra „ 14, '89	4·94	Weather—seasonable, with rather too much rain. The harvest of aus is not yet finished. The outturn of jute will be about 10 annas. The transplantation of amun is still going on; the full normal area has been cultivated, and the prospects are good.
	Sherpur .	3 00
	Nowkhilla	6 36
15	Pubna „ 14, '89	1·11	Weather—cloudy with occasional showers. Crops doing fairly well except where damaged by excessive water. Aus and jute are still being cut. Expected outturn of jute 13 annas. Sugarcane moderate. No material change in prices.
16	Darjeeling „ 14, '89	3 56	Break in rains. Weather cool in morning and misty. Prospects of crops good. Bhadoi crop not yet harvested. At Kalimpong this crop is being harvested. Haimanti paddy doing well. Jute about 14 annas has been cut. Price of common rice 11 to 12 seers per rupee
17	Julpigoree „ 14, '89	3 34	Weather—seasonable. Cutting of bhadoi and jute still going on; prospects all round very favourable; average yield 14 annas expected. Haimanti paddy coming on well. Prices inclined to fall.
	Eastern Districts.
Dacca Divn. 18	Dacca Sept. 14, '89	1·25	Weather—hot. Harvesting of jute nearly completed, and that of aus dhan going on. Amun dhan doing well Floods have done some damage to the crops. Fodder is hardly available. Prices of food-grains have slightly risen.
19	Furreedpur „ 14, '89	0·75	Weather—seasonable State and prospects of amun paddy fair.
20	Backergunge „ 14, '89	0·47	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of crops good. Transplantation of amun going on.
21	Mymensingh „ 14 '89	3·35	Weather—cloudy and rainy almost daily. Prospects of crops generally good. Transplantation of amun is nearly completed. Jute is being cut. Price of rice remained stationary.
Chittagong Divn. 22	Chittagong „ 17, '89	0·37	Weather—seasonable. Harvesting of aus nearly over. Transplantation of amun continues. Prospects fair. Prices steady.
23	Noakholly „ 14, '89	0·30	Weather—warm and sultry. Aus crop being harvested in some parts of the district. State of amun rice promising. Betel-nuts doing well.
24	Tipperah „ 14, '89	0·13	Weather—seasonable. Aus has been harvested . Jute is being cut. Prospects of amun favourable. Rain wanted for seedlings in Brahmanberia. A 14-anna betel-nut crop expected. Rice is being exported extensively.
25	Chittagong Hill Tracts. „ 13, '89	Nil	Weather—very hot throughout the week; cloudy on the 12th. Harvesting of jum paddy continues. Ploughing of land for mustard commenced. Sugarcane progressing.
	Hill Tipperah „ 14, '89	0·41	Weather—hot. Rain much wanted. Transplantation of amun paddy continues. Jum paddy being reaped. Price of rice continues high as before—10 seers per rupee.
	BEHAR
Patna Divn. 26	Patna „ 14, '89	8·29	Weather—hot and cloudy. Harvesting of bhadoi progressing; outturn very fair. Transplantation of paddy is very nearly completed. In the Barh, Behar, and Dinapore subdivisions rain is wanted for paddy. Price of food-grains almost stationary.
	Barh ...	0·17
	Dinapur ...	4·08
	Behar ...	1·50
27	Gya „ 14, '89	1·53	Weather—cloudy. Prospects of crops favourable. Transplantation of paddy over. Bhadoi is being harvested. Prices of food-grains a little falling.
28	Shahabad „ 14, '89	2·10	Weather—getting cooler. Harvesting of bhadoi crops almost completed. Paddy doing well. No more rain wanted at present. Prices stationary, but falling at Sasseram.
	Buxar ...	2·57
	Sasseram ...	0 35
	Bhabuah ...	0·35
29	Durbhunga „ 14, '89	1·21	Heavy showers at the latter end of the week. In Tajpur the floods have damaged the bhadoi to the extent of 6 annas, but rain has much benefited the dhan. Reports from Durbhunga and Madhubani are good up to date. Bhadoi is being harvested. Prices falling except in Durbhunga town.
	Madhubani ...	2·93
	Tajpur ...	1·56
30	Muzufferpur „ 14, '89	6·90	Weather—cloudy; more rain probable. Heavy rain during the week, causing apprehensions of further floods. Makai is being cut. Prices falling in Sitamarhi. Number of people receiving gratuitous relief in the flooded tracts increasing.
	Hajipur ...	3·60
31	Sarun „ 14, '89	4·66	Rain in heavy storms almost daily. Rice crop very good. Bhadoi locally damaged by floods. Khunti indigo prospects poor.
32	Chumparun „ 14, '89	9·70	Weather—cloudy. Bhadoi is being harvested. Paddy doing well. Prices almost stationary. Distress mitigating. Gratuitous relief is being distributed to the needy.
	Bettiah ...	6·10

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather and state and prospects of the crops.
	BEHAR—continued.
Bhagulpore Divn. 34	Monghyr Sept. 14, '89	3·76	Weather—seasonable. Heavy showers at intervals. Prospects of winter rice continue good. Owing to the floods the bhadoi outturn in the Sudder and Begusarai subdivisions will probably not exceed ten annas. In Jamui the crop will be a full average one.
	Begusarai ...	7·79
	Jamui ..	1·29
	Bhagulpur „ 14, '89	5·05	Weather—rainy and cool. In the north, harvesting of marua continues, and the new grain is selling at 35 to 40 seers per rupee. Early rice is being cut. In the south, prospects of late rice much improved by this week's rain, and transplanting is still going on in places. Floods in the north and short rain in the south have left the area cropped about 2 annas short of the average. Relief works closed.
	Banka ...	4 11
	Madhepurah	4 45
	Soopool	0·76
35	Purneah „ 14, '89	7·18	Weather—very rainy; hot between showers. Prospects will not be bad if the inundation, which is forcing everywhere, goes down quickly.
	Kissengunge ...	8 03
36	Maldah „ 14, '89	9·70	Weather—nights rainy, but days alternately cloudy and clear and fine. The winter rice crops have suffered to some extent by inundation. Rivers are speedily going down. Kalai has begun to be sown in some parts where water has totally subsided. Common rice selling at 12 seers a rupee in the Sudder.
	Chanchal ...	6·56

	Pakour ...	6 82
	Rajmehal ...	4·28
	ORISSA.
Orissa Divn. 38	Cuttack Sept 14, '89	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Reaping of early (satika) beali is over; on the whole an eight annas crop has been obtained. Prospects of sarad good.
39	Pooree „ 13, '89	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Weeding of sarad crop going on. Beali and mandia are being harvested State and prospects of all standing crops good. 40	Balasore „ 14, '89	0·63	There is every appearance of a break in the rains. Prospects of all crops in the Bhudruck subdivision continue to be excellent. In parts of the Sudder subdivision rice on the highest land is already withering for want of moisture. Everywhere the deficient rainfall has impeded transplantation, weeding and puddling, so that more than a ten-anna outturn can hardly be expected.
	CHOTA NAGPORE
	South-West Frontier Agency.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten

The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 17 stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA, the 17th September, 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 13TH OF SEPTEMBER 1889.

At the end of the previous week conditions at the head of the Bay, as indicated by the wind circulation, were slightly unsettled, and a very shallow depression crossed the coast, but the weather at the coast stations was so little affected that observers failed to notice any unusual appearances. Inland, however, the weather was more disturbed in consequence of thunderstorms occurring, accompanied by heavy local falls of rain. A slight increase of the monsoon was experienced at the head of the Bay, and this lasted throughout the present week, beginning on Sunday, the 8th. The average wind velocities reported on Saturday were under ten miles an hour at all stations, but on Sunday it was twelve miles at Saugor Island, and on Monday over ten miles at Gopalpur, Pooree, and Saugor Island, continuing between ten and twenty miles at these stations for the rest of the week. The thunderstorms which were fairly frequent on Saturday and Sunday in Lower Bengal after that almost entirely stopped there, but showery weather continued in the northern districts, and in places heavy falls of rain were received, giving frequently much more than the normal amount. Beyond the showery weather, the only noticeable feature has been the very high pressure which, beginning about the middle of the previous week, has continued to the end of the present one. On Saturday pressure fell at all stations except those in North Bengal and some scattered stations in Behar and East Bengal Temperature was generally above the normal, and rain was fairly general, with a few heavy local falls. On the following day there was a slight rise of pressure, and excess was almost everywhere more than a tenth of an inch. Temperature was low everywhere, and winds moderate, while rain was scattered and generally light, except at a few stations in South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and South Behar. On Monday the rise of pressure continued except in South Behar, and changes were everywhere small. Rain was almost general in all districts, but very variable in amount, the heavier falls being caused by local thunderstorms. Temperature was low in Behar, and winds very light at many stations. A slow fall of pressure was general on Tuesday, and rain was very local and light in Lower Bengal, but was heavy at nearly all the northern stations, and consequently temperature was low in these districts and high in the others On the three remaining days of the week similar conditions obtained. Pressure fell slowly on the first two and rose briskly on the third. Rain was almost entirely absent in Orissa, South-West and East Bengal, but was general in the other districts, and at times very heavy. The temperature distribution continued unchanged, but intensified, large defects being reported from many of the northern stations.

Pressure changes, as detailed above, have never been large, usually under a twentieth of an inch The large excess continued throughout the week, and in consequence the mean pressure is very high at all stations, excess being frequently above a tenth of an inch. The largest excess amounts are in Orissa and North Bengal—at Gopalpur 0·122 inch, Rungpore 0·124 inch, Krishnagore, Cuttack, Bogra, and Dinagepore 0 11 inch. Excess at Darjeeling has been only 0·03 inch, and at some of the Behar and Chutia Nagpur stations 0 07 inch. In Assam it has been about a tenth of an inch at Sibsagar and Dhubri, and 0·07 inch at Silchar.

Temperature—Has been highest in Orissa and East Bengal, nearly normal at most of the Chutia Nagpur and South-West Bengal stations, and low in Behar, North Bengal, and Assam During the latter half of the week defects were between four and six degrees at many of the Behar and North Bengal stations. The largest defect in the mean temperature for the week is 2 8° at Bankipore, and at a good many other stations it exceeds 2°. The means for the large divisions are above the normal in Orissa and East Bengal by 0·6°, normal in South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, and below the normal in the others. These defects are—North Bengal 2°, South Behar 1 70°, North Behar 1·4°, and Assam 1·1°

Rainfall—Has been above the normal in all districts except Orissa and East Bengal, but the excess in the mean falls for South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur are only two-tenths of an inch The mean fall in North Behar is 4·87 inches, North Bengal 4 8 inches, South Behar 3·55 inches, Chutia Nagpur 2·7 inches, South-West Bengal 2·56 inches, East Bengal 1·14 inches, and Orissa 0·5 inch. The falls in Orissa and East Bengal have been very light and scattered, while those in South-West Bengal occurred during the first two or three days of the week. Some heavy local falls are reported in the Beerbhoom and Bankoora districts, the heaviest being 7·8 inches at Rampore Haut and Morari, and in Moorshedabad, where several subdivisional stations reported from seven to eight inches In East Bengal, with the exception of Mymensingh, falls were all under two inches, except at Manickgunge where it was 2·5 inches. In Mymensingh very irregular amounts were received, varying from 1·2 inches at Dewangunge to 6 9 inches at Netrokona. In Behar and North Bengal the distribution is very similar, amounts being between three and four inches at many stations. The heaviest falls are—Baloorghat 12 inches, Pakour 10 inches, Maldah and Motihari nearly 10 inches. The heaviest falls in Chutia Nagpur are—Ranchi 4 7 inches and Lohardugga 4 5 inches; but rainfall there has been scattered and more like that of the southern districts.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 13th of September 1889 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Sex," the ratios under which have been calculated on the results of the census under this head and therefore have recorded under the authorized form of sex classification.

Jute, screwed	1,719
Narainganj contributed about 1,000 tons of the above increase. Sara Ghât and Huldibari the remainder.
Jute, unscrewed	630
From Rajbari, Narainganj, and Mymensing principally.
Oilseeds	2,474
Due to a favourable market in Calcutta.
Railway plant	15,865
For construction purposes: also repairs and renewals.
Firewood	341
From Canning principally.

DECREASES.

Rice	3,125
Due to partial failure of the crops in the district. The decrease of 4,443 tons in "other" grains is due to the same cause.

Due to ordinary fluctuations.
Metals	504
Due to ordinary fluctuations.
Salt	2,095
This falling off was in despatches from Chitpore (67,901 maunds).
Tea	493

No. 1114Marine, Calcutta, the 14th May 1889.

From—W. B. BESTIC, Esq., Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. Dept.,
To—The Port Officer, Calcutta.

IN continuation of my letter No. 749Marine, dated the 3rd ultimo, forwarding copies of notifications issued by the Government of India, containing the rules and orders issued by that Government under sections 20, 53, 55 and 56 of the Native Passenger Ships Act X of 1887, I am directed to communicate to you the following instructions, which should be followed in granting certificates to vessels to which the Act applies.

2. It has come to the notice of the Government that there are certain steamers plying to and from Calcutta which have one between deck, a main deck (which may or may not be closed in with iron shutters), a poop deck, and a hurricane deck. The following allowances should be made as regards space in measuring these vessels:—

Short voyages.

	Fair weather.	Foul weather.
	S. ft.
Between deck	59	9
Main deck	6	9
Poop deck*	6	9
Hurricane deck	6	Nil.

* When no saloon passengers are carried.

In all seasons there should be on the uppermost deck, exclusive of the space occupied by passengers carried on that deck, 4 square feet of airing space for each passenger on the between deck, and 4 square feet of airing space for each passenger on the main deck, if such deck can be closed in. The uppermost deck should be taken to mean that deck at any part of the vessel over which there is no other deck.

If saloon passengers are carried on any voyage, the number of passengers that may be carried under the certificate is to be reduced by the number allowed for the saloon or poop deck.

3. The weight of the anchors and the size and quantity of the chains with which a ship is required to be furnished under Rule X should be such as are required under Lloyd's rules.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 298 of 1889), issued by the British Admiralty, is republished:—

Information has been received from Lieutenant and Commander George Pirie, H.M. Surveying Vessel Paluma, of the existence of a rock north-westward of Swinger reef, western entrance to Lark pass, Great Barrier reef:—

This rock is a detached coral head of small extent, with a depth of 4 feet on it at low water springs, and 8 fathoms all round. It is situated with the beacon on Swinger reef (as placed on Admiralty Charts), bearing S.E. ½ E. distant 6 cables.

INDIAN OCEAN.

NINE DEGREE CHANNEL.

Regarding a newly discovered reef.

IN continuation of Notice to Mariners No. 80, dated 23rd ultimo, Commander Alfred Carpenter, R.N, in charge of the Marine Survey of India, has given notice that information has been received through the Master Attendant of Colombo, that Captain Mets of the S. S. Noord Brabane discovered a reef 3 miles in length in latitude 8° 48′ N., longitude 73° 40′ E., which position is about 50 miles N. E. of Minikoi. As no mention is made of soundings over it, and as a breaking reef of that length would not have escaped observation before in such a well frequented channel, it appears probable that a tide ripple, and not a reef, was observed.

The locality should, however, be navigated with caution until more satisfactory information is elucidated.

(b)—Any business postponed from the last ordinary meeting shall be brought forward.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—FAMINE.

Resolution of Government, dated 16th August, 1889, on the scarcity in the Government estate of Angul.

Resolution of Government, dated 16th August, 1889, on the scarcity in the Daspalla State and certain others of the Tributary Mehals in Orissa.

Read—

A letter, No. 2744, dated 19th August, 1889, from Sir John Edgar, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal, on deputation, reporting the results of his enquiries into the condition of the districts of Cuttack and Pooree, the mehal of Angul, and the southern groups of the Tributary States in Orissa.

Reports from the Officiating Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals terminating with his letter No. 1608, dated 5th September, 1889.

The Resolutions of this Government referred to in the preamble were recorded with as little delay as possible with a view to the adoption of the immediate measures of relief required in the Government estate of Angul and certain of the Tributary Mehals in Orissa, and were based on notes laid before Government by Sir John Edgar, with information gathered from the local officers. Sir John Edgar has now furnished a general report of his tour on deputation to Orissa, which contains his observations on the present condition of affairs in the regulation districts of Cuttack and Pooree, the Government estates of Angul and the Khondmals, and the Tributary States, the conclusions at which he has arrived, and his suggestions for the better prevention and mitigation of scarcity and distress in these parts of the country in future. As a copy of his report is appended to this Resolution, it will only be necessary to refer to the special points which require notice and the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor.

2. The course of Sir John Edgar's tour was well planned, and enabled him at an unfavourable period of the year, while moving with considerable rapidity, to visit most of the important places, and confer with the officers responsible, both in British territory and the Tributary States, for the administration of relief measures. It is satisfactory to observe that there is no indication of distress in the regulation portion of the Cuttack district, that the prospects of the early rice, marwa, and Indian-corn are excellent, and of the later, or saradh, rice, (which is this year being more carefully cultivated than is usual), most promising. In the Government estate of Banki, composing an area of 116 square miles and a population of 55,900, there has been some distress among a few families of the poorer classes, but the Collector has visited the locality and provided for their requirements, so that there is no present cause for any anxiety. The Collector has also visited a part of Domepara, where some of the poorest classes are in great destitution, though the general state of the people is reported to be very prosperous. The Raja of Domepara has relieved the distressed people, and has promised further assistance. His Honour has also perused with gratification the commendation bestowed by Sir John Edgar on the judgment and efficiency with which relief measures were devised and carried out during 1888 in the Khoorda sub-division of the Pooree district, as reflecting credit on Mr. Worsley and Mr. D. B. Allen, the officers then in charge of the division and district. In the Pooree district, both in Khoorda and in a small tract of country between the Chilka Lake and the sea, it is anticipated that there will be some pressure to the end of September, but work will be provided on roads and embankments to be paid for from the District Road Fund or the Management grant, and, if these prove insufficient, Sir Steuart Bayley is prepared to sanction an allotment of funds from Provincial revenues. He desires also that the course of trade in food-grains may be carefully watched in connection with Sir John Edgar's allusion to the brisk exportation of rice from Pooree to Gangpore, and the possible depletion of stocks among the trading classes. The remarks on the beneficial effects of the absence of forest regulations in the Khondmals will be dealt with in a later paragraph on the subject of forest conservancy in Orissa.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that Sir John Edgar was informed by the tehsildar of Khoorda that, although the rules which prohibit the removal of jungle products from reserved and protected forests had been nominally relaxed, there was still much opposition and unauthorized interference by the lower subordinates. This matter was brought to His Honour's notice on the 5th August last, when he issued stringent orders by telegraph for measures to be taken at once to ensure that the relaxation of the forest rules should not be obstructed. Later reports show that all foresters in charge of ranges have been strictly enjoined in Khoorda to allow the people of that sub-division to enter the protected and reserved forests whenever they wish, and take whatever edible jungle products they require free of charge, and to place no obstruction in their way. It is hoped that all ground of complaint on this score has now ceased. In Angul the Superintendent, in August, 1888, owing to the distress then prevalent, especially among the Loharas, ordered that the distressed people should be allowed to gather roots and fruits from the reserved forests, and the Loharas stones and fuel for the purpose of manufacturing iron, and these orders are still in force.

4. In his observations on the Government estate of Angul, Sir John Edgar has examined with some care the course of the correspondence on the subject of scarcity between the local officers and Government. It was mentioned in the Resolution of 16th August, already quoted, that the necessity for special vigilance in Angul was enjoined by Government in March last on the Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals, who took charge of the division on the 27th February. A careful perusal of the entire correspondence has left the impression on the Lieutenant-Governor's mind that the real gravity of the situation was not realised by the Superintendent till a very late date, and that in the early stages of the distress the measures of relief were wholly inadequate. The question of Mr. Hopkins' responsibility, and that of the tehsildar of Angul, Narayan Chandra Naik, is, however, the subject of separate correspondence. The Personal Assistant's report brought to notice that up to the 15th July the police had reported 147 deaths from starvation and 1,910 from cholera, and there is no question that previous to his deputation to Angul the relief measures undertaken by the tehsildar were insufficient and inappropriate. They have now been properly organised in accordance with the suggestions submitted by the Superintendent after conference with Sir John Edgar. The estate has been divided into three circles, under Messrs. Brownfield, Augier, and Lloyd; 12 relief centres have been established, the distribution of gratuitous relief has been systematized; a procedure for the grant of tuccavi loans and advances has been laid down; various forms of relief work suitable to the season of the year have been authorised; medical assistance has been provided; arrangements for the collection and record of trustworthy information have been initiated; the despatch of a large quantity of paddy to the distressed tract has been ordered: and the expenditure required for these various forms of relief has been unhesitatingly sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor in full reliance on Sir John Edgar's judgment after his local investigation. The report submitted by the Personal Assistant for the period he held charge, and the first diary up to the 11th August, forwarded by Mr. Brownfield, who now has general control of the relief works in Angul, showed that the distress had reached a degree of severity which should never have been permitted by the local officers. They indicate, moreover, how much more difficult it is to overtake a famine which has been allowed to get out of hand than to prevent starvation by timely measures. Mr. Brownfield's diary brings out some important points: he had at the Jagannathpur relief centre found that certain Pans, though capable of working, had refused to do any labour; and at Angul, of the 1,400 recipients of gratuitous relief, 400, principally children, were in a very bad state, and "had evidently been starving for days before the relief operations had been started." Special arrangements were being made for the children whose relief rations, it was alleged, had been consumed by their parents. A later diary shows that the distress is being brought well under control. Further enquiries tend to corroborate the statement already recorded that, through want of seed grain and money loans between February and May, only half the area usually cultivated has been planted for the sarad crop, but more land is daily being taken up. The distribution of rice to the centres is in active progress and arrangements have been made to prevent the abuse of gratuitous relief by well-to-do applicants and labourers, and the withdrawal of labour from the fields. The required information for each village is being collected. The irregularities inevitable at the outset, when measures are taken suddenly which ought to have been gradually introduced, are being checked. By the 15th August there were in the estate 3,478 persons in receipt of gratuitous relief and 691 employed on relief works. These accounts fully corroborate the unfavourable impression left on the Lieutenant-Governor's mind by a perusal of Sir John Edgar's several notes and reports. On the other hand, the hopeful feature of the case is that juar, makai, and other early crops will soon afford subsistence. With regard to the winter rice crop, it is impossible to say more at present than that it depends entirely on the rainfall of the ensuing months. Until the saradh crop is assured, His Honour cannot anticipate any material improvement in the situation, and should it again fail, it may be necessary, as Sir John Edgar intimates, to undertake operations for the relief of the cultivating classes on a much larger scale than hitherto.

5. In addition to the special relief measures now being carried out in Angul, Sir John Edgar recommends that no attempt should be made for at least three years to enforce the terms of the settlement of this estate, which is now nearly completed, and that even then the proposed increase to the rental should not be demanded immediately, but that it should be spread over at least five years. His reasons are that the resources of the people have been weakened by many causes, among which must be reckoned the operations of the survey and settlement themselves, the people allowing their poorer lands to go out of cultivation in order to escape the assessment likely to be imposed on them. Sir John Edgar also considers that our system of survey and settlement, with its elaborate measurement and classification of soils, is unsuited to a people in the backward condition of the Angul cultivators. It is probable that in the long run the fixing of rents on a stable basis, and the record of rights which goes hand in hand with a settlement, will more than compensate for the inconveniences and worry connected with the process, provided always that the rates are not too high, and too great a leap is not made in the substitution of the new assessment for the old one. The correspondence in the possession of Government shows that though at one time, before the proceedings were commenced, a considerable enhancement of the rental of the estate was suggested by the local authorities, this proposal did not find favour with the Board or Government, as it was thought that the large increase of rent expected from the assessment of the increased cultivated area, which is said to have trebled since the last settlement in 1855, would be sufficient. It was anticipated that the settlement work would be of a comparatively simple character, and that no serious complications regarding enhancement of rates were likely to arise. The supervision and control of the proceedings are in the hands of the Director of Land Records under the Board of Revenue. The latest information before Government is contained in paragraph 102 of the Board's Land Revenue Report for 1888-89, which refers to 394 out of the 627 villages of the estate as follows:—

"The rentals of these 394 villages, according to the present settlement, amount to Rs. 69,127, while, according to the previous settlement, they aggregated only Rs. 25,723, so that an increase in revenue of Rs. 43,404 can be obtained by assessment of newly-cultivated lands at the current rates. The rents of these newly-cultivated lands were appropriated by the sarbarakars during the period of the last settlement, and the increase in revenue will not, therefore, necessarily involve an increase in rents now actually paid by the ryots. An increase of Rs. 60,000 may be obtained on the whole estate by assessment of newly-cultivated lands at existing rates, but it will probably have to be made progressive and extended over a period of years."

A leap from Rs. 25,723 to Rs. 69,127, even though the rates have not been increased, is clearly greater than the cultivators of Angul in their present reduced state could bear, and the Board have already recognised this in their suggestion that the increase should be made progressive and extended over a period of years. Sir John Edgar's recommendation does not differ in principle from the above proposal, and seems to be fully justified by the circumstances of the case. It will, however, be referred to the Board of Revenue, who will doubtless consult the Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals and the Director of Land Records, but it is to be clearly understood that this is an urgent question, the consideration of which must not be unnecessarily delayed.

6. Sir John Edgar's remarks on the undue weakness of the present arrangements for administering Angul have the Lieutenant-Governor's full concurrence. His suggestions as to the direction in which the administration should be strengthened are already under consideration in connection with a larger scheme for administering portions of the Tributary Mehals which are under our direct management, but the suggestion that the entire management of Angul in all departments should be placed under the Political Department of the Bengal Secretariat will be carried out at once.

7. The information given by Sir John Edgar regarding the Tributary Mehals is fuller than that which was summarised in the Resolution of the 16th August on the scarcity in Daspalla and certain other of these States. It is satisfactory that no anxiety is felt about Mohurbhunj, Nilgiri, Keonjhur, Pal Lahera, Dhenkanal, and Angul: but, as a precaution, an Assistant Superintendent of Police is to be deputed to make enquiries in Keonjhur. Hindole is probably in a worse condition than any of the States north of the Mahanuddy river, and the accounts received were so meagre that the Personal Assistant, Baboo Kali Pada Mookerjee, was directed to visit it and give advice to the Raja. Some action has been taken on his advice in the direction of opening more relief centres, and two centres for gratuitous relief, but the arrangements were still considered defective and the measures inadequate, and the Superintendent has desired the Raja to undertake additional relief operations. The Superintendent should arrange, if he has not already done so, for a better inspection of Talchere than Mr. Patton made. The general condition of the people is said to have improved, and the relief measures adopted are considered sufficient. The fuller reports received from Athmullick corroborate the very favourable opinion which the Lieutenant-Governor has already formed of the Raja's administration under very critical circumstances, and which has already received the acknowledgments of the Government of India. Sir John Edgar was not satisfied with the adequacy of the relief measures in Nursinghpore, but the Examiner of Local Accounts, who happens to be there on special duty, reports the absence of any serious suffering. The Superintendent's last report indicates no deficiency of relief, but the local stocks are exhausted, and the demand is supplied from Sumbulpore. In Baramba sufficient measures have been taken by the Manager to relieve the existing distress. The mortality from cholera in Tigeriah has already been noticed as having been enormous, and small-pox also has been very prevalent. The resources of the State have been exhausted, and a Government loan taken, but the opening of the forests is considered to have been the most effectual concession. It is noteworthy that the Raja and his uncle declare that there has not been a single death from starvation. Fuller information should be furnished regarding this State.

8. The States south of the Mahanuddy have suffered much more severely from scarcity than those on the north. The information from Boad is not trustworthy; and though this State has been more than once inspected by Government officers and advice freely given, the Rajah and his Dewan have not, until lately, appeared to be alive to the exigencies of the situation. Thus, though a loan of Rs. 10,000 was applied for in February, and sanctioned at once it was not drawn till May. The Superintendent has been desired to instruct the officer deputed again to inspect this State, to furnish correct statistics and complete information as to the state of the people, which are awaited by the Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. Dundas' diary up to the 25th August contains but little information. The latest accounts betoken improvements in the prospects of the crops and in the conduct of relief measures, but in His Honour's opinion the position of this State is critical and will require careful watching on the part of the Superintendent. The State of Daspalla has been dealt with at some length in the Resolution of 16th August. The information received up to the 25th of that month is too fragmentary, though it confirms the view previously adopted of the insufficiency of the measures taken. The further report called for from the Superintendent on the conduct of the Raja and the condition of this State is still awaited. The Superintendent will report the course of action he recommends. In Khandpara the distress has been very great, and relief measures have not been adequate. The Raja appears to have made no real attempt to provide suitable relief for the landless classes and aboriginal tribes. It seems doubtful whether the Raja and his Dewan can be relied upon to act upon the advice given to them. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to be informed of the results of the recent enquiries made by Mr. Faussett in this State, especially with reference to the sufficiency of the relief measures in progress. In Nyagurh the new Raja is young and inexperienced; the earlier attempts to carry out relief measures were made with such doubtful success that there was much cause for anxiety. Mr. Faussett found some portion of the State in a worse condition than other parts. The people were very hopeful about the coming harvests. Instructions have been given for the opening of relief works wherever required to supplement agricultural labour. The State has been divided into six circles for the distribution of gratuitous relief. The later accounts of this State are on the whole more satisfactory. In Runpore the conditions seem much more favourable, and the Dewan, Baboo Gour Chunder Sen, appears to be doing good work. Rice is sold at certain centres at rates fixed by him with a view to keep down prices.

Briefly, the four States—Boad, Khandpara, Nyagurh, and Daspalla—will, for some time to come, require the Superintendent's special attention, and should be constantly inspected by his subordinates. Their immediate future depends on the results of the coming harvest, and it will be necessary, should this fail, to consider the method of treatment to be adopted towards them, with special reference to the large financial responsibilities which the preservation of human life through prolonged scarcity must entail. At the same time the Superintendent should not relax his supervision over the other States, which are not at present in such difficulties as the four above named.

9. The weighty remarks recorded by Sir John Edgar on the aboriginal tribes and semi-hinduised castes in Orissa, who are generally classified as landless labourers, are not only full of melancholy interest, but are of the gravest concern to all responsible for the welfare and development of this Division. It is evident that, by the progress of cultivation and economic changes, these people have been reduced to a deplorable state of poverty, from which it will be a matter of extreme difficulty to rescue them, especially as any efforts in this

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 2744, dated Calcutta, the 19th August 1889.

From—JOHN EDGAR, K.C.I.E., C.S.I.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit a brief account of my recent tour in Orissa, with the result of the enquiries made into the condition of the districts of Cuttack and Pooree, the Mehal of Angul, and the southern group of the Tributary States. I have from time to time submitted detailed information on various points which have come to notice, and shall treat of these very briefly in the present report. Although some of the tracts to which this report refers are under the control of the Political Department of this Government, it seems most convenient to include them with the Regulation districts.

2. Outline of tour.—I left Chandbally on the 18th of July accompanied by Mr. Rhind, the Superintending Engineer of the Orissa Circle, who had come from Cuttack to meet me, and was, therefore, able to gain much information regarding the tracts commanded by the canals which we passed through on our way to Cuttack. I remained at Cuttack from the 19th to the 22nd, during which time I had interviews with all the officials and several non-official gentlemen, who gave me much information regarding the district. I also visited the jail, inspected the prisoners, and ascertained their antecedents, the places from which they had come, the nature of the crimes for which they had been convicted, and their condition of health on admission. My original intention was to proceed to Angul by the Sumbulpore road, which passes through that Mehal, but I found it almost impassable owing to the rise of the streams, of which there were said to be no less than twenty-five between Cuttack and Angul. The Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals, therefore, proposed that we should attempt the ascent up the Mahanuddy by a steam-launch, though it seemed very doubtful whether this was practicable, as no steamer had ever been up the river before, as the navigation was supposed to be dangerous owing to rocks and shoals, and as it was thought more than probable that the steam-launch could not make head against the current of the river in flood. The Superintendent was, however, confident that we should succeed, and we started on the 23rd. On the 24th we met the Manager of Baramba, a State situated on the Mahanuddy, the Chief of which is a minor, and which is therefore administered under the direction of the Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals. On the morning of the 25th we reached Kantillo, in the Khandpara State, which is the largest town and the chief mart in the Tributary Mehals. Here we disembarked, and after carefully inspecting the town, or rather cluster of villages, we were met by the Chief of Khandpara and his Dewan. Subsequently, in the course of the day, we met the Manager of Nursingpore, a State situated higher up the river. We anchored for the night at Barmul, a village in the Daspalla State at the entrance of the narrow and picturesque Barmul pass, and took the opportunity of making detailed enquiries into the state of the village and the surrounding country, where we had heard that there was severe distress. Early next morning we landed at Thikarpara in the Angul district, and proceeded thence through low hills, most of which were covered with thick jungle, to the village of Angul, 24 miles distant, which is the head-quarters of the tehsildar. Here we remained till the morning of the 29th, making enquiries into the state of the people and arrangements for the relief of the distressed. We returned to Thikarpara that afternoon. On the 30th we went up the river to the State of Boad and landed at a point near Horbhonga, a place where we had arranged to meet the Rajah of Boad and his Dewan. After our interview with them, we then crossed the river and landed at a place called Oloto in the State of Athmullick where we met the Chief. On our return the same day we met the Dewan of Daspalla near a village called Nangulkanta in the Daspalla State. I landed there and spent the afternoon inspecting that village and two others named Belpara and Gunma situated further inland. Next morning, i.e., the 31st, we continued our downward route, meeting on the way the Managers of Nursingpore and Baramba, and the Rajah of Khandpara, and finally reached Banki, where we landed and had interviews with the Rajah of Tigeriah, his uncle and nephew, and with the Tehsildar of Banki. We reached Cuttack that evening. On the 3rd of August I left Cuttack for Khoorda, and spent the day in enquiring into the state of that sub-division. On the 4th I went across to Pipli, and thence to Pooree, where I halted on the 5th and 6th, returning to Cuttack on the 7th and to Chandbally on the 8th. In putting together the information collected during this tour, it will be convenient not to deal with the tracts in the order in which they were visited, but to take up first the Regulation districts of Cuttack and Pooree; secondly, the politically administered tracts of Angul and the Khondmals; and thirdly, the Tributary States.

3. Cuttack.—I did not find any indication of distress in the Regulation portion of the Cuttack district. The price of grain is undoubtedly high throughout the district, and I have no doubt that before the rains set in there must have been considerable pressure on the aboriginal and semi-hinduized tribes who form the majority of the landless labouring classes throughout Orissa. But when I was in the district, labour was plentiful, and all the people whom I saw seemed to be in good condition. The Revd. Messrs. Bayley and Young of the Baptist Mission told me that there was considerable amount of pressure on the poorer classes, not amounting to actual distress, but they drew a sharp contrast between this pressure and the severe distress which they knew prevailed in Ganjam, where they also have missions, and which they heard existed in Angul. The opinions of these gentlemen were supported by Mr. Mudhusudan Dass and other gentlemen of local experience and knowledge, and received much support from the jail statistics and condition of the convicts on admission. The condition of the people in some villages of the Banki sub-division is not, however, so good as in the rest of the district, as we learned from the tehsildar when we were at his head-quarters. Subsequently, however, the Officiating Collector visited the affected part of Banki, and found that the distress was not of a severe character and was confined to a comparatively few families of the aborigines and semi-hinduised castes. Measures, which I consider fully adequate, are being taken to relieve what distress exists there, and will be reported in due course by the Commissioner of Orissa. The prospect of this year's crops seems good throughout the district. The early rice, marwa, and Indian-corn are splendid, and the later rice, known as the saradh crop, is most promising. It was pointed out by the Canal Officers that the system of sowing this rice broadcast has been to a great extent superseded this year by the more careful and productive method of transplantation. On my journey to Cuttack there were some complaints of deficient rainfall in the neighbourhood of Kendrapara. On my way back I found that in the interim there had been a very favourable rainfall, and the crops on the high land as well as on the low land looked all that could be desired.

4. Pooree.—The state of things in the Khoorda sub-division in the Pooree district offers a most agreeable contrast to what is described in the reports of the corresponding period of last year, and seemed to me not only to fully justify the view then taken by the Local Officers, but to bear ample testimony to the judgment and efficiency with which relief measures had been devised and carried out. I have never seen finer crops than those in the country which I passed through between Cuttack and Khoorda and between Khoorda and Pipli. The people were in excellent condition and evidently satisfied with their prospects, and I was very much struck with the superiority of their cattle to those I had just seen in the Tributary States The Tehsildar, Rai Bhagobuty Mahanta Bahadoor, was, however, of opinion that, although there was no pressure when I visited the place, there were slight signs of distress, which was likely to last till the end of September, among the aborigines and semi-hinduised castes living in the more jungly parts of the country. But I found that, in order to meet this, preparations are being made for works to be carried on out of the District and Estates Improvement Funds. The tehsildar was confident that this would be sufficient, and considering his great experience and sagacity, I found no difficulty in accepting his view. He urged very strongly, however, the necessity of altering the forest arrangements in favour of the aboriginal and semi-hinduised castes who are greatly dependent for subsistence upon jungle products, firewood-cutting, charcoal-burning, &c., and told me that, although the rules had been nominally relaxed there was still much oppression and unauthorised interference by the lower subordinates. I shall deal with this subject more fully hereafter. The appearance of the crops between Pipli and Pooree was almost as fine as in the Khoorda sub-division, and there was the same absence of indications of distress. The impressions received by me during the journey were confirmed by the appearance of the people in jail, and the nature of the offences of which they had been convicted. I found, too, on analysing the recipients of the alms granted in connection with the Temple of Juggurnath, that there were among them few natives of the Pooree district except professional beggars. The recipients of relief, who were not habitual beggars, had mainly come from Khandpara and other Tributary States. There were, however, a few natives of those parts of Banki and the Khoorda sub-division, in which, as stated above, I had heard that some distress existed. The Collector had just returned from the small tract forming the estates of Parakood Mallud and Bajrakote lying between the Chilka lake and the sea, where he found that, though the landless labourers had got ample labour now in the field, they are likely to be hard pressed during the latter portion of this month and the whole of September. He is therefore preparing work for them on roads and embankments, the expenditure on which will probably be met from the District Road Fund, or the Estates Improvement Fund, with the exception of one item of Rs. 1,400, which the Collector thought could not be legally made chargeable to the above funds. I told him that if this should be the case the amount would be granted from the Provincial revenues. It is worth noticing here that there has been, and still is, a brisk exportation of rice from the Pooree district to Gangpore, 17,000 maunds having been exported in July. I was assured by competent persons that the landholders have as a rule held on to their stocks of rice, but that those of the trading class are very low. It does not seem that this will do much harm should there be a good harvest this year.

I was very much pleased with the interest the Officiating Collector, Mr. Nunda Krishna Bose, took in the condition of the people and the grasp he had acquired of the affairs of the district during the short time that he has been in charge of it.

5. The Khondmals.—The Assistant Superintendent has recently submitted a most interesting and valuable report on the state of the Khondmals, which was reviewed in a Resolution of the 6th August last. I need not therefore write in any detail about this tract, particularly as I was unable to visit it. I have, however, discussed the subject very thoroughly with the Assistant Superintendent, and have come to the conclusion that one great lesson which the course of events in the present year ought to teach us is the importance of not restricting, more than we can possibly help, the free use of the forests of Orissa by the aboriginal and semi-hinduised tribes which form a very large portion of its inhabitants. There can be no doubt that the failure of crops in the Khondmals was during the last year as great as in other parts of Orissa. There was the same want of rain in the early part of the present year, and there was also failure of the mango and mohul crops. Notwithstanding this, it is clear that there has been less pressure in the Khondmals than in the States which adjoin them, and that the condition of the people is very much better. A careful consideration of Baboo Nund Kishore's report, and the information which I elicited from him in conversation, have satisfied me that the above satisfactory state of things is in great part due to the fact that the forests in the Khondmals are not either reserved or protected, and that the people were able to fall back on the supplies of game, edible roots, wild fruit, and the other innumerable products which contribute so largely to the means of subsistence of the tribes who inhabit the hilly portion of our frontier, whether in Orissa, or Chota Nagpore, or the Chittagong Hill

Tracts, or the Himalayas. It is also to be observed that the Khondmals is one of the very few tracts in Orissa, where the aboriginal tribes have been able to maintain their connection with the soil.

6. Angul.—Up to the year 1847 Angul was one of the Tributary States, but in that year it was confiscated owing to the attempt of the Raja to wage war against this Government. Though it has been for so many years included in British territory, the system of administration has been much more simple than that adopted even in the non-regulation districts. The whole administration is in the hands of a tehsildar, who receives small pay, and is, as a rule, inferior in most respects to officers placed in charge of sub-divisions in Bengal. He is under the supervision of the Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals, but the distance of Angul from Cuttack, from which it is separated by two tributary States, the difficulty of getting to it, and the length of time necessary for the journey, must lessen considerably the efficiency of such supervision. Lately a field survey of the cultivated portion of the district has been completed, and a revision of the settlement is in progress. The greater portion of the uncultivated tracts has been reserved for forest purposes. The area of these reserves amounts to at least 280 square miles out of 881 square miles, the total area of Angul. The population at the last census is shown as 110,000, out of which 23,000 were aborigines and semi-hinduised tribes. It appears that there has not been a good harvest of winter rice during the last four years, while that of 1887-88 is stated to have been on the average not more than six annas, and that of 1888-89 not more than eight annas. Considerable distress was reported in the autumn of 1888, and some measures of relief were adopted, the most important of which seems to me to have been the relaxation of the forest rules; but a copious fall of rain in September so improved the condition of things that measures of relief were gradually discontinued, except that the Forest Rules were not reinforced. In spite of this rain, however, the crop was an indifferent one as mentioned above, while it appears that a large portion of the higher lands had been left untilled: the cultivators say that the cause was their want of means, but it has been alleged that the real reason is connected with the settlement operations now in progress. In the beginning of April this year, the tehsildar, in consequence of a call for information made by Government, reported to the Superintendent that the partial failure of last year's rice crop and of the mango crop of this year had begun to tell upon the condition of the landless labourers, who were not being engaged for agricultural purposes as usual, and had begun to emigrate to the neighbouring State of Dhenkanal. It does not appear that this report was received by Government. On the 20th of April the tehsildar reported an outbreak of cholera at the head-quarters, which had interrupted the import of rice, and mentioned that emigration still continued. Subsequently there was some official and demi-official correspondence on the same subject, and on the 9th of May the tehsildar proposed to undertake works to be defrayed from the Estate Improvement Fund as relief measures. On the 14th of May the Superintendent asked him to submit a list of works with a rough estimate for each. On the 18th of May the required statement was submitted, and the sum of Rs. 1,000 was asked for. On the 20th the tehsildar asked that rice of the value of Rs. 1,000 should be sent instead of money. On the 29th he again reported that the proposals made by him in his letters of the 18th and 20th were insufficient, and asked for Rs. 3,000 for relief works, Rs. 2,000 for gratuitous relief, and Rs. 5,000 for tuccavi advances. On receipt of this, the Superintendent on the 5th of June reported the matter to Government, and also authorised the tehsildar to commence operations out of the 10 per cent. fund, sending him a thousand rupees worth of rice in anticipation of the sanction of Government. This sanction was conveyed to the Superintendent by a telegram immediately on receipt of this letter, which was practically the first information received by Government of the gravity of the situation in Angul, although the Superintendent had mentioned in reports of 27th and 29th of May that the condition of the landless classes was bad. On the 17th June the Superintendent reported that paddy and rice were selling at 16 and 8 seers per rupee, that no relief had been given during the past fortnight, that people were emigrating to the neighbouring States, and that deaths from cholera had been reported. Upon this the Lieutenant-Governor telegraphed that a supply of grain should be sent to Angul, sufficient for relief and payment in kind to people employed on works, and that a special officer should be appointed, if necessary, to supervise transport of rice and see to relief in Angul. On the 19th of June the Superintendent submitted reports from the tehsildar, in which that officer appeared to consider the distress to be less severe than had been represented in his previous letters, and the Superintendent expressed a hope that we now had heard the last of impending famine. The Government, however, did not accept this view, and in a letter of 27th June urged the necessity for effective preparations to give relief until the middle of September, pointing out that the circumstances detailed in the letter "constitute a situation in which it is desirable to be ready to afford great assistance." In the same letter a doubt was expressed as to the sufficiency of the estimates made by the local authorities of their requirements, and the arrangements made for the supply of food. The Superintendent was also asked whether he required any assistance for the proper and sufficient organization and carrying out of relief measures in Angul. On the 25th of June the Superintendent submitted a letter in which he expressed his belief that the present distress in Angul was due more to pauperism than famine, provisions being in sufficient quantity, but a certain class of people having no means of purchasing. He also stated that the cholera had tended to cut off Angul from the usual supplies from other States which would ordinarily have flowed in. It appeared from a letter of the tehsildar's enclosed in this report that the number of deaths from cholera from the middle of April to the middle of June had been 1,488. Upon this the Superintendent was informed in a letter of the 2nd July that the Lieutenant-Governor would be happy to believe that there was a sufficiency of food in Angul, but that no foundation could be found for such an assumption in the tehsildar's report, and that it could not be reconciled with the facts reported; while special stress was laid upon the enormous number of deaths returned as due to cholera. Instructions were again issued that rice should be imported in sufficient quantity for gratuitous relief and payment in kind for all works, and the immediate attention of the Superintendent directed to the necessity of ascertaining the requirements of the Mehal. On the 4th July the Superintendent received permission, which he had asked for on the 2nd, to send his Personal Assistant to Angul to gather information, and, if he should see distress as widespread as reported, to organize relief on a more efficient basis; and if, on the other hand, he found the tehsildar's proposals sufficient, to see that they were efficiently carried out.

8. On the 16th of July the Personal Assistant submitted a report, showing the result of the enquiries made since his arrival at Angul. Up to the date of his letter he had visited about 51 villages in the tract adjoining the head-quarters, and had made calculations for the whole district based on the information received by him in these villages. He estimated that out of 24,000 people belonging to the aboriginal and semi-hinduised tribes, 8,000 had emigrated, and that 6,000 more were entirely destitute. He calculated also that about 4,000 Hindus belonging to the agricultural classes, including women and children, were in such distress that they would not be able to cultivate their lands and to subsist till the next crop unless they received help. At the same time he considered that a still larger number of these classes felt the pressure of high prices, although they were not in such distress as those mentioned above. He believed that the main cause of this distress had been a failure of crops during the previous years, but he also thought that it was partly due to the cultivators having exported in the early part of the year in the expectation of prices falling later on, in which case they would have been able to replace their stocks at a profit. Prices, however, had risen with disastrous consequences to the speculators, while the mahajans had found it more profitable to sell their stores of rice than to advance them to cultivators. The Personal Assistant stated that the total number of deaths from cholera reported by the police up to the 15th July had been 1,910, while the police had reported 147 deaths from starvation. I give these figures as received from the Personal Assistant, but it is necessary to state that all the enquiries which I made while at Angul led me to doubt the complete accuracy of generalizations made for the whole district from data obtained from a comparatively small locality. I have now taken particular care to have careful enquiries made and correct figures collected in every village and the result reported to Government.

9. Baboo Kalipodo Mookerjee found that the measures for relief taken before his arrival had been quite inadequate. Tuccavi advances had been given in an unintelligent manner, and had been quite insufficient in amount. The relief works were inadequate and unsuited to the condition of the people. Gratuitous relief was insufficient in quantity. There was an entire want of system in its distribution, and there was little or no supervision. I visited three out of the nine relief centres which existed at the time of my arrival in Angul, and I came precisely to the same conclusions as the Personal Assistant. But even before our arrival at Angul, the latter had been able to effect many improvements, and before we left the Superintendent drew up a complete scheme of relief measures which I considered sufficient for the present, and which the Personal Assistant has been left at Angul to bring into operation. As these relief measures have been fully described in the Resolution of the 16th August 1889, it is not necessary for me to repeat them here, but it may be well to explain that it may be necessary to extend them and supplement them in various ways, and to continue them beyond the period fixed in the estimates. As already stated, it will be the main duty of Mr. Brownfield, who is in charge of the relief works, to collect full information about every one of the 507 villages borne on the rent-roll, and if the information collected by him should show any defects in the relief measures now proposed, such defects will be remedied immediately. The rainfall in Angul has hitherto not been absolutely insufficient, but has been so partial and capricious in character that we cannot be free from anxiety about it for the next two months at least. Again, there is very considerable doubt as to the area actually cultivated with rice, and I have found it impossible to reconcile conflicting accounts received by me on this head. If there should be any considerable deficiency or failure of the winter rice this year, we must be prepared to grant aid to the cultivating classes of a much more substantial character than we have done hitherto. It must be remembered that the inhabitants of this Mehal have had four bad seasons, and that their resources had also been injuriously affected by the operations of the Forest Department as well as by a survey and settlement conducted on principles which, in the most favourable circumstances, would have been in my opinion unsuited to a wild, inaccessible, and uncivilized tract like Angul. In addition, therefore, to the special relief measures now being carried out, I would recommend that no attempt should be made for at least three years to enforce the terms of the settlement which is now nearly completed, and that even then the proposed increase to the rental should not be demanded immediately, but that it should be spread over at least five years. I shall have more to say on the subject of the forests in a subsequent portion of this report, and I shall also deal later on with the possibility of effecting some permanent improvement in the condition of the aboriginal and semi-hinduised tribes. Before leaving the subject of Angul, I feel bound to represent that the present system of administration is wholly inadequate to the needs of the tract, which, however, is too small and poor to justify its being formed into a separate district, and is too far away from Cuttack and too inaccessible to be treated as a sub-division of that district. At the same time I think that some arrangement might be made to give the Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals an Assistant, who should reside for at least a greater part of the year at Angul, supervise and guide the proceedings of the tehsildar stationed there, and in addition possibly exercise a general supervision over the police arrangements of the Tributary Chiefs on both sides of the Mahanuddy. It might also be desirable to place the entire management of Angul, in revenue as well as judicial matters, under the Political Department of this Government. These last suggestions, however, are merely put forward tentatively, and are not meant to be taken as matured proposals. The question can be advantageously considered in connection with the proposals for re-arranging jurisdictions in the Tributary States, which Mr. Staley has just submitted.

10. Northern Tributary States.—I was not able to visit the States of Mohurbhunj, Nilgiri, Keonjhur, Pal Lehera, Dhenkanal, and Atgarh, but from the outset we had felt no anxiety about these States, and there is no reason to suppose that serious distress has appeared in any one of them. The Manager of Mohurbhunj reports that there is no cause for anxiety, and we may, I think, trust to his vigilance and activity. Nilgiri is undoubtedly in a very flourishing condition. Keonjhur is one of the most remote and inaccessible of all the States, but the Rajah, who is said to be a very capable administrator, reports that all is well. The Superintendent, however, is about to send one of the Assistant Superintendents of Police who have been placed at his disposal to visit the State and make sure that there is no distress among the aborigines who form nearly half of the population. Pal Lehera and Dhenkanal have been supplying grain to Angul from the State granaries. The Managers of both States report that there is no distress, and this has been confirmed from independent sources. The Rajah of Atgarh, who visited me in Cuttack, assured me that his people were very prosperous, and I have no reason to doubt the accuracy of his statement.

11. Hindole and Talchere.—Of the remaining States north of the river Mahanuddy, Hindole is probably in the worst condition. The reports which reached me about it when I was in Angul were very bad, and the Superintendent deputed Mr. Patten, Assistant Superintendent of Police, to visit the State, and ascertain what steps should be taken to relieve the distress. A report has just been received from him, which, however, contains no information of value, and the Superintendent has requested his Personal Assistant, Baboo Kalipodo Mookerjee, to visit the State on his way back to Cuttack from Angul, and give the Rajah any advice that may be necessary. The Dewan of the State came to see me at Cuttack, and assured me that they were doing all that was required. I warned him very seriously of the grave consequences which would be entailed by any neglect on his part and that of the Rajah to do their duty to their people. I trust that he has taken this lesson to heart, but am very much afraid that the relief measures hitherto adopted have been inadequate. Talchere is in a better condition, and I remarked that the reports which reached me in Angul were much more favourable than those received by the Superintendent from the Rajah. Mr. Patten visited the State after his inspection of Hindole, but the Superintendent reports that the information given by him is vague and general. I trust that a more useful inspection may shortly be made.

12. Athmullick.—The Athmullick State has been described as a dense jungle, with little cultivation and no trade. It is the most sparsely populated of all the Tributary States. Its inhabitants are very poor, and so is the Chief, whose land revenue is estimated to be not more than Rs. 7,000 a year. The people have probably suffered as severely as those of any other State by the failure of crops in recent years. In spite of all this, owing to the admirable management of the Rajah, who has devoted himself personally to the work of relieving distress during the past two years, the scarcity has been less felt in this State than in any other of those affected.

The following extract from a note recorded by the Assistant Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals, after inspection of Athmullick made last month, is so interesting that I have been tempted to reproduce it here :—

When signs of distress became apparent, the first thing the Rajah did was a census of the people according to their trades and professions. This census was taken in December last, and the list then prepared is kept correct up to date ; the duty of reporting changes for the purpose of correcting the census list was at first entrusted to village surbarakars, but they did not do it well, and since the beginning of June the Killa has been divided into 15 circles, and to each circle an intelligent and educated surbarakar has been posted, whose duty amongst other matters is to report the number of deaths and of emigrations and immigrations at the end of each fortnight. From these lists it appears that there are altogether 5,234 houses in the Killa ; 3,163 of cultivators, 1,177 of day-labourers, and 894 of others, including artisans and handicraftsmen of all sorts. It also appears from those lists that since April last cholera has appeared and carried off 83 persons ; 20 have died for want of food, of whom six were the residents of the Killa, and the rest immigrants from other States. Small-pox appeared in March in one or two villages, but there were no deaths from it. There have been altogether 18 emigrations and 279 immigrations. I do not hesitate to accept these figures as generally correct, and as evidence of the Rajah's intelligent interest in his people.

The Rajah informs me that on the first appearance of distress the village headmen were directed to send to him at the State expense all starving persons they found within their respective villages. This, however, they failed to do regularly, and during his tour he found in one village that two children had died of starvation. On further enquiry a few more deaths from starvation appeared to have occurred in some other villages. The defaulting surbarakars were punished, and since June last every surbarakar has been bound down under recognizance to send down such persons without fail. Twenty destitute persons are now kept in a poor-house at the head-quarters, but there are, besides, other beggars in the interior who are supported by private charity and do not therefore wish to come to the poor-house.

As regards deaths from cholera, the Rajah is of opinion that it may partly be due to want of food and bad water, but the chief cause was the want of rain and unprecedentedly excessive heat, which in those parts I find is still very great, and contrasts in a very marked degree with the present cool temperature of the Khondmals.

The State has suffered from two successive bad seasons; otherwise the partial failure of the last harvest alone would not have caused much anxiety. The people expected to be able to make up with the last season's crop the loss they had sustained in the previous season, but when that became an indifferent one State relief became necessary.

Before the commencement of the present calendar year relief was given to the following extent:—

	Rs.
Grain advances	3,824
Cash „	742
Gratuitous relief	290
Relief works	471
Advance for cutting timbers	700
Total ...	6,027

Since the beginning of January relief has up to date been given to the following extent:—

	Rs.
Grain advances	6,752
Cash „	4,723
Gratuitous relief	2,240
Relief works	3,895
Advance to weavers	267
Total ...	17,877

During the last year Rs. 5,000 worth of rice was purchased and kept in store, and during the present year further purchases for Rs. 3,167 were made. These have been and are now being sold at market rates, and Rs. 989 worth of rice has been sold on credit to those who had no present means to pay.

The failure of the last rice crop was not very great. It is estimated that on the whole there was a ten annas crop, though it widely differed in different parts of the State; but the failure of what is called the Baji Fasals (miscellaneous crops) with which about $\frac{6}{16}$ths of the arable lands is cultivated was far more serious, the loss being estimated at $\frac{12}{16}$ths of the whole, and this, coupled with the fact that there had been a short crop in the previous year, has been productive of misery.

Notwithstanding this, the condition of the landholders is not bad; the timely advances made by the Rajah have hitherto enabled them to pull through, but, as is usual in times of such calamity, it is the landless classes, the day-labourers, weavers and other handicraftsmen, that suffer most. They have, however, found employment in the State relief works, and the State advances to cultivators have also procured for them work in the fields. The monsoon rains set in in the latter part of June, and for a time agricultural operations were actively in progress, and people were beginning to be reassured; but for about ten days, up to the 14th instant, when I returned from that side, there had been no rain, and this was again causing anxiety. If the present season is ordinarily favourable, I have no fear for this State. The Rajah knows that it is to his own interests to save his people from starvation and death, and he tells me that he has assured his people that if need be he would sell everything he has to buy food for them. He freely mixes with all classes of people, personally enquires into their condition and gives relief when it is needed, and there could be no better evidence of his intelligent conduct in the matter than this, that in the surrounding States it is considered by all classes as exemplary.

All that came to my knowledge during my visit to the Tributary Mehals, and my meeting with the Rajah, strengthened the favourable impression created by the above account, and I trust that the Government will see its way to recognise in an adequate manner the conduct of the Rajah. When I was in Athmullick much anxiety was felt for the rainfall, as there had been only very slight showers for ten days previously, while heavy rain had fallen in the adjacent tracts; but the Superintendent has just written to say that since that date the Mahanuddy has twice risen considerably, thereby indicating general rain in the Tributary States.

13. Nursingpore, Baramba and Tigeriah.—Nursingpore, a small State, with an area of 189 square miles, and a population of 13,183, is under the direct administration of the Superintendent in consequence of the minority of the present Chief. At one time there was a considerable amount of distress in this State, and about a thousand persons were employed on the relief works before the rains set in, after which time they betook themselves to the fields. Three thousand five hundred maunds of paddy and rice had been advanced to the cultivators up to the date of our visit. Rs. 512 had been advanced to weavers, in return for which they were to supply cloth at market rates. About 300 people were receiving gratuitous relief in the shape of cooked food and about 250 in money. The Manager estimates that the relief expenditure is not likely to exceed Rs. 11,000, towards which the State will receive a loan of Rs. 6,000 from Government. I did not feel altogether satisfied that the relief measures in this State were adequate. However, Baboo Bhootnath Mozumdar, the Examiner of Local Accounts, a very intelligent Bengali gentleman, who had been for a considerable time employed on inspection duty in this State, assured me that he had visited every portion of it, and had not found serious distress anywhere. The prospects of the crops are fairly good, and the price of rice has been steadily falling for some time. The adjoining State of Baramba is still smaller, having an area of 134 square miles and a population of 29,772. Relief proceedings were first commenced in this State in August 1888, and the total amount spent up to the 31st July is Rs. 17,780, of which Rs. 9,654 have been spent during the present year. The measures taken seem sufficient to relieve the existing distress, and the Manager, who has shown considerable intelligence throughout the distress, hopes that all difficulty will be over by the end of October. The next State to Baramba is Tigeriah, which is the smallest of all the Tributary States, having an area of 46 square miles and a population of 19,850. The Rajah, who met me at Banki, seemed to take little part in the administration of the State, which is practically carried on by his uncle. They gave the following account of the measures adopted by them. From June 1888 to February 1889 they had advanced 1,600 maunds of paddy and Rs. 1,800 in cash. They had also induced mahajans to make advances, which they had shown much unwillingness to do, by promising them State aid to recover. I was told that these advances had been mainly made to weavers and other landless labourers. When the resources of the State were used up, a loan of Rs. 4,000 was obtained by Government, which had been also expended on relief: but the Rajah and his uncle considered the most effective measure taken by them was throwing open the forests—a concession which they emphatically assured me had benefited the people more than a gift of Rs. 5,000 would have done. The mortality from cholera in this little State has been enormous, 1,742 deaths having been reported in the four months from April to July, and 387 deaths from small-pox during the same period. The Rajah and his uncle declared that there had not been a single death from starvation.

14. Boad.—Turning to the States south of the Mahanuddy, the most westerly is Boad, with an area of about 1,200 square miles and a population of 71,144. The information available about the condition of this State is in many respects less full and trustworthy than that received from most other States. It was visited by the Assistant Superintendent in the beginning of last February. He then found that there had been bad harvests for the previous two years, that some lands had not even been ploughed for the winter crop of 1888-89, and that much of what had been ploughed had not been sown, while the crop on the actually cultivated lands appeared to be a very poor one. He then anticipated that there would be great suffering among the people later on in the present year, and stated that the Rajah and his officials estimated that seven-eighths of the people would need relief. Acting on the Superintendent's advice, the Rajah applied for a loan of Rs. 10,000 in February, which was at once sanctioned by Government, but the money was not drawn till May. At the end of June the Assistant Superintendent again visited the State, and found that the condition of the people was very bad, and that there had been a severe outbreak of cholera, which had led the Rajah to remove with his family from his ordinary residence to a place some miles off, where he was practically inaccessible to the people. He found that the relief works which had been opened were ill-chosen and of little use; that an attempt had been made to give gratuitous relief, but that it had been insufficient and badly organised; that advances, amounting to about Rs. 1,500, had been made in cash, paddy and seed-grain, but they had been made without system and by untrustworthy agency. The Assistant Superintendent urged upon the Dewan whom he met the necessity of adopting more effective measures for the relief of distress; and as the Rajah was prevented from meeting him by fear of cholera, the Assistant Superintendent wrote a letter containing much useful advice and suggestions about the measures to be adopted, and pointing out the responsibility of the Rajah towards his people, which the Government expected him to act up to. Subsequently the Assistant Superintendent again visited the State in the middle of July, and found that agricultural operations were at a standstill owing to a cessation of rain for eight or ten days, and that it was doubtful whether all the arable lands would be cultivated this year. He found that in one respect there was an improvement, as the Dewan was personally going about the interior, making advances in money and grain to the cultivators individually. He was also informed that Rs. 1,000 had been advanced to wood-cutters, and that some improvement had been made in the system of granting gratuitous relief. But apart from this no efficient means had been adopted to assist the aboriginal and semi-hinduised tribes, who were of course the severest sufferers during the scarcity. The Assistant Superintendent again urged on the Rajah the necessity of more active measures, and when we met him and his Dewan at Horbonga on the 30th of July, we found that each of them had taken a section of the State, and been personally making advances to the cultivators. They also assured me that the Rajah was lending his own plough cattle, of which he had great numbers, to those cultivators who had lost their own cattle. I was not satisfied, however, that adequate measures were being taken to relieve the aboriginal tribes, and I spoke most seriously to both Rajah and Dewan on the subject, telling them that the State would be visited and relief works inspected from time to time by European officers specially deputed for the purpose, and that if the measures taken were still found to be insufficient, the Government would find means to enforce their responsibility. We have not been able to obtain hitherto any trustworthy figures for this State, and I have asked the Superintendent to instruct the officer who is about to inspect it to make an attempt to collect correct statistics, as well as complete information as to the state of the people, especially those belonging to the aboriginal and semi-hinduised tribes. The crops seen by me while in this State looked promising, but the rainfall up to date has been more fitful and capricious than anywhere else, and on the whole I feel much anxiety about this State. Since my return from Orissa I have received telegraphic accounts of good rainfall, and of a marked improvement in the conduct of relief measures.

15. Daspalla.—I have already submitted full information about the severity of the distress in the northern part of Daspalla, and the inexcusable conduct of the Rajah in refusing either to give assistance himself, or to allow any other to assist, and it is not necessary for me to enlarge on the subject here; but I think it well to point out that, although it has been alleged that no distress exists in the south of the State, and possibly the condition of the people there may not be so deplorable as in the parts which I actually visited, still we have no reason to believe that there is no distress in the south, and there are some indications of its existence; and in fact a telegram has just been received from the Superintendent, in which he states that reports of distress in the hilly country to the south have begun to reach him, and that he has sent down the Dewan to make personal enquiries. The Superintendent, after I had left Cuttack, wrote to me that he did not consider a sum of Rs. 3,000, which had been sanctioned by the Government as a loan, would be sufficient to meet the immediate wants even of the tracts which we knew to be distressed, and I authorized him to send up Rs. 7,000 with the officer deputed by him.

16. Khandpara.—Khandpara, with an area of 244 square miles and a population of 66,296, is described by the Assistant Superintendent as being perhaps in greater distress than any of the neighbouring States. When he visited it in June, he found that considerable advances of paddy had been made by the Rajah to the cultivators, but that in many cases such advances had been refused to the landless classes. He found generally that little, if anything, had been done to assist the aboriginal and semi-hinduised tribes who form one-sixth of the total population; that no relief works worthy of the name had been opened, and that the arrangements for the supply of gratuitous relief were most inadequate. The Assistant Superintendent, both verbally and in writing, urged the Rajah to take proper relief measures, and told him that he would visit the State on his way back from the Khondmals, and report to the Superintendent what had been done. On his return he found that his advice had not been fully acted upon in any one particular, and that in most points it had been wholly neglected. His report on this subject reached the Superintendent as we were about to start for the Tributary States. While on our way to Angul, we landed at Kantillo in Khandpara, the largest town and the most important mart in the Tributary Mehals. Here we made a very careful inspection of the place, and I was rather surprised to find that all the people were in good condition and seemed well off. But they all belonged to Hindu castes, and we found that the Rajah had opened an annachhattra about eight miles off, which was said to be attended by upwards of 2,000 people belonging to the lower castes, and which had consequently drawn away all the distressed inhabitants of Kantillo. There were some people working on a small stone embankment in the neighbourhood, which had been undertaken as a relief work, but it did not seem to me well suited for the purpose, and I ascertained that no adequate attempts had been made to provide suitable labour for the aboriginal tribes. There seemed also reason to believe that the Rajah had not completely relaxed the rules excluding people from the use of forest produce. I urged on the Rajah the necessity of acting on the advice given to him by the Assistant Superintendent, and in private I stated very strongly to his Dewan the extreme dissatisfaction with which the Government would view their failure to provide adequate relief for the people, especially those belonging to the landless classes. I met the Rajah and his Dewan again in Kantillo on our return, and were assured by them that they were doing everything which they had been advised to do. I confess that I did not feel satisfied about this, and at my request Mr. Faussett of the Police Department has been deputed to make detailed enquiries into the condition of the State. Many circumstances which came to my knowledge while in Orissa indicated the severity of the distress among the aboriginal people of Khandpara, and, as mentioned in a previous paragraph, I found that great numbers of the recipients of the temple charities at Pooree were destitute wanderers from this State. But so far as I could make out this distress was almost wholly confined to aborigines and semi-hinduised people. It appeared to me that the Hindus, at least in the parts which I visited, were better off than in many of the other States.

17. Nayagarh and Runpore.—Two of the States south of the river were not personally visited by me. They are Nayagarh, with an area of 588 square miles and a population of 114,622, and Runpore, with an area of 203 square miles and a population of 36,539. Mr. Fraser, Sub-divisional Officer of Khoorda, was deputed to visit these States by the Superintendent in July, and he submitted reports on them, which have been supplemented in the last fortnightly report by the Superintendent. The predecessor of the present Rajah of Nayagarh has lately died, and the new Chief, who is young and inexperienced, appears to have done little to relieve the distress until he was invited to Cuttack by the Superintendent early in June, when relief measures were settled, and a loan of Rs. 15,000 was granted to him. Since then it would appear that the Rajah and his manager have tried to carry out the necessary measures, but I gather from Mr. Fraser's report that these are scarcely adequate to meet the distress, which is indicated by the facts reported by him to be very severe. It is clear to me from the report that there has been very much more distress than Mr. Fraser supposed among the aborigines and semi-hinduised tribes, which number about 17,000 in the State. Another fact which comes out vividly in the report is that the restrictions on the use of the forests by these wild tribes have told most seriously on their condition, and one cannot help feeling some doubt whether the amount of relief now afforded will suffice to carry them through the trying time which is now coming on. I reproduce here the last report on the condition of the State received from the Superintendent, and await Mr. Faussett's report with some anxiety:—

The general condition of the people is reported to be much better than what it was in the previous fortnight. The Rajah's Manager is now travelling in the interior of the State, and enquiring into the state of the people. He reports that he is trying his best to help the people. There were heavy falls of rain during the last fortnight. There is a great demand for labour in the rice fields. Transplantation is now in full progress, and has drawn away a large number of labourers from relief works, because the cultivators pay wages in paddy. The work of transplantation will probably be completed within a week or so, after which the labourers will return to the relief works. Some weak and emaciated persons are said to have died of tarvation, as they were prevented by heavy rains from seeking relief. Their number has not been ascertained.

The stock of paddy in the State has not been reported. The Manager reports that since rice (what quantity it is not stated) has been imported from Cuttack, prices have gone down. Rice is now sold at 11 seers a rupee instead of 10 seers, the rate at which it was being sold before 15th July.

Relief works.—Only a sum of Rs. 290-2 was spent on the road works, as a great many labourers left the works for working in the paddy fields.

Gratuitous relief.—There are two annachhatras, one at head-quarters and the other at Etamati, for distribution of cooked rice among weak and infirm persons. Four additional annachhatras have been opened at Mahipore, Sunamuhin, Sarankul and Godipara. The daily average attendance for relief at head-quarters annachhatra is 600, and 200 at each of the other five centres of relief. The total amount spent in gratuitous relief during the fortnight was Rs. 594-7.

Advances.—A sum of Rs. 1,320 was advanced to cultivators during the fortnight.

Finances.—The total expenditure during the fortnight was Rs. 2,204-9, and the total expenditure up to the end of the fortnight amounted to Rs. 5,265-8-9, of which Rs. 152-8 was paid from the State funds, and the balance was paid out of the loan of Rs. 15,000 received from Government.

The condition of the State of Runpore seems very much more favourable. The Dewan of the State, a Bengali gentleman named Baboo Gour Chunder Sen, came to see me at Khoorda, and I was favourably impressed, not only with what I saw of him, but with all that I have heard of the work done by him. There appears to be in this State, as in all other places which I visited, a striking contrast between the condition of the Hindu agriculturists and the landless aborigines, and the importance of a free use of the forests to the latter was urged strongly in this case, as in all others that I had to deal with in Orissa. The following is the last report received from the Superintendent on the condition of the State:—

Runpore.—The condition of the people is reported to be generally good. The advances of paddy made from the State granaries and by private holders of stocks have materially helped the cultivators in raising their present crop. Their demand for advances of paddy seems to have been carefully met from both the above sources. Labourers are employed in fields as well as on relief works, and the distress among the people has been much reduced. The prospect of crops is reported to be generally fair. The process of puddling of the paddy crop is nearly complete. Weeding and transplanting are in progress. Kuhuri and Mandia crops are in blossom. Sufficient rain fell during the fortnight, the quantity registered being 10·19 inches. Various kinds of vegetables and jungle fruits are now abundant and greatly helping the poorer classes. Cholera has almost disappeared; only 48 sporadic cases have been reported during the fortnight. There were no deaths from starvation.

The stock of paddy in the State granaries was 4,242 maunds at the end of the fortnight. Both paddy and rice are available for purchase, but there has been no change in their price. Rice sells at 13 seers per rupee.

A sum of Rs. 588-7-3 was spent during the fortnight on the following relief works:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
(1).—Roads	480	2	10
(2).—Bunds and dams	83	13	3
(3).—Buildings and miscellaneous works	24	7	2
Total ...	588	7	3

The daily average number of men employed on the above works was 324.

The daily average number of distressed people fed at the annachhatra was 252, and the cost of feeding them during the fortnight was Rs. 115-3-3, of which Rs. 95-3-3 was paid from a fund locally raised for relief.

Private holders of paddy advanced 2,426 maunds, and the State advanced 53 maunds to the cultivators of 140 villages during the fortnight, and Rs. 10 was advanced by the State to weavers.

The total expenditure incurred by the State on account of relief during the fortnight was Rs. 618-7-3, and the total expenditure, since the commencement of operations to the end of July, amounted to Rs. 5,697-6-2, as shown below—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Expenditure incurred from State funds	2,736	14	0
Expenditure incurred out of Government loan of Rs. 5,000	2,960	8	2
Total ...	5,697	6	2

18. Summary.—The conclusions arrived at as the result of the enquiries made during my tour in Orissa may be summed up as follows:—There does not seem to me at present any distress among people belonging to any castes of pure Hindus in the districts of Cuttack and Pooree, except possibly in one small corner of the latter district. If the present promise of the crops is fulfilled, there is no further danger this year. The general condition of the Hindu agriculturists is very good, and in Khoorda Government Estate bears ample testimony to the wisdom and efficiency of the measures of relief adopted last year. In the wilder parts of both districts, there is at present a certain amount of distress among the aboriginal and semi-hinduised tribes, which is likely to continue till October; but arrangements to meet this are being made by the local authorities from local resources, and I think these arrangements will be sufficient, provided always the free use of the forest is allowed to these tribes without any restriction save the prohibition to cut large and valuable timber. In Angul things are different. People of all classes require aid, and the aboriginal tribes are in great destitution. Arrangements have been made, however, for relief, which I am confident will prove amply sufficient should the rains not fail, in which case much larger measures will become necessary. We have therefore arranged for regular reports containing full information regarding the condition and prospects of both crops and people, so that Government will be able, in case of necessity arising, to make timely arrangements to any extent that may be required; but in Angul, as in the wilder parts of Pooree and Cuttack, it is absolutely necessary that all restrictions in the free use of the forests by the people should be relaxed as far as possible. In the Khondmals there have been no restrictions placed on the use of the forests by the people. Toila or upland cultivation has not been interfered with as it has been elsewhere. The aboriginal tribes have been allowed to retain their connection with the soil, and the consequence has been that the pressure of scarcity has been much less there than we had originally feared. In some of the estates administered by Tributary Chiefs, there have been no signs of serious distress. In two of these estates temporarily administered by us owing to the minority of the Chiefs, relief measures have been undertaken, and prospects are at present fair. In one State, Athmullick, which suffered perhaps the most severely of all from scarcity, the admirable arrangement of the Chief has relieved us of all cause of present anxiety. The same may be said of Runapore, the Dewan of which deserves praise, and of the little State of Tigeriah. Four of the remaining States, namely, Boad, Khandpara, Nayagarh, and Daspalla, give cause for anxiety. In Daspalla, owing to the perversity of the Rajah, who is a man of defective intellect, we have been obliged practically to take the management into our own hands with the aid of the Dewan of the State. The remaining three Chiefs did not at first appear to realize their duties and responsibilities, especially towards their aboriginal subjects, but they are doing better now, and any failure on their part will be at once brought to the notice of Government. All advances asked for by them, amounting to Rs. 76,000, have been already made, and they have been assured that more funds will be supplied to them if required. I have no doubt that they will be able to tide over the present distress should they get a good winter harvest. But if the rains fail, the condition of these States will become very grave, and our Government will have seriously to consider what action to take, and what would be our responsibilities in the matter, seeing that these States are not directly administered by our Government, and only contribute a nominal sum to the Imperial Treasury. A still more serious question is the chronic pauperism of the aboriginal tribes and semi-hinduised castes, not only in these States, but throughout the whole of Orissa, and probably the adjoining parts of Madras and the Central Provinces.

19. The Pariahs of Orissa.—Nearly one-fourth of the population of Orissa and the Tributary States consists of various aboriginal tribes and semi-hinduised castes, such as Khonds, Savars, Santhals, Kols, Gonds, Pans, Bhuyas, and many others who are generally described by the vague designation of landless labourers in the reports received from local officers. During my stay in Orissa I was startled to find these people described as Pariahs, this term being clearly used as the equivalent of Pahariah or hillman. I had never before heard such a use of the word Pariah, and it is undoubtedly irreconcileable both with the received etymology and supposed history of the word. Still in its application to the aborigines of Orissa it indicates accurately their origin and position. They are evidently the descendants of the forest races by whom the uplands of Orissa were inhabited before the Aryan conquest. Their ancestors, hemmed in on all sides by the advancing tribe of immigrants, either took refuge in the then inaccessible hills of the interior, or remained as landless serfs in the tracts once held by them, helping their conquerors to work in the fields or being employed by them in weaving and other handicrafts or in menial work. Even these serfs, however, so long as the forests remained uncleared, were not deprived by their conquerors of the use of them. They were able to catch game, to collect the various edible roots and fruits which form so important a part of a hillman's food, to cut timber for their own use or for sale, to collect materials for basket work, and to make use of the forest in a thousand other ways. Besides this, the aboriginal people were in the habit of utilizing the uplands not suited to the plough cultivation of the Hindus for their hoe cultivation, which is locally known as toila, mainly carried on upon newly cleared portions of scrub jungle and yielding abundant crops of early rice, oilseeds, and cotton. Of late years, however, the enormous extension of cultivation which has followed on the security of our rule has constantly lessened the area of forest and waste land which in former days had been looked upon as only fit for toila cultivation, but has now been brought under the plough. Again, economic changes like the substitution of foreign-made cotton goods for the produce of the native looms, have tended to deprive the aborigines of some of their occupations. All this had been gradually diminishing the resources of the Pariahs, when the inclusion of all the jungles in Khoorda and Angul in reserved or protected forests, and the introduction of rules in imitation of those of the Forest Department into the Tributary States, deprived these unfortunate people of what had been their chief means of subsistence, and made them wholly dependent on what they could earn by day labour, thus reducing them to the state of abject poverty in which we now find them. At the same time it must be said that their wretched condition is aggravated by the hostility, or at least want of sympathy, of the Hindu population of Orissa which contributes much to keep the Pariahs in their present hopeless state of degradation. A striking illustration of this is afforded by their exclusion from the great temple of Pooree. Hindu tradition declares that Juggernath was originally a god of the aboriginal Savars, and that he was transferred to the Hindus by the stratagem of a Brahmin. Anyhow, he is emphatically the god of the poor, and the distinctive feature of his worship is the levelling of all differences of rank and caste in his temple. But he is the god of the Hindu poor only, and no aboriginal caste is allowed to enter his temple, not even the Savars, whose god he is acknowledged to have been originally. As with their god so it has been with everything else. They have been kept out of the permanent occupation of the land and allowed no chance of bettering their condition. The result of all this has been that the Pariahs are in such a state of chronic destitution that the slightest interruption in the regular demand for field labour brings them to the verge of starvation. This state of things was noticed by the Collector of Pooree in the passages quoted from the last Administration Report of the Orissa Division in the recent Resolution of the Government of Bengal. His remarks are so true and valuable that it seems to me worth while to reproduce them here—

In former times these classes—Bouries, Savars—who are the Gibeonites of Orissa—used to support themselves (1) by the sale of wood and other jungle produce; (2) by the cultivation of poor soil, or what is called the toila system; and (3) by working as serfs for Uriya landholders on starvation wages, paid either in kind or by permission to cultivate a portion of the farm on a sort of metayer system, with the further condition that they performed all the heavy field work on their master's holding. Their first means of subsistence was curtailed by the forest rules, and the second by the pernicious policy of restricting toila cultivation, under the ridiculous impression that scrub waste is more valuable than cultivation. Accordingly, the landless were reduced to a condition of complete servitude. Every village in Khoorda where these aborigines dwell has its Bouri or Savar quarter; and so long as the weather is favourable, work being plentiful, they get enough grain to supplement their diet of roots and weeds, so as to make it capable of maintaining life. But there is no margin, and directly work fails owing to absence of rain or fears of scarcity on the part of the employers, the landless are reduced to a state of semi-starvation. During the year under review the forest rules have been relaxed since July, when real distress was first felt by these poor creatures, because (the weather not permitting puddling or transplanting) they could get no field work, and all restrictions on toila cultivation have been abandoned. In spite of these measures, the long drought from November to March had begun to affect them injuriously; and, but for the rain which fell a few days ago, specific relief must have been administered. The condition of the semi-aboriginal classes of Savars, Bouries, and others attracted attention during the late distress in Khoorda, and a scheme for providing them with lands was submitted to the Board of Revenue by my predecessor in February last. The subject is now apparently under the consideration of the Board. Mr. Allen thinks the following remedial measures the most important—(1) the permanent relaxation of the forest rules, both in reserved and protected forests; (2) the encouragement of cultivation under the toila system until most of these landless day-labourers become petty cultivators; (3) emigration. The first two measures have been reported to Government, while, as regards the third, it appears from Mr. Taylor's report that no Khoorda ryot will leave his home unless compelled to do so under very exceptional circumstances. Efforts, however, are being made by the missionaries to introduce emigration.

Similarly, Mr. Worsley, the late Officiating Commissioner of Orissa, in reporting upon the scarcity in Khoorda last year, remarked as follows :—

So far as I can judge at present, the chief lesson to be learnt from the existing state of things is that, unless we adopt early and systematic measures for providing the aboriginal classes of Savars, Bouries, and others with lands, we may be liable during any rainy season to be called upon to relieve serious distress, if there be a long break in the rains and stoppage of work in the fields. A similar difficulty has been experienced in the case of the Pans of Angul (who are just now hard pressed), and I have already, as Superintendent of the Tributary States, submitted a scheme for settling this caste in that district.

I fully agree with Mr. Worsley as to the desirability of providing the aboriginal people of Orissa with land for plough cultivation so far as it can be done, but we must remember that their numbers were shown in the census report of 1871 as 941,595. Owing to a change in the form of the table, I have not been able to ascertain the precise figures for the less numerous castes in 1881, but it seems clear that the total cannot be less than 1,250,000. Some of these still retain some connection with the land, as the Khonds in the Khondmals, the Bhuyas in Keonjhur, and the Sonthals and Kols of Mohurbhunj; but these do not number more than a quarter of a million, if so much, and there are at least a million of the aboriginal people wholly divorced from the land. We cannot hope to provide even an appreciable portion of this vast number with plough lands, and, even if we could, it would take many years, and a great expenditure of capital to accustom them to plough cultivation. We can, however, do very much in the direction indicated by Mr. Allen. This matter is of such vital importance that I make no apology for urging it upon the immediate attention of Government with the utmost emphasis at my command. Having served in both North and South Behar, I have some knowledge of the condition of the people of that province, and I have no hesitation in asserting that, while the Hindu peasants of Orissa are on the whole better off than the corresponding classes in Behar, there is no large class in the latter province in such a state of appalling destitution as the majority of the million landless Pariahs of Orissa.

20. Remedial measures.—It will be seen from various passages in this report how strong the feeling is in Orissa that the distress of last year and this year has been partly caused, and most seriously aggravated, by the action of Government officers in regard to forest and uncultivated lands in tracts under our administration, imitated as this has been by most of the Tributary Chiefs, and I have no hesitation in stating my belief that much of the chronic destitution of the aboriginal castes is due to the same cause. It is true that the total area of reserve forest in the Orissa Division amounted in 1887-88 to only 373 square miles, and that of protected forest to only 259 square miles. But it must be remembered that this area was contained in Khoorda, where distress was most felt last year, and in Angul, where it is severest this year; that imitations of the rules of the Forest Department have been introduced into uncultivated lands not under that department; that they have been extended more or less completely to the States directly managed by the Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals; and that through the influence of a former Superintendent the Chiefs have generally adopted a similar system. The indirect effect of the action of the Forest Department in Orissa has therefore been far more extensive than its direct effect, and it becomes therefore of great importance to ascertain the spirit in which its operations have been carried on. The following principles were laid down by the Government to be followed in the formation of the reserves in Angul :—

1*st.*—That not only village areas but existing toila cultivation, except perhaps such small plots as were within large forests, should be altogether excluded by very wide boundaries, and in addition to the lands under regular cultivation or otherwise in use a sufficient area should be left round each village for extension of cultivation.

2nd.—That each block of reserve forest should be as compact and its boundary line as straight and well defined as possible, so that the people might not have much difficulty in distinguishing the reserves from the village lands.

3rd.—Jungleblooree tenures, whether cleared or not, should be altogether excluded from the forest reserves.

4th.—That culturable forest lands should be distinctly marked so that, when in consequence of increase of trade and population extension of cultivation became necessary, they might be excluded from the forest areas.

These principles were not observed in forming the reserve, and I have before me now particulars of cases which show—1st, that cultivated lands and orchards have been included in the reserved forests, and that, in spite of the efforts of civil officers, no redress has yet been obtained; 2nd, that sufficient lands around villages have not been left for grazing and extension of cultivation; 3rd, that lands suited for toila cultivation and of no value for forest purposes have been reserved; 4th, that the forest boundary has been run up to the verge of old established homesteads; 5th, that an attempt has been made to levy fees for the use of jungle lands outside the reserve on the avowed ground that, while there was a heavy expenditure on the reserve forest, there was no return from local consumption; while the use of these jungles by the people has been, as a matter of fact interfered with, although they had received a sort of pledge that no restriction should be put upon them; and 6th that once flourishing villages have been abandoned owing to the pressure of the forest rules. My own personal observation, while passing through a portion of the Angul reserve, has on several points fully confirmed the conclusions drawn from the above cases. On the other hand, it appears that these operations which have so harassed the people, and which I deliberately repeat have partly caused and severely aggravated the present distress, are carried on at a considerable annual loss to the Government. It appears from the report of the Conservator of Forests for 1887-88 that the receipts for all the forests in the Orissa Division, both reserved and protected, amounted to Rs. 27,073, while the charges, as shown in statement No. 62, page 62 of the report, amounted to Rs. 33,349, or Rs. 30,101 as shown in statement No. 58, pages 59-60. These figures include the receipts and expenditure of both the Khoorda and Angul forests, and it appears from the Annual Administration Report of the Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals for the same year that the expenditure in Angul alone amounted to Rs. 15,742, while the receipts were only Rs. 8,892. The Khoorda forests would appear, therefore, to be more profitable than those of Angul, but I heard similar complaints of the hardship entailed by the departmental working of them, and the injury done by it to the aboriginal classes is even greater, while the Conservator of Forests himself has in a report, dated September 1886, described the whole of these forests as extremely poor. I feel bound, therefore, to urge most strenuously a thorough revision of the existing system in both tracts on the following lines:—

1st—all villages of every description should be entirely excluded from either reserved or protected forests, and in addition forest areas round the villages sufficient for all purposes should also be excluded;

2nd—that all cultivated lands, orchards, artificial reservoirs, or other land under occupants paying rent or exempted under the terms of the district settlement should be excluded from reserved or protected forests;

3rd—that in cases where adequate areas for grazing, extension of cultivation, supply of firewood, and of building and agricultural materials cannot be provided round the village, such areas should be selected elsewhere and excluded from the forests;

4th—that when villages are situated at the foot of hills their boundaries should be run along the summits so as to allow the villagers to cultivate the slopes above the villages on the toila system;

5th—that the tenants of each estate should be allowed the unrestricted use of the unreserved forests in such estate;

6*th*—that the cutting of bamboos should be freely permitted, as well as the removal of fallen and useless timber for firewood;

7*th*—that the tenants of both estates should be allowed the free enjoyment of all edible products which can be collected without injury to valuable timber;

8*th*—that they should have full right to fish and catch game except during breeding seasons which should be defined authoritatively;

9*th*—that the special permission of the officer in charge be required for grazing in the reserved forests, provided that such grazing, free of charge, be granted all the year round to any villager for whom sufficient pasturage may not have been provided elsewhere;

10*th*—that the management of the forests be placed under the local officers of Khoorda and Angul acting under the Superintendent, and that departmental establishments be withdrawn.

If a system such as that outlined above were introduced, the local officers could select lands now covered with scrub jungle and make them over to people of the aboriginal classes for toila cultivation. A similar course should be followed in the States now under our management, especially in Mohurbhunj and Dhenkanal, and the Chiefs who administer their own States should be urged to do likewise. I do not pretend that such a policy, even if it could be carried out much more completely than is likely to be the case, would by itself be sufficient to raise the pariah of Orissa from his present terrible state of degradation and destitution, but it would undoubtedly lead to an appreciable improvement in his condition, especially if it could be supplemented by a well devised and extensive scheme of emigration. Such a scheme would, however, be surrounded with difficulties, and I feel unable to contribute anything of real value towards their solution. I may, however, state my conviction that any attempt to settle these tribes at once in the alluvial portions of the vallies of the Brahmapootra or Irrawaddy would be doomed to failure. On the other hand, if they could be removed to the uplands of Assam or Burmah, and allowed to begin with toila cultivation, then it might be possible hereafter to wean them from this system of cultivating and induce them to take to the more profitable and surer plough cultivation of the unoccupied plain land.

21. Panchpara-Pooree Railway.—Whatever may be the ultimate success of our efforts to improve the condition of the aboriginal tribes of Orissa, we cannot hope for immediate results of a striking or complete character, and I fear that for many years to come the majority of the million-and-a-quarter people belonging to this class will be in yearly danger of famine, and that we must be prepared to take measures at any time to meet this danger. In such an event the main difficulty will always be to throw grain rapidly into the province in sufficient quantities and to distribute it when there. I was very much struck by this during my recent enquiries. Of course the canals are a most valuable addition to our resources should need arise, and we are now in a very much better position than we were in during the year 1866, but it seems to me that the canals would be found wholly inadequate to meet the strain of the demand that would be created by the total failure of a year's crop in Orissa, and the consequent necessity of providing food from Cuttack for something like three-quarters of a million people, which, I take it, we should have to do, after deducting the populations supplied from Balasore and Midnapore, even though the accumulated stocks in the country were amply sufficient for all the requirements of the Hindu agriculturists, which is a large assumption. Again, even if a sufficient quantity of food were conveyed to Cuttack by canal, we should then have to meet the difficulty of transporting it to the south of Pooree on one side, and to Angul and the neighbouring States on the other. These considerations make very strongly in favour of the early construction of the proposed line of railway from Panchpara to Pooree, which would command the tracts most likely to suffer not only in our territory, but in the Tributary States, and would practically secure the whole of the centre and south of the province against a grain famine. I hesitate to attempt any definite forecast of the probable effect of the line in directly improving the condition of the aboriginal tribes and castes, whether by encouraging emigration or supplying them with labour; but it is scarcely possible that it should not have some direct result for good in helping to remove an economic danger, and an evil for which we are bound at least to attempt to find a remedy. The line has many other advantages to recommend it, and I do not therefore hesitate to urge most strongly that no avoidable delay should be allowed to occur in commencing it. Among all the projects about which I know anything, it is undoubtedly the most urgent and the one most likely to confer immediate benefit on the tract through which it will pass and on the people who will use it.

22. Before concluding this report, I wish to record my obligation to Mr. Hopkins, the Officiating Commissioner of Orissa and Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals, for the assistance given to me on my tour, for his cordial co-operation with me, and for his readiness to adopt suggestions made to him. Baboo Nund Kishore Das, Assistant Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals, has done most excellent work in connection with this scarcity, and I trust that his good service will meet with special recognition from the Government. I had an opportunity of looking into his work during my tour, and can bear testimony to its great value and excellence as well as to the zeal and devotion displayed by the Assistant Superintendent in carrying out duties which entail much personal hardship and risk to health. The good work done by Baboo Kalipodo Mookerjee, the Personal Assistant to the Commissioner, while on special duty at Angul, also deserves high praise. It has already been acknowledged by the Lieutenant-Governor in a published resolution, but I wish again to express my appreciation of the energy and ability displayed by him, of the thoroughness of his enquiry, and the efficiency of his proposals.

OFFER OF RS. 60,000 BY BABOO SHAMA CHURN LAW TO BUILD A NEW EYE HOSPITAL IN THE MEDICAL COLLEGE HOSPITAL GROUNDS.

No. $\frac{2M}{4}$4, dated Darjeeling, the 22nd September 1889.

From—JOHN EDGAR, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
To—The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 6431, dated the 19th July last, submitting the report of the Committee, consisting of the officers named in the margin, appointed to consider Baboo Shama Churn Law's proposal to build a new Eye Hospital in the Medical College Hospital grounds at a cost of Rs. 52,000, on condition that the Government shall give the site and manage and maintain the hospital when built. The Committee recommend that the proposed hospital may be built along the north front of the Medical College compound to the east of the Ezra Hospital, and as this requires that the old servants' quarters shall be dismantled and built elsewhere, they suggest that the open ground to the west of the College, between the new gate and the Morgue, may be utilised for this purpose. They report also that Baboo Shama Churn Law has approved of the site, and has expressed his intention to place Rs. 60,000 in the Bank of Bengal, to the credit of the Public Works Department, to enable the Superintendent of Works to build the hospital and new servants' quarters in consultation with the other two members of the Committee.

Dr. J. M. Coates, Principal, Medical College.
Dr. R. C. Sanders, Ophthalmic Surgeon, Medical College Hospital.
Colonel Neill, Superintendent of Works, Calcutta.

2. In reply, I am directed to convey the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor to the proposals of the Committee, which are supported by you. His Honour has, therefore, now much pleasure in accepting Baboo Shama Churn Law's generous offer, and the thanks of the Government will be separately conveyed to him for his liberality and public spirit. A copy of the correspondence has been forwarded to the Public Works Department of this Government for information, and with a view to orders being issued to the Superintendent of Works, Calcutta, to take the work in hand on the cost being deposited in the Bank of Bengal, and to complete it with as little delay as possible.

Easterly wind. Sudder.—Further reports only confirm the previous report that 10 annas of the aus, on an average, have been reaped. The amun is not much grown in the Sudder elaka. The water is receding from the fields, and it is hoped that a certain portion of the amun which was considered lost will be reaped. The Sub-Inspector of Burwa reports that the water has a little decreased and the people need no help.
	Lalbagh ...	2·27
	Jungipore ...	6·95
	Kandi ...	3·10

Lalbagh.—Harvesting of bhadoi is going on. As the river is running down very fast, the prospects of the dhan on lands still under water are hopeful, and it is now being cut and gathered by the cultivators. With regard to the kalmi or aghani dhan, that sown on beellan or low lands is totally destroyed by the floods, but the same on high lands, although most of them still under water, is expected to yield 2 annas crop. The probable outturn of the whole aghani rice cannot now be ascertained. No want of fodder, as people have got karmi sufficiently to feed their cattle with.

Jungipore.—Aus harvesting is over; the outturn is estimated to be 10 annas. State of haimanti paddy good, but partly submerged by the floods. Jute harvesting is going on. State of sugarcane good. Kalai sowing commenced. Rice sells at 12 to 13 seers per rupee at Raghunathgunge. The Sub-Inspector of Sumshergunge reports that all the villages were overflooded—especially Mudai and Dewanipore are suffering a great deal.

Kandi.—14 annas of the usual area was reported before to have been sown with amun. The closing estimate for the year may be made at 15 annas. Tracts under amun cultivation being generally high lands, do not seem to have been much affected by the floods. 1 to 1½ annas may be approximately said to have been damaged only. The floods began to subside from the 12th. Common rice selling at 13 seers 10 chittacks per rupee.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather and state and prospects of the crops.

* Means for 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 17 stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 20th of September 1889.

CALCUTTA the 24th September 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 20TH OF SEPTEMBER 1889.

WEATHER conditions have been seriously disturbed during the greater part of the week in consequence of a cyclonic storm, which, forming in the centre of the Bay, has, without actually entering the province, never, during its existence, after passing inland, been far from the boundary of Bengal. The description of the weather will therefore be intelligible only if the storm be traced from its commencement. In the early part of the week the pressure changes over the Bay, so far as could be inferred from those on the coast, were very inconsiderable, and the uniform pressure which obtained over the greater part of the Bay, the lowest being on the South Madras coast and highest in Burmah, showed that the distribution immediately preceding the change of the seasons was commencing. Weather was generally fair with light winds and absence of rain, but on Saturday, the first day of the present week, a shift of winds at the head of the Bay, considered along with the slow indraught which had been going on in Burmah and Madras for some days, showed that a depression was beginning to form in the centre of the Bay. On the following day pressure fell along the west coast of the Bay and briskly over the greater part of Bengal, while the wind circulation was unchanged except in Burmah, where directions were more southerly. Rainfall was very local over the whole province, and pressure was still between a twentieth and a tenth of an inch above the normal. On Monday pressure continued to fall, and the depression became more noticeable over the Bay, the centre appearing to be about midway between Diamond Island and Vizagapatam. Winds were cyclonic at all the coast stations, but not at the inland stations of Bengal, probably because of a shallow depression which, extending over part of the North-West Provinces and Behar, was attended by heavy rain in the latter and cyclonic winds over the rest of the province, the shallow depression in the north-west filling up before Tuesday, while the much more extensive one over the Bay was slowly developing and moving westward. Northerly winds began at inland stations in South-East Bengal. Pressure fell briskly in Orissa and Lower Bengal, and general rain fell in the latter only, while wind velocity was moderate in amount at all stations. During the next twenty-four hours the centre of the storm moved in a westerly direction, and at 8 A. M. on the 18th was from fifty to a hundred miles from Vizagapatam, a little to the north of east from that station. Pressure had fallen rapidly in Orissa and at the Bengal coast stations. Winds were cyclonic over the whole province and were increasing in force, while rain was heavy in Orissa and showers fell in Bengal. The storm centre passed inland during the evening of Wednesday, moving very slowly in a west-north-west direction, and at 8 A.M. on Thursday was due west of Gopalpore. Winds were then south or south-east in the north-west corner of the Bay, and were still increasing in strength at the Orissa stations. The largest velocity reported in connection with the storm was that at 8 A.M on this day at Gopalpur, where it was 36 miles an hour. Weather was squally along the coast and the sea rough. General rain fell in Orissa and Lower Bengal, but was very scattered in Behar and North Bengal. After that the storm took a more northerly course, and on Friday was moving along the west side of the province, so that winds were still cyclonic over the whole of Bengal, and velocity was increasing in all districts except Orissa, where, however, it continued high. In Chutia Nagpur it was over ten miles an hour, and at Dehree was twenty miles on an average for the day preceding 8 A.M. on Friday. During these days pressure changes were very small behind the storm, and a large defect continued in Orissa owing to the slow motion of the storm. On Friday rain was general except in Behar, and was heaviest in East Bengal. The weather, therefore, in Bengal, while being strongly influenced by the storm, has not been very stormy, except in Orissa, a small portion of the south of the province, and towards the end of the week in Chutia Nagpur and Behar. A strong monsoon current has been set up, and this has been gradually extending over the province, giving general and in some places heavy rain.

Pressure—Changes have been detailed above, and have been very important, as the pressure distribution has undergone a complete change during the week from that characteristic of the change of the seasons to what obtains during the south-west monsoon months; that is from a very high to a relatively low pressure over Bengal. The changes have been largest in the south and west of the province, and this appears in the means for the week, which are below the average in Orissa, Chittagong, the greater part of South-West Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur, while they are above in the other districts. Defects are large in South Orissa, but elsewhere are generally under one hundredth of an inch. The largest defect is 0·063 inch at Gopalpur, and the largest excess 0·039 inch at Sibsagar.

Temperature—Has changed considerably. It was three to four degrees below the normal in Behar at the beginning of the week and slightly above in the other districts. In the middle of the week it was above, and towards the end was below, the normal in all districts. The means for the week are slightly in excess in Orissa and East Bengal, normal in South-West Bengal, and below elsewhere, the largest defects being 1·2° and 1·3° in North Bengal and Assam. In Chutia Nagpur and Behar the defect was six to eight-tenths of a degree.

Rainfall—Has been fairly heavy in all districts, the only one showing defect being Orissa, where, however, it is very unimportant. North Bengal and North Behar received the normal amount, and the other districts more than the normal. The excess was largest in East Bengal, nearly two inches, and in South-West Bengal and South Behar it was about half an inch The heaviest falls have been in East Bengal—Kusba 12 inches, Laksham, Mymensingh, Jamalpore, Durgapore, Chandpore, Bhola, and Noakhally over 6 inches. In South-West Bengal the fall at Bolpore was over 6 inches and at Maliara 5·5 inches. The heaviest fall in North Bengal was 4·7 inches at Siliguri; in North Behar 2·4 inches at Chuprah; in South Behar 6·9 inches at Jamtara and 6·2 inches at Godda; and in Chutia Nagpur. 4·8 inches at Gobindpore.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 20th of September 1889:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

N.B.—In the weekly report from 8th to 14th September 1889, read 150·5 for 15·5 as the maximum in sun of the 12th September, and also read 29·759 inches for 29·795 inches as the mean pressure of the seven days.
